WANTED: A SCHOOLMA'AM

PUMPKIN CENTRE, Ariz., Sept. 7—Folks in historic Tonto Basin still haven't found a schoolma'am for the first six grades in the Pumpkin Center school, and frankly, they're worried.

"The situation looks so bad," remarked G. E. Toot from behind a rough wooden counter in his general store, "that I figure I may have to take time off from weighing beans and flour to try my hand at school teaching."

Old-timers recall with pride that school kept in Tonto Basin even during the famed Graham-Tewksbury feud that was the basis for Zane Grey's novel, "To the Last Man", so it's a matter of honor to see that a minor hurdle like a teacher shortage won't interrupt their grandchildren's education.

"We can let our kids grow up without knowing how to read or write," Toot said vehemently. "Maybe the salary isn't great," (they'll pay $175 a month, plus the teacherage and fuel furnished free) "but we've got something here that might interest a school teacher in the crowded, drab cities of the east and midwest. We'll sure try to make it pleasant for the gal who takes over the first six grades in our little school house.

Pumpkin Center, once the scene of frequent Indian raids, now is in the centre of a quiet, sparsely-settled ranching and mining area in eastern Arizona.

PAN-BROILING STEAKS, CHOPS

In some households, it is more convenient to panbroil than broil. As a general rule, the same cuts which can be broiled can also be panbroiled. When cuts are very thin, panbroiling is often better.

Here are carefully prepared instructions for panbroiling. Follow them and your meats will taste the way you hope they will Place meat in heavy pan, or on a griddle. Cook slowly. The pan or griddle does not need to be sizzling hot, nor is it necessary to preheat it. The meat merely starts cooking more quickly if it is warm or hot at the beginning.

Do not add fat or water. Do not cover. Panbroiling or griddle-broiling is a dry heat method of cooking—therfore no water or cover; if a cover is used or liquid is added, the meat is braised. Most meat cuts have enough fat to prevent their sticking; if fat is added they will be fried

Turnover Technique

Turn occasionally. Since the meat is in contact with the hot metal of the pan or griddle turning more than once is essential for even cooking.

Pour off or remove fat as it accumulates. If fat is permitted to collect, the meat will fry instead of panbroil or griddle-broil.

Brown meat on both sides. It does not need to be seared or browned quickly at the beginning; a gradual browning is better.

Do not overcook. Season and serve at once. Fairly accurate cooking times have been determined for this method. A meat thermometer, however, is essential in experimental work; and for the inexperienced cook it will serve as an accurate guide to the degree of doneness of thick steaks and chops.

Candidates In By-election

The following are short biographical sketches of the two candidates who are contesting the by-election which will be held in the 2nd district of Prince on Tuesday, September 17.

The Progressive Conservative candidate is Mr. Allie MacNeill of West Cape who is the only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph MacNeill of that place. He is a progressive farmer and is a past president and director of the O'Leary Farmers' Organization. His own farm contains 180 acres. His wife is the former Etta MacWilliams of West Cape and they have three children. Mr. MacNeill has spent his whole life in his home district and is a member of a number of important bodies such as the Masonic Lodge and the Sons of Temperance. He is fifty years of age He unsuccessfully contested the last general election against the late Hon. W. R. Dennis.

Mr. Forrest W Phillips, of Mount Royal is the Liberal candidate and like his opponent a successful and well-known farmer He was born at Ellerslie fifty-eight years ago, the son of Thomas H Phillips. In 1907 he was married to Gertrude MacArthur of Enmore and thirty years ago moved to Mount Royal where he has been engaged in farming ever since. During the last war he was assistant superintendent and appraiser for the Farm Land Board. A brother of Mr. Phillips, the late G. W. Phillips, was with the firm of Sinclair and Stewart Ltd., Summerside for fifty years. Another brother Sanford Phillips is a produce dealer in O'Leary.—S

Peak Named After Dal. University

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Sept. 6—(CP Cable)—Three Thousand Peak, one of the mountains along Labrador's rocky coast, has been named Mount Dalhousie after Dalhousie University in Halifax.

Prof. G. V. Douglas, who returned here yesterday after leading a Dalhousie geological party in a summer survey of the Labrador coastline, said he gave the University's name to the peak after the party had climbed it

The Dalhousie Professor said they had located several mineral areas worthy of further study during their survey but that no outstanding mineralized areas were discovered.

Mount Dalhousie was one of the scenic mountains of Labrador whose beauty had impressed Prof. Douglas.

Is Booked On Murder Charge

BROCKTON, Mass., Sept. 6—(AP)—Charles Newton, 42, of Cambridge, father of three children, was booked on a charge of murder for the fatal shooting today of his estranged wife, Josephine D. Newton.

Police said the woman was shot five times today after a quarrel as she was leaving a restaurant with her husband.

Newton was captured by two restaurant patrons who ran after him, police said.

South Africa May Become Testing Ground

(Written for The Canadian Press by Byran Young)

PRETORIA, Sept. 6—(CP Cable)—The visit of two officials of the United States State Department to South Africa this week caused several newspapers to predict the Union will become the testing-ground for possible Anglo-American trade competition within the British Commonwealth.

The American officials achieved a large measure of agreement with South African Government spokesmen on proposals regarding the foundation of an international trade organization. This trade-harmony is not surprising since South Africa now is seventh in importance among countries trading with the United States—ahead of Britain and Australia.

Before the war the Union was far down on the list, her 1937 exports constituting only one half of one per cent of American imports, whereas for the first quarter of this year South Africa exported to the United States at the rate of £39,000,000 ($156,000,000) annually while American exports to the Union were at the yearly rate of £44,000,000.

In addition, the United States has overcome tariff difficulties by establishing factories in South Africa.

Significant in these developments is that American capital is becoming firmly interwoven into the economic fabric of the Union which must inevitably mean at least a modifying of the strong ties between Britain and her best customer—South Africa.

Spy Trials Back In News

By Douglas How
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Sept. 8 —(CP) —(Advance) — Canada's spy trials will be back in the news again this week.

Delayed by the summer vacation period, they will be renewed in three cities, Montreal, Toronto and Ottawa, but chiefly in the national capital. Indications are however, that it will be late September if not early October before they really begin to roll.

Key to the progress in Ottawa is Monday's hearing in Toronto of the appeal of Edward Wilfred Mazerall 30, former National Research Council engineer, against a four-year sentence for activities on behalf of Russian espionage. It is hoped that the Ontario court of appeals will hand down its decision within a week.

Although five accused are due to appear in Ontario Supreme Court and two others before a County Court judge here Monday, it is expected the first group will be set over until possibly Oct 1 and the others until later.

Here is a boxscore of the 17 men and women so far detained.—

To face Ontario Supreme Court —

H.S. Gerson, Montreal and Ottawa, former munitions department official.

J. S. Benning, 58, Montreal and Ottawa, munitions and reconstruction department official and Gerson's brother-in-law.

Sqdn. Ldr. M. S. Nightingale, 40, Montreal, ex-R C A F. communications expert.

Eric Adams, Ottawa and Montreal, former Industrial Development Bank and Bank of Canada official.

Sqdn. Ldr. F. W Poland, 36, Ottawa and Montreal, R.C A F. intelligence officer.

To face speedy trial by judge alone—

Capt. G. D. Lunan, 30, Ottawa, Canadian Information Service official.

Durnford Smith, 35, Hull, Que., National Research Council engineer.

Prof. Israel Halperin 35 Queen's University mathematician and former army ballistics major.

Of these two groups, Lunan, Nightingale, Gerson and Adams are serving three months in a Montreal jail for contempt of court in refusing to testify in the Rose case. The others are free on bail.

Sentenced and serving terms—

Mrs. Emma Woikin, 26, Plaine Lake, Sask., former cipher clerk in the External Affairs Department, now serving 2 1-2 years for espionage plus six months for contempt of court in the Rose case

Miss Kathleen Willsher, 40, Ottawa, deputy registrar in the office of the British High Commissioner now serving three years.

Sentenced and appealing—

Fred Rose, 38, Montreal, Labor-Progressive member of Parliament for Montreal-Cartier sentenced to six years in prison, whose date of appeal will be set in Montreal next week. Detained in jail

E. W. Mazerall, 30, Ottawa and Fredericton, ex-National Research Council engineer sentenced to four years. His appeal will be heard Monday in Toronto. Free on bail

To face King's Court Bench in Montreal —

Dr. Raymond Boyer, 40, McGill University professor and expert on the super explosive RDX. Now free on bail. Date of his trial will be set next week.

In Ottawa Magistrate's Court—

Dr. David Shugar, 30, Ottawa and Montreal ex-Naval anti-submarine expert, detained a second time on a charge of conspiracy.

W. M. Pappin, Ottawa passport office clerk, facing three charges arising from attempt to get a false passport for a Russian agent.

Dr. Henry Harris, Toronto optometrist, charged with conspiracy in connection with the same incident.

All three are out on bail and are due to appear again Sept 16.

In Toronto Court—

Dr. John Sobolov, Toronto medical practitioner, due to appear again Sept. 13 on charge of making "untrue or misleading statement in writing" in connection with passport case. Free on bail.

BREAKFAST IMPORTANT

No matter how busy a mother may be, she will find that it pays, in more ways than one to serve a substantial breakfast at home. Health officers of the Department of National Health and Welfare, in stressing the value of a well-balanced, fresh, morning meal, suggest that this will save the mother a lot of trouble later, since "a well-fed child is a happy child" and will not require as much attention later in the day.

Seek To Conserve Forest Resources in Saskatchewan

BY NORMAN ALTSTEDTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA, Sept. 8 — (CP) — The axe-blows of lumbermen now preparing for winter operations will be re-echoed along the cobbled streets of Amsterdam by wooden shoes to be carved from Saskatchewan poplar.

The Netherlands government's order for enough poplar to make 225,000 pairs of sabots was among the flood of requests from the United States, Europe and Canada which poured into Saskatchewan in the wake of wartime scarcities and boosted the annual cut of saw timber from 74,961,118 feet in 1939 to 169,544,208 in 1944.

But the shoe has begun to pinch.

Moving to stop rapid depletion of forest resources, the provincial government issued orders slashing to two-thirds of a normal year's cut the amount to be cut this year.

The order followed a preliminary report of a Royal Commission on forests which recommended that only one-twentieth of standing timber be cut each year. The experts said that at the rate lumber was sawn in 1944, Saskatchewan's forests would be depleted within five years.

The need for housing, however, modified government plans to the two-thirds ruling and brought other concessions. Resources Minister J. L. Phelps announced early this month that new areas would be opened up with the building of roads into the forested districts. Some 200,000,000 board feet of lumber will be available this winter in the Dore Lake area, about 120 miles northwest of Prince Albert.

Other Areas

Amount of lumber to be made available with completion next year of the 140-mile road from Nipawin to Flin Flon has not yet been estimated. Other new areas will be around Hudson Bay Junction, 120 miles east of Prince Albert, and Montreal Lake, 80 miles north of Prince Albert.

Although popularly pictured as wheat country only, half of Saskatchewan's 251,700 square miles are forested. Due to transportation difficulties, however, commercial forests at present cover only 55,000 square miles. Further development of the industry now employing some 4,000 men, awaits settlement and new roads.

White spruce is the leading commercial timber of the industry, valued at some $8,000,000 in 1944. Spruce, jack pine, poplar and tamarack follow. In all some 20 species of wood are found in the area first opened with the establishment of a sawmill at Prince Albert 65 years ago.

Most sweeping of the powers recently granted the Saskatchewan Lake and Forests Products Corporation — a crown company — is that of a timber board, the only provincial-controlled organization in the Dominion handling marketing of timber. The board, established last year, is affiliated with the Prince Albert box factory expropriated by the province last November following a labor dispute.

The practice of selling standing timber on crown lands to operators has been abandoned and in future operators will be contracted by the government corporation and the lumber from crown lands will remain crown property until delivered.

Excluded from Order

Fuelwood, fence pickets and posts are excluded from the new order but all other timber such as railroad ties, telephone and power poles and pulpwood will be marketed by the board which, however does not control marketing of the crop from private timber berths. These private berths control the majority of the richest forest areas. The provincial government is negotiating to reclaim the berths.

Lumber operators have complained that prices offered by the board are between $2.50 and $3.00 less a 1,000 board feet than they were able to obtain previously. They say many will be forced out of business by the board's orders. The government is offering new sites with two and three-year guarantees.

Depredation of the forests by insects and fires as well as by overcutting has been met in part by reforestation and fire prevention work. Last spring 441,270 seedlings were transplanted from three of the eight provincial nurseries to northern forests.

With eyes on the abundance of pulpwood in the north and adequate supplies of sodium sulphate (used in paper manufacture) at Lake Champlain in the south, the resources department is studying the possibility of building a pulp and paper plant. The government feels there should be no need to ship the two ingredients to Eastern Canada for finishing.

Says Resources Minister Phelps: "The forests of Saskatchewan belong to the people and we must take measures to stop the wanton destruction of the people's property."

Legion Will Seek Reconsideration Of Serviceman's Case

(By The Canadian Press)

EDMONTON, Sept. 6—Canadian Legion officials here said today they will seek reconsideration of the case of an Edmonton soldier who served overseas more than four years and who recently was sentenced by courtmartial to a year's imprisonment for returning to Canada without authority.

The soldier, a married man with two children who enlisted here in 1940, served in France with an anti-aircraft battery. He had a good record during the war but after the war received 30 days field punishment for being absent without leave.

In the meantime his unit returned to Canada and because he said he was "fed up" on serving with "Zombies" in Europe, he returned to Canada alone.

27-year-old Man Drowns

(By The Canadian Press)

SYDNEY N.S., Sept. 6—Thrown into a heavy sea when the mast of his swordfishing boat on which he was perched snapped, William Pattingale, 27, drowned yesterday near Ingonish while his 60-year-old father looked on.

Owner and master of the Miss Quoddy, Pattingale was up in one of the lookouts high on the mast with two companions. The three were tossed into the sea when the mast broke. The other two were hauled back into the craft but Pattingale had apparently been stunned and did not come to the surface.

New Meat Ceilings Announced By O.P.A

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 — The Office of Price Administration today announced new retail ceilings for most meats amounting to an over-all increase of about 3¾ cents a pound above June 30 ceilings, but below present prices.

The price agency said the retail meat ceilings will not apply until Tuesday.

The new beef ceilings average about eight cents a pound higher than June 30 for top grade cuts and about three cents a pound higher for all retail beef cuts on the average.

Lamb cuts will average 10 cents a pound higher and mutton cuts about four cents higher.

American Indian To Study For Ministry

(By The Canadian Press)

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, Sept. 6—For the first time in the history of British Guiana an American Indian—native of the British Guiana jungle—will study for the ministry.

The Indian, John Bennett, acting head teacher at the St. Monica Anglican Mission, northeast district, will leave shortly for Codrington College, Barbados. Bennett received his religious training under Anglican Minister Rev. M. B. Hirst.

Proposal To Postpone U.N. Meeting

PARIS, Sept. 6—(AP)—A Soviet proposal in the Foreign Ministers Council to postpone the United Nations General Assembly meeting won support of France and China today, and conditional British support, but the question was left open until State Secretary Byrnes of the United States returns, a French informant said.

Foreign Minister Molotov proposed delaying the assembly meeting until Nov 11. It is scheduled to open in New York Sept 23.

The council tentatively scheduled a meeting for Sunday night to decide the issue, provided Mr Byrnes is back by then from his trip to Germany.

As the session opened Mr. Molotov, said the council should suspend the peace conference until after the general assembly meeting. He said it would be impossible for many countries to staff both meetings at the same time.

ARTHUR JUST GREW AND GREW

CHATHAM, Ont., Sept. 6—"Marriage," says Arthur Hill, as he tried to look over his vest today "has been the ruin of my figure."

Hill, 430 pounds, admits to many clothes problems—after all, he's immense—but he has no domestic problems. His wife? "She's a wonderful cook," said Hill who recounted how he submitted to her demands that he forget about his figure and enjoy her cooking. So Arthur just grew and grew.

His appetite is gargantuan. For breakfast he has a couple of pounds of broiled steak mixed with vegetables, six pieces of toast without butter and two cups of coffee. There's a specially built ramp leading up to the front door of his little cream cottage but it's not for piano movers. The inclined platform of heavy two-by-four is there for Hill to ease himself into the house.
