George Carver, the oyster king, has returned from a two weeks trip to Cavendish, where he was canning lobsters, for exhibition purposes, in the factory of Messrs Laird Bros. The lobsters are specially picked, cooked, washed, and canned, with the greatest care, and will be forwarded to the Halifax exhibition, where Mr. Carver has an exhibit every year and has been most successful in capturing his share of the prizes. The lobsters just canned, are of the purest quality, and experts claim they are the finest samples ever made up in the Maritime Provinces. Messrs Laird Bros., and their employees, were very obliging, and did all in their power to make the exhibit perfect.

This is the time of year for the farmers to go over their hay fields to see what new weeds were introduced by their purchase of seed last spring. A hay field near Freetown Station had quite a lot of wild mustard in it, and as it was fairly evenly distributed over the field, it showed conclusively the seed had been sown with the grass seed. Another field at North Bedouque also shows abundance of false flax, curled dock and wild mustard, which no doubt had come in the grass seeds. They can be easily seen now and a few hours of work will get rid of them. But if they are allowed to seed they do untold damage, not only to the whole settlement, it is impossible to get grass and clover seeds free from weeds, but every farmer should go over his fields, to see that no new ones are being introduced. If one people were only growing their own clover seeds, and those who have tried it show that it can be done, there would be no danger of introducing new weeds, but as they are not likely to do that for a few years at least, then the best seeds obtainable should be purchased and the ground gone over carefully and all new importations destroyed.

The Examiner news gatherer, persists in mixing up matters, to an almost laughable extent. To straighten him out, it may be stated, that the garment in question was lost, and not discovered till a late hour on Friday evening, when it was forwarded to Charlottetown, by the mail special, and received by the owner on Saturday morning. If the youthful reporter were only a little less hasty, valuable time wasted in explanation, for his sole benefit, would be saved.

The Y. M. C. A. five mile relay race took place on Saturday evening at 7.30. Ten boys started promptly from the Y. M. C. A., and finished in 34 minutes. Following is the Anchor's team: John White, Thomas Coyle, Reginald McMillan, Edward Bridges, John Blanchard, John Stanley, Vernon Burke, Louis Mullins and Austin McDonald. Why pay $1.25 for Shirts

Inferior To The MOORMAC Dollar Shirt

If you have money to throw to the little birds, you will not be interested in the MOORMAC DOLLAR SHIRT. If you care to have 1.25 quality for one dollar, you will buy MOORMACS every time, because the Moormac is really a dollar twenty five shirt, most dealers would think it worth 1.35 to 1.50.

We have thought of every good point that a dollar shirt could have, and we've had them embodied in the MOORMAC which is made specially for us, to our specification.

That is why there are more MOORMACS sold than any other one style in P. E. I. If you've a dollar, and you want 1.25 shirt value buy a MOORMAC.

We are ready to handle all kinds of Funeral work.

We will do it a little better than any person else can.
