IN MEMORIAM

MR. SIMON B. DEAGLE

Many friends and relatives in this province and elsewhere, were deeply grieved to learn that on Thursday, January 30th, Mr. Simon Basil Deagle had passed away at the City Hospital, Charlottetown, at the age of 65 years.

Deceased had been in failing health for the past year, but his friends fondly hoped that with the best medical skill and tender nursing, his recovery might soon be completed. Five weeks previous to his death, he re-entered the City Hospital for treatment but gradually succumbed to the fatal disease, fortified by the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

The late Mr. Deagle spent the early years of his life in Boston and California, where he was a valued employee of the Elevated Railway. Ten years ago he returned to this province, where he took up farming which he conducted very successfully until forced to give up through illness.

Mr. Deagle was a man of sterling qualities, respected for his honesty and integrity, and all the splendid ideals of the best and highest things of life and loved for his unswerving loyalty to his country and his duty to God.

There are left to mourn besides his widow, the following: sisters and brothers: Mrs. John F. Chaisson, Miss Georgia and Mr. Joseph P. Deagle, all of Bear River, and Augustine of Vancouver, B. C.

The funeral took place Saturday morning from the home of his brother to St. Alexis Church, where Requiem High Mass was sung by his pastor Rev. A. L. Sinnott, who also conducted the services at the grave.

The pall bearers were: Messrs John D. MacDonald, Daniel D. Fisher, John H. MacKinnon, James Whalen, Peter Chaisson and Angus MacCormac. May his soul rest in peace.

The following Mass Cards were gratefully received:—
Rev. George Quigley, Middleboro, Mass. Mrs. S. B. Deagle, Bear River, Mr. Joseph P. Deagle, Bear River, Mrs. Georgia Deagle, Bear River, Mr. Augustine Deagle, Vancouver, B. Once a doubtful luxury—now a necessity

Not over a decade ago the so-called "modern laundry" was regarded with considerable doubt for two reasons. First, the almost prohibitive cost to the consumer. Second, the inferiority of such work as compared with the home laundry.

During recent years both these obstacles have been removed and the steam laundry of today is regarded in somewhat the same light as the telephone or the electric light.

A glance at the steadily increasing earnings of the New System Laundry & Cleaners, Limited over the past five years will serve to demonstrate the growing demand for the services of the present day laundry.

We are recommending the 7% Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock of New System Laundry & Cleaners for sound investment. May we forward full particulars?

MARKET REVIEW

Trading off in the market, level international nickel Co., during past week or two probably has due to the close association is considered to exist between progress of this company's earnings and the price of copper. It was noted that with the copper price from 18 cents to 14 cents and a possible further decline—although upward price in the next few days is also considered quite possible—the net earnings of International Nickel Co. would be cut down by amounts equal to the full drop in copper market. While this is likely to be a reduction in commodity price should reasonably be reflected in the price of the stock to the extent only when that commodity is its only output and when the price of production is likely to be approximately the same as in previous years.

In the case of International Nickel, copper is not its main product but a by-product; an accident so frequent in the mining of nickel ore, its platinum and palladium silver and gold and the precious contents of the rich Frood. These should be considered as fortunate by-products, cutting off covering the entire cost of mining and refining the nickel. International Nickel will not regulate its price by the price of the demand for copper; it is essentially a manufacturer and industrial organization; each year it is planned to increase its production; less for copper will cut down to extent, not wide out increase. The picture of nickel is growth in output, in earnings, amounts available for the common stock and in dividend payments. Developments in Brazilian have been cumulatively beneficial; the successful negotiation of which is expected to stabilize for some time, is a later shipments depressed prices to a quite unprofitable level. A Commission appointed by the Nova Scotia Government is investigating the problems of the industry. Evaporators have had a busy season but sales of the product have not kept pace with production. Potato prices have not risen as expected, but returns are not unprofitable. Prices for fox pelts averaged some 20% lower than those of last season at this year's London sales. Prospects are good for marketing of live lobsters in the United States and Canada but the outlook for the cannery product, owing to the competition in Great Britain of Japanese crab meat at lowered prices, is somewhat obscure. Dried fish markets, also, feel the pressure of increasing European supplies.

While coal production has not been equal to that of the early months of 1929, it is anticipated that activity will increase with the opening of navigation. Construction has continued active, although a large drop in the number employed was registered from February 1st to March 1st. Contracts valued at over $5,000,000 were awarded during the first quarter of this year, whereas the corresponding figure was less than $1,000,000 in 1929. Retail and wholesale trade have been fairly good. Collections on the whole, have been well maintained.

Business In The Maritimes

(Bank of Nova Scotia Monthly Review for April)

Conditions for logging operations in these Provinces have been very good, on the whole, during the season just closing. Operating costs have therefore been comparatively low. Cuts on the North Shore, in the vicinity of the new paper mills, increased greatly and an active log driving season will result. Nevertheless, depression continues in the lumber industry. United States demand has not revived and, despite the Canadian advantage of low freights to Britain, the competition of Russian lumber renders this market increasingly poor. Good quantities have been absorbed into Upper Canada.

There have been further unfavorable developments in the marketing of the large apple crop. Fruit in storage kept badly; the British market received too great supplies of the early varieties, and the poor quality of the the history of China as a republic, telling of the straits made since she had been liberated from the yoke of the Manchus. The Chinese in Canada he said "have been looked on with disfavor. They have been accused of living on a pittance and sending all their money to China. It must be remembered that, in order to enter Canada before the Exclusion Act, a Chinese had to have $500. He also had to pledge $2,000 to the Manchus before he could leave China. Thus he was $2,500 in debt when he landed here and there was also, probably a family to keep at home. In cases where Chinese have had their families here, and have had no debts to pay in China, they have been known, for their liberality. China has awakened and resources are now being developed. We need leadership most and that is why we are calling our sons home. Do not look down on the Chinese laundryman and restaurant keeper. They are not that by choice. In most cases, they are political fugitives, the highest type of Chinese and it is they who will be the leaders in the new China. Canada has taught them how to make a living. They will go back to China and teach the Chinese how to live."

CHINESE BEING RECALLED TO CHINA

WINDESOR, Ont., April 27.—(By The Canadian Press)—"The new China is calling her sons home and within 25 years there will not be one Chinese left in Canada," declared Dr. Teyh Hsieh at a meeting here. Dr. Hsieh is a graduate of Cambridge and for years was the only practicing Chinese lawyer in England. He was at one time Chinese consul-general to Australia, later a delegate to the opium conference in Geneva and now is acting manager of the Chinese Trade Bureau in Boston, represents the Williamsport Institute of Politics and is a representative of the National Chung Hwa News Association of Shanghai.
