Defeated St. John Martellos Yesterday 5-2 In Deciding Game Of Series — Will Now Play Off With Island Champions.

(Canadian Press)
SAINT JOHN, N. B., Sept. 20.—The Kiwanis team of St. Stephen, N. B., won the New Brunswick amateur baseball championship by defeating the Martellos, Saint John, by a score of five to two here this afternoon.

Each team had won one of two games previously played of a three game series.
A plan for robbing the branch laid before them and Boutlier's mother were on the stand today.
On direct examination Boutlier told of meeting Freckleton on a Saturday night. Later they with Clarence Lyons and Rafuse had gone to Marlborough woods in Halifax and there discussed the feasibility of holding up the Shubenacadie branch. Freckleton was drunk, Boutlier said. Rafuse had had the greater share in outlining the plans. Rafuse was going to drive up to the bank and leave his engine running, throwing out a cigarette butt when it was "all clear."

On the night before the attempted robbery he had gone to detective Thomas Kennedy of the city police force and had been taken before Inspector J. P. Blakeney of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. He had been "appointed" a special officer and told to go through with it. The next morning he had obtained a car from the police. He did not know the plain clothes man who turned it over to him and with Freckleton had headed for Shubenacadie. At Carneys-lake enroute Rafuse, who was driving on ahead had stopped and given Freckleton a gun and shells. Boutlier said he did not know much about what happened after they entered the bank.

"You were to be a rat and get favors for yourself by squealing," suggested G. H. Vernon.
"When I was convicted on the receiving stolen goods charge Judge O'Hearn said that if I got into trouble again he would sentence me to 14 years, even if he had to come to court on a stretcher, and I think he meant it."
Boutlier said that he had known neither Freckleton nor Rafuse except a few days previous to the holdup. He had been introduced to Freckleton by Lyons.
"I don't see that I was a rat," he told Mr. Vernon. "My idea was to see it stopped. I wanted to keep out of trouble."
"And you nearly lost your life over it," Mr. Vernon suggested.
"Yes, that's the reward I got," said Boutlier. He appeared in court neatly dressed with his right arm in a satin sling. It is still useless as a result of the wounds received in Shubenacadie gun fight.

Boutlier said he knew who shot him. "Sergeant S. L. Warrior and Corporal Alfred Ball of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police," he said.
Other witnesses today were Gerald Avery of the Rosa Dress Shop, Halifax; Joseph Parsons, a salesman in Avery's employ; Douglas Webber, who presented a plan of the bank; W. P. Robertson, manager of the branch and Mrs. Esther Boutlier, mother of Edson, who said she had seen Rafuse around her house on several occasions.

Subjected to a rigid cross examination at the hands of George Vernon, K. C., counsel for the defence, Boutlier admitted he had twice been convicted in a court of law, once for breaking and entering about three years ago and again about three months ago on a charge of receiving stolen goods. On the second charge sentence had not yet been pronounced. None the less he was a cool and collected witness. In the prisoner's box Rafuse told his story. Briefly, it was to the effect that he knew Gerald Freckleton and Rafuse only slightly that on the occasion of a visit by Rafuse to the Marlborough woods Rafuse had outlined the plan for robbing the bank and that on that occasion Freckleton and Clarence Lyons, who had introduced the witness to Freckleton and Rafuse, had been "fairly tight."

Tug-Of-War Finals At Bedeque Rink

A record crowd estimated at 1,200 people attended the final pull of the tug of war for the Strong-Morrison Trophy in the Bedeque Rink last night. This was the fourth night and the interest had not lagged.

North Bedeque won the Trophy. All the teams had been eliminated except North Bedeque and Freetown. In the first pull North Bedeque won in 18 seconds and in the second in 60 seconds. The crowd gave the winners a great ovation.

A picked team from Charlottetown headed by Mr. Rankin McLean pulled a picked team from the 4th District. The teams were as follows:

- | | |
|----------------|--------------------|
| Anchor | W. L. Munroe |
| | T. McInnis |
| | E. McInnis |
| | R. McDonald |
| | F. Hansen |
| | L. Edwards |
| | F. Edwards |
| | L. Cooper |
| | W. Kneebone |
| Ray Mulligan | Harry Muttart |
| Fred McQuarrie | Maurice Higgins |
| James Mullally | C. Bernard |
| Norman McMurdo | Harrison McFarlane |
| Edward Leard | Lorne Noonan |

In the first pull Bedeque pulled Charlottetown in one minute and three seconds, and in the second which was highly exciting Bedeque won in three minutes and thirteen seconds. The presentation of the cup followed. Mr. Wallace Jenkins, the President of the Bedeque Rink Company, congratulated the victors and thanked the teams who had competed and the people for their support and attendance. He introduced Mr. Heath Strong, M. L. A., for the 4th District, who on behalf of himself and Mr. Hugh Morrison presented the cup to the North Bedeque team. He heartily congratulated the team upon their success stating that they had demonstrated that they had possessed wonderful brawn and muscle, and he also complimented their coach, Mr. Robert Baker, North Bedeque on the excellent judgment he had used in selecting his team and the training which he had given them. He drew the team's attention to the fact that in the competition they had not been up against any easy marks, for in this banner agricultural district there were men of might and valor in every pull, as this contest had demonstrated. He stated that when Mr. Morrison and himself had offered this cup it was done for the purpose of stimulating the interest of the people of the 4th District in good clean sport and as probably some Pulls had been shut out on account of their men being slightly lighter than the teams engaged in the contest, Mr. Morrison and himself had decided that next year they would offer a cup to junior teams competing from the 4th District and he hoped that this rink might be the scene of many such interesting contests in the years to come. At the conclusion, the donors of the cup were thanked and the officials thanked for the part they had played in making the contest a success.

In the thirty-five yard dash, Al Schurman was the winner. Standing broad jump, Austin Jardine first, 8 feet, 6 1/2 inches; Maurice Deacon second, 8 feet, 2 inches.

Officials: Referee, George Sheen, Summerside; timer, Dr. Lockhart, Kensington; announcer, James Pendergast, Kensington.

Should the Abegweits succeed in winning the Island championship they will then meet last year's Maritime title holders, St. Stephen in a best two out of three games series for the N.B.-P.E.I. flag and the right to play Nova Scotia champions for the Maritime Crown. (St. Stephen clinched the N. B. title yesterday by defeating St.

John Martellos 5 to 3 in a deciding tilt.)

The first game of the N.B.-P.E.I. game will be played in Charlottetown—"It"—as above mentioned. And if this comes to a head, it is the intention of the local ball players to sell tickets for the game, making a city wide canvas.

As it costs plenty to finance a return trip to St. Stephen, the boys, who have not the wherewithal themselves are taking this means to secure the necessary funds to take 'em to the mainland and back. In former years very little was taken in at the gate, therefore the players intend to ask every red-blooded fan to purchase a ticket—whether said fan intends to see the game or not. Let's hope the response will be legion and the boys will be in a position to make the trip with the knowledge that the citizens are behind them in their efforts to bring the bacon home.

The committee on finances reported a very favorable reception. Considerable financial support had been promised and expectations were that other grants and aid would be forthcoming.

The meeting was capably presided over by the president, Mr. Gav-in Harding, Mr. W. R. Shaw, secretary of the Association, acted in that capacity.

After adjournment, a meeting of directors was held at which committees were appointed for advertising classification and prize list. It is expected that between 300 and 400 foxes will be exhibited. This year only one judge will be engaged, it being felt that this will save considerable time formerly taken up in consultations where three judges were appointed.

The committees in charge of arrangements expect to report back to the directors within a week or two, and in a short time particulars will be forthcoming for the fox ranchers.

Champion Sandy In Action

FORGES AHEAD IN NATIONAL AMATEUR
Ross "Sandy" Somerville, of Canada, the only foreign threat remaining in the National Amateur Golf championship at Baltimore, Md., is shown in the trap at the 9th hole during his second round match, Sept. 14, against Jack Westland, of Chicago, whom he defeated 3 and 2. Somerville won the first round by a victory over John F. Brawner, Jr., of Washington, D.C., 5 and 3. On Sept. 16 in the morning round Somerville was 6 up on Jesse Guilford. "Sandy" later won the U. S. title.

Ablies Off To Summerside

The second game of the three game series between Summerside and Abegweits for the P. E. Island baseball title will take place on the western diamond this afternoon. Abegweits are one up and if their showing in the first game is any indication of championship calibre, then the locals will be on the top side of the betting before the game starts today.
No doubt the Summerside ball players will trot out their strongest lineup with a view to evening things up and their is every possibility that the Charlottetownians will realize they're been in a ball game before the last half of the ninth.

Will Sell Tickets

Should the Abegweits succeed in winning the Island championship they will then meet last year's Maritime title holders, St. Stephen in a best two out of three games series for the N.B.-P.E.I. flag and the right to play Nova Scotia champions for the Maritime Crown. be held on the dates above mentioned.
Considerable discussion took place as to the eligibility of foxes, and a motion was adopted that no fox could be exhibited which was not registered in the Canadian National livestock records. This, it was pointed out, would give owners of registered adults an opportunity to exhibit even if they do not register their puppies this year.
The only objection taken to the holding of the show was the possibility of distemper still being in some of the ranches. It was positively stated, however, that the authorities at the Fox Experimental Station and other authorities were satisfied that no disease existed in this Province at present, and that the holding of the show would be the means of advertising this fact to the world at large.
The committee on finances reported a very favorable reception. Considerable financial support had been promised and expectations were that other grants and aid would be forthcoming.
The meeting was capably presided over by the president, Mr. Gav-in Harding, Mr. W. R. Shaw, secretary of the Association, acted in that capacity.

EMPIRE IS INDEBTED TO BENNETT

Cunliffe-Lister Praises Vision Of Premier Which Led To Imperial Conference.

QUEBEC, Sept. 20.—"The whole Empire owes a debt to your Premier, Rt. Hon. P. B. Bennett, for having had the vision two years ago to invite the Imperial Economic Conference to Ottawa," said Rt. Hon. Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, Secretary of State for the Colonies, in a farewell interview. Sir Philip who has just completed a tour of Canada with Captain J. L. Dugdale, M.P., his Parliamentary private secretary, and J. P. L. Thomas, M.P., Parliamentary private secretary to Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, reached Quebec Friday and sailed by the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain for England.

"The conference was held at exactly the right moment as events turned out, and found the British Government delegation for the first time with complete authority to act, and in agreement to use that power in full," he said, as he paced up and down the sitting room of his suite in the Chateau Frontenac.

"Everywhere I went, and I visited every capital west of Quebec, I found an appreciation of the work of the conference. Business men and agriculturists, the more they have studied it, the greater has been their appreciation of what the conference has done."

"The first moment a conference is over we can't see it in its true perspective, but now it is being realized how big, how sound and how complete the work of that conference is," he continued.

Cunliffe-Lister, a former president of the Board of Trade, is as unconventional as he is brilliant. The interview started over the remains of breakfast, a Downing Street habit, with the minister in his shirt sleeves, probably not a Downing Street habit, and continued, after he had assumed collar, tie and coat. During the past few weeks Sir Philip and his party have made a 6,000-mile journey to Victoria and back and throughout that trip they have been observing Canada with trained eyes.

Referring to the subject of the conference, Sir Philip emphasized the bigness of it.
"In the first place," he instanced, "the wide range of the agreements. They govern all the Dominions, India and the whole colonial Empire. These agreements cover a wide range of commodities. I think it is true to say that no important primary industry in Canada is not affected by them. This means there is a double reaction, one of another. Mixed farming, and I noted in the West a considerable development in this, benefits and as the whole of the primary products are assisted, of course manufacturers, Canadian or English, are affected by the restoration of purchasing power."

The basis of successful working of tariffs has been soundly established, Sir Philip thinks. "We've established a sound principle on which tariffs should be worked out," he said, "and as a protectionist myself I believe that to be absolutely sound. If you use a tariff as an instrument of protection that is in the best interest because it encourages industry, the whole country will accept it as a reasonable policy, and you do what we have succeeded in doing in England, you take the tariff out of politics."

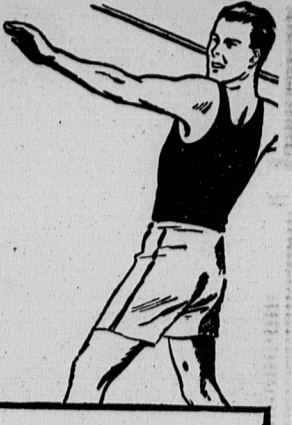

"The conference results will lead to closer relationship between Empire industries. They have been adopted by the whole Empire, and co-operation, not only in dividing up markets and deciding which can sell here or there, but in research, sales organization, raw materials, and soon will bring Empire industries closer together."

"The conference has laid down a policy not only for the present but one that all can follow in the future, and has shown the world that the British Empire can be organized on thoroughly sound lines. It has given a lead to the world in restoring confidence and getting trade going."

"We felt that our work would have been left partly undone if we had not tackled the problem of commodity prices. Everybody agreed that commodity prices must rise but no one seemed to know how it was to be done. We took commodities in which the British market can control, such things as bacon, lamb, and so on, where Britain is the one effective market and the steps taken are bound to result in P. J. Sharkey resides.

"During my trip through Canada I have found a feeling of increased confidence, based not on stock exchange, but on the reality of what the conference will bring," he continued, and as the interview drew to a close, "I am deeply grateful to all those who have shown me and my travelling companions so much kindness from one end of Canada to the other. We have learnt a great deal, our trip has been as valuable as it has been pleasant and I take away with me two memories, the one of a warmth of welcome that makes me long to come again and the other an abiding faith in the destinies of a great Dominion which has met the past few years of crisis with courage and which is facing the future with confident hope."

Purchases of maple syrup and fishing rods, the latter for his two boys, were the most important item on Sir Philip's agenda in Quebec. With his party he embarked on the Empress of Britain at Wolfe's Cove about an hour before sailing time.

president of the executive council, were mentioned as most likely successors to Premier Richards should the government leader step into the Supreme Court vacancy for which he is said to be particularly qualified. Meanwhile A. J. Brooks, Sussex, and J. H. A. L. Fairweather, Rothesay, both government party representatives in the legislature for King's County, Dr. W. W. White, one of four St. John City representatives and former mayor of this city, and E. C. Atkinson, Fredericton, government member for Sunbury and chief government whip, are the four whose names are most prominently mentioned for the first cabinet vacancy.

In the event of Premier Richards succeeding Mr. Justice Crockett on the Supreme Court bench of the province, it is anticipated that he would also take over the duties of the latter as Judge of the Court of Divorce and Matrimonial Causes. Chief Justice Sir Douglas Hazen, K. C., M. G., heads the Supreme Court of New Brunswick as chief justice, sitting in the appeal division, Justice W. C. H. Grimmer and Mr. Justice J. B. M.
