Farewell Addresses

On the evening of May 2nd, an event of more than passing notice took place at the home of Mr. Fred McAdam, Donagh when members of the C. W. L. and friends gathered there to do honor to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McAdam who were soon to take their departure to Charlottetown.

moment Mrs. Frances Trainor presented Mr. and Mrs. McAdam with a beautiful hand made bed spread.

ADDRESS

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McAdam: It is with feelings of regret that we the members of the C. W. L. have heard that you have decided to leave your farm and take up your residence in Charlottetown. For this reason we have assembled here tonight to express to you our regret on your intended departure. You were always ready to assist in everything that was undertaken for the betterment of the community. Your able manner of entertaining people both old and young will be hard to excel. We assure you that your loss to the community will be sorely felt. In saying farewell we will ask you to accept this small gift, not for its actual value but as a simple token of the esteem in which you are held by your Donagh friends.

MRS. JOHN T. POWER

In the passing of Mrs. John T. Power, who died at her late residence, 241 Dorchester St., early Wednesday morning, Charlottetown has lost one of her oldest and most highly respected residents.

In Memoriam

MRS. DAMIAN SHREENAN

The sad news of the death of Mrs. Shreenan was received in Kinkora on the 10th inst at the early age of 63 years. Two weeks previous using in her usual good health when she was taken suddenly ill and conveyed to the P. C. Hospital where the best medical and nursing possible was provided for her and many times during her illness bright hopes were entertained for her recovery by her family and friends, and neighbors amongst whom she resided for the past eleven years. But alas! God willed otherwise and she was called to receive her eternal reward Crown of Glory which is promised to all those who love and serve Him faithfully here on earth.

Her good qualities on all occasions were very noticeable by those who frequented her home in that she was an ideal wife, a true Christian mother whose first concern was her home and her dear little children an example which is well worthy of emulation. Those who had the pleasure of visiting her home were always delighted with the reception bestowed on them and the joy of her truly Christian conversation.

Always a true and exemplary member of the Catholic Church which she loved much to be present at all the services her last sojourn here was consoled and comforted at the hands of her spiritual advisers by the reception of the last Sacraments.

She leaves to mourn a sorrowing husband six young children, three sisters Mrs. Fred McAdam, Summerside; Mrs. Aloysius Roberts, Kinkora; Mrs. Bruce Thompson, Summerside; four brothers, Fernwood, Summerside; William, Fernwood; and Margaret, Boston, Mass.

Also surviving are the following grand children: Miss Svill Power, Miss Marion Power, city; Charles Barker, Roxbury; Thomas and John Clark, Cambridge, Mass. To all of whom the Guardian extends sincere sympathy.

The funeral is being held this morning from her late residence at 8:45.

MR. WILLIAM H. SCOTT

The death occurred at his residence, 88 Great George Street, on Monday last of William H. Scott, retired Chief Steward of the Car Ferry, after an illness of about two months.

In his passing not only the city but the entire province lost one of its most popular and respected citizens. Born in Scotland, he removed to this province with his parents at an early age, and throughout his life exceeding the traditional three score years and ten, has made numerous friends who will learn with regret of his passing.

His kindly sympathy and timely assistance to many had at various times been recognized by presentations and addresses of appreciation, in which societies he took an active interest.

Many will remember his courteous and gentlemanly manner while serving for a quarter of a century as chief steward of the car ferry between Borden and Tormentine, where he made and retained many friendships.

He leaves to mourn two sons, Guy, clerk at the Queen Hotel,

Canadian Products For Royal Visit

(By Jessie Read, Home Economist)

Every Canadian eye is focussed toward the one major event in Canadian history for this year. The coming of the King and Queen fascinates the imagination of every one. There is barely an idea in connection with commemorating the event that has not been worked out in some manner. Interviews with those who are to play a major part in their entertainment and pictures of the places where happenings are to take place have filled the pages of the press for some months. Even the food they are to eat is being discussed and one of the leading milling companies has sponsored a contest with many cash prizes for the best all-round Canadian menu that might be served to the Royal Visitors.

That should be rather an interesting subject, by the way, when you think that all the provinces and native to that province and yet there are certain dishes that are universal across Canada. For instance, the Canadian dish, Sirloin of British Columbia as a great apple province, good apples are pretty universal across the Dominion so that Apple Pie has become a standard Canadian dish. Serve this with Canadian Cheddar cheese to make it a dish that will almost sing "O Canada."

Canadian bacon is a familiar way to describe back bacon outside of the borders of our own country. There are many ways that smart Canadian cooks have learned to present this very attractive Canadian food and it is surely one thing that might be included in some way in an all Canadian Menu.

Of course the French woman in Quebec will naturally think of her delicious pea soup, so much a part of the habitant menu; and other women will think of corn dishes, a staple in most of the Old Country.

Salads—and in particular fruit salads—would be innovations to visitors from overseas—who as a matter of fact think that some of our very best arrangements are nothing but dyspeptic concoctions bent on thoroughly destroying the human race.

Certainly this visit of the King and Queen to Canada is making everyone thoroughly Canadian-conscious in a way that he never has been before.

WOOL WOOL WOOL

The Prince Edward Island Sheep Breeders' Association again offers its services in assembling the wool clip of the Province for co-operative marketing through the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, Limited, Toronto.

Cash on delivery at full market values will be paid and any advances in the market until the wool is sold will be received by each patron. Breeders should take note that the Sheep Breeders' Association sets the price of wool each year. Very often competing agencies buy wool at lower prices at the opening of the season but conform to the Association's price as soon as it is announced.

When you sell your wool through the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, you will not only receive promptly in cash at time of delivery the highest prevailing market price but also the rise in the market until the wool is ultimately sold through an expert sales service at the most favorable periods of distribution.

This year, wool will be received after June 5th and the week commencing June 12th will be the Big Wool Week in Prince Edward Island. Agents of the Department of Agriculture will receive wool at the various points in the Province during this week. Shipping tags, and paper twine are available at the Department of Agriculture.

Do not sell or ship your product until you contact us for full particulars regarding prices, etc. If shipment of wool is made, send freight collect to the address below.
