BELGIAN SHIP SAILS ON VOYAGE OF MERCY

The following from Thursday's Halifax Chronicle will be of local interest:—
Freighted with one of the most wonderful cargoes ever shipped from a port in America, the steamer Tremorvah, Nova Scotia's ship of mercy bearing aid for the gallant Belgian allies of the Empire, sails on her errand of relief at noon today. The loading of the ship was finished late on Wednesday afternoon when the last of 188 carloads of food and clothing was put aboard and everything made in readiness for her departure.

HOIST THE FLAGS.

Halifax citizens are planning to give an enthusiastic farewell to the ship of mercy as she casts off her lines at noon today. Flags ought to be hoisted in her honor all along the waterfront. Hundreds of our people are planning to witness her departure from vantage points along the waterfront, and to give the ship the most notable and heroic cargo such a farewell as no other ship ever leaving Halifax has ever received. The 188 carloads of contributions are little more than half of what has been given. Premier Murray's appeal was for one ship load, but with the characteristic generosity of Nova Scotians, assisted by the people of New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Ontario and Quebec, two ships will perhaps not contain the gifts which are still coming in. Considerable of the Nova Scotia contribution has been left behind, to make room for certain perishable gifts from the other provinces, and the following figures show the allotment of carloads:—
New Brunswick, 45; Ontario and Quebec, 25; Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, 118.

A FINE SHIP.

The good ship Tremorvah, upon which has fallen this enviable honor, is a Welsh collier, owned by Sir Edward Hain, of St. Ives, Cornwall, and is one of a numerous fleet engaged in the coal trade. She is commanded by Captain Tregoning, who has had much experience in Mediterranean, Black Sea and Indian trade. The ship is one of the finest colliers that ever called at Halifax, was built about nine years ago, and derives her name from an old estate in Cornwall. It will be noted that the name has the characteristic Cornwall prefix "Tre." The officers of the Tremorvah are: Chief Officer, C. T. R. Screech; second officer, J. Tomis; chief engineer, J. Jones; second engineer, T. Coward; third engineer, C. E. Drevett.

THE TREMORVAH'S CARGO.

The following list of cars and their contents loaded into the Tremorvah was given out last night by the secretary of the Belgian Relief committee:—
75 cars potatoes and vegetables.
10 " flour.
14 " canned goods.
7 " lumber.
7 " bacon.
5 " apples.
1 " dry and pickled fish.
3 " biscuits.
2 " cheese.
4 " blankets and bedding.
3 " evaporated fruits.
48 " clothing.
Total 188 cars.

NOVA SCOTIA'S LEADERSHIP.

The Belgian relief movement now spreading throughout the British Empire had its inception in the City of Halifax. When Hon. George H. Murray, Premier of the Province, called upon the people of Nova Scotia to send a ship load of food and clothing to the Belgian allies of the Empire, the most far sighted citizen never have anticipated the marvellous success which attended it. The appeal, like the fiery cross of old, was the rallying call from the Atlantic to the Pacific, to the Commonwealth of Australia, and around the world with the beat of the British drum. The movement assumed the proportions and semblance of a great tide flooding to the full—and the fullness of that tide will only be when evening suffers in the greatest national calamity of centuries shall be clothed, fed and housed.

A SPLENDID RESPONSE.

The response of the inhabitants of Nova Scotia is a magnificent expression of gratitude for one of the most eloquent messages of admiration and sympathy that one people ever sent to another. There are few instances in modern history of a colonial government in which a relief movement of such magnitude for the benefit of a foreign nation, and its people, arising out of their own sense of spontaneous liberality so much so as to make it almost impossible to find among the entire population a man, woman or child who had not participated in the movement. Many were there who could afford little, but who rendered invaluable services. Others there were who were able to give much and their generosity was great.

THE PEOPLE'S LIBERALITY.

The Tremorvah, the ship to sail from Halifax, carries a cargo of 5,000 tons, conservatively estimated to be worth nearly half a million dollars, with another cargo as valuable awaiting the departure of this second ship. Considered as these figures are, they serve to tell but little of the story which is behind them. The call came in the harvest season, and as the most bountiful crops for many years were being gathered, the reapers laid aside a full measure for those "innocent victims of an unrighteous war." The fisherman, as he pulled his net at the close of the long day, heard the appeal and gave of the fruits of his toil. It was as if nature had prepared the Province of Nova Scotia to succor Belgium in the hour of her distress.

$1,000 A DAY IN MONEY.

Premier Murray issued his appeal to the people of Nova Scotia to aid the Belgians on Sept. 18th. Thirty days after, more than enough food and clothing had been secured to supply the people of Nova Scotia alone to fill a 6,000 ton ship, while contributions from the other Provinces of the Dominion were coming in by the train loads. Money was given out at the rate of $1,000, and food and clothing at the rate of $1,000. The relief work was done after the citizens of Nova Scotia had made the biggest sacrifice they were ever called upon to make. Their contributions to the Patriotic Fund far exceeded their share, and the fund for the relief of Belgium was an open account. The relief work was started after the women of Nova Scotia had given three times their allotment towards the Canadian Women's Hospital Fund for the navy. It was accomplished in the face of the most depressing commercial conditions ever suffered by the province.

THE PREMIER'S APPEAL.

The story of the start of the Belgian Relief Movement is told in these pages. There was first the letter of Lambert Jadot, managing director of the Acadia Coal Company, Limited, of Stellarton, Nova Scotia, who is a prominent Belgian financier and a resident of Brussels. The letter, first hand evidence of the most shameful abuse of a small nation, by a powerful country, that the history of the world affords, was laid before Premier Murray, who lost no time in taking action. The following day his eloquent appeal to the people of Nova Scotia to aid the Belgian allies of the Empire, and asking that a ship load of food and clothing be sent to them, stirred the Province from Cape North to Cape Sable. Another day saw a complete organization effected for the handling of the big project. The Department of Industries and Immigration, under the able management of Secretary A. S. B. D'Arrest, took charge of the work for the Belgian Relief Committee. The Federal Government gave the use of the Canadian Immigration premises as headquarters, and Immigration Agent Barnstead with his entire staff volunteered to handle the receipt of contributions, the sorting and packing them. Mr. C. W. Frazee, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, Halifax, gave his services as treasurer of the fund. The Canadian Pacific Railway, the Intercolonial Railway, the D. A. R. and the H. & S. W. Railway and other lines in the Province, and many steamship lines, offered free transportation and other services which would facilitate the movement of the contributions to concentration stations, and finally to Halifax, where the ship awaited them. Throughout the Province the Express and Transfer Companies carried Belgian Relief parcels free of charge. Livery stables offered their teams and automobiles were ever where at the service of the committee.

THE PATRIOTIC DEMONSTRATION

The newspapers of the country gave their space to the appeals on behalf of the Belgians. The Morning Chronicle initiated a great popular demonstration surpassing anything of its kind ever given in Halifax, a city of martial memories and British traditions. Department stores, besides giving of their stock, selling at wholesale prices and reductions, in several towns took charge of the packing and shipment of the goods. In Halifax the big store of Mahood & Limited, rendered every possible aid to the committee, who gave a concert, which on popular request was repeated three times. The entire concert was the work of the staff of capable talented men and women, seventy of whom sang in the choruses, others taking the solo parts.

TO CANADA.

(By Percy Mackaye.)

Men of Canada,
Fellow Americans,
Proud our hearts beat for you over the border;
Proud of the fight you wage,
Proud of your valiant youth
Sailing to battle for freedom and order.

On our own battlefields
Many's the bout we had—
Yankee, Canadian, redcoat and ranger;
But our old brotherhood,
Stanch through the centuries,
Shouts in our blood now to share in your danger.

Ah, it's a weary thing
Waiting and watching here,
Numbing ourselves to a frozen neutrality;
Yet, in a world at war,
"Thy our goal," part to keep
Patient to forge the strong peace of finality.

Though, then, our part be Peace,
Yet our free fighting souls
League with our own 'gainst the world-justice of Vandals;
Yes, in the dreadful night—
We, with your women, weep
And for your shrouded dead burn our shrine candles.

So, by the guileless law
Of our same borderline,
By our souls' faith, that no border can sever,
Freedom!—now may you fight,
Waging the death of war,
Silence the demons of cannon forever!

Kin-folk of Canada,
So may your allied arms
Smite with his legions the Lord of disorder!
God speed your noble cause!
God save your gallant sons!
Would we might sail with them—over the border—
—Boston Transcript.

Headquarters, instead of carrying them back to their own tables. Farmers, manufacturers, millers, fishermen, miners, clerks, and all classes of the people, from the laborer to the heads of the biggest concerns in the land, gave money, clothes and food. Many private homes throughout the country were opened as centres where people gathered to work for the Belgians. Women knitted, quilted and sewed. Men who had not performed a day's manual labor for years, worked as packers and carriers. Bazaars and tea meetings were held in numerous villages; the old-fashioned sewing bees came into vogue again even in the society circles of the cities. Long forgotten hobbies were revived, and the girls learned to knit socks and mittens and to quilt bed covers. The churches were foremost in sending out committees to solicit contributions, and their lecture rooms were thrown open to receive them. In the schools of the very curriculum had an additional branch of knowledge—that of learning to work for the Belgians. The children were first told the story of those gallant people; they were told of the tremendous debt the citizens of Canada owe to them, and the chivalry, honor, bravery and sacrifice of the Belgians were held up as virtues for them to emulate. And they gave—those children of the Nova Scotia schools. They gave of their pennies, they worked to have concerts and socials, and many a little peaked roof house beside the long country road was the scene of sales, duck suppers, quilting parties and other rural functions, all for the one object—to help pay the debt.

PATONS The House of Quality

The Canadian contingent, recalled the fact that when he was called upon to take charge of the campaign in South Africa, his first telegram was to Canada, to whose part in that war he paid a high tribute. Once again Canada had come forward, and he warmly complimented Major-General Hughes on getting together such a line body of men, all splendidly equipped, on such short notice. Owing to the bad weather, his review of the force on Saturday last had been very hurried, but he had been impressed by the steadiness of the men under the heavy downpour of rain. After emphasizing that Lord Kitchener must have every man who he required, Lord Roberts spoke of overseas loyalty. The veteran field marshal received a great ovation on resuming his seat. The minister of militia in responding, declared that he had realized years ago that the German conflict was inevitable, and that he had sought to persuade the parliament and the people of Canada to this conviction. When he entered office, he had set himself to the task of preparing for the inevitable, with the result that he had raised 75,000 militia and 6,000 Britain with 300,000 men if required. Hon. Walter Long, in proposing the health of the allies, said "All we know of chivalry in war was learned from the French." Lord Charles Beresford, in the unavoidable absence of Earl Grey, proposed the toast of Canada. Hon. Geo. H. Perley, who replied, referred to the various contributions of food from Canada, and also to the provision of the Queen's Canadian military hospital by Canadians in London. The minister of militia sails for Canada via New York.

BEAVER FLOUR

is a real friend to home cooks

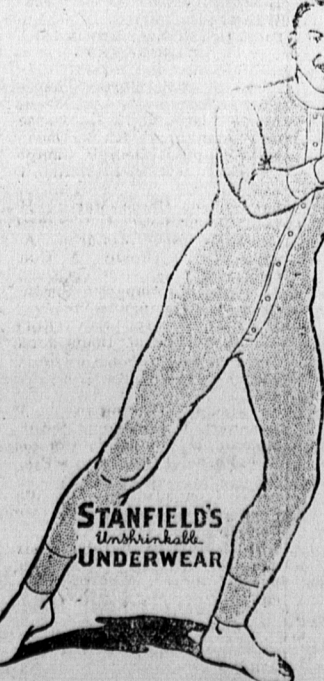

YOU can depend on "Beaver" because it is a perfectly balanced flour. It has the real homemade flavor of Ontario wheat and the extra strength of Western wheat.

This is true because these two varieties of wheat are blended before being ground. Thus "Beaver" Flour has the flavor of the Ontario pastry flour, with the increased strength due to the addition of western wheat. Being always blended in exactly the right proportions, "Beaver" Flour is always the same. You can depend on it for all your baking. Ask your dealer.
