The three-act comedy by Mr. J. D. MacMillan was produced under the direction of Mr. J. B. Richard C.D.A.

To single out any one performer for special mention would be unfair because each and every member of the cast turned in a good performance. Most of them were seen in former plays in the city and on each occasion left nothing to be desired.

The cast included: G. Harold Hennessey as Parker Jones; Florence McGee as Catherine; Helen Garrett as Gladys; Margaret Macdonald as Kit; Reid McKenna as Morey; Mr. J. R. McCarthy as Mrs. Maxwell; C. LeClair as Blair Chalmers; J. B. Richard as Mack; R. A. MacDonald as Fulton; Aileen Burns as Dora.

Specialties between acts included entertainment by the following artists: tap dancing by Miss Joan Mur-naghan; songs by A.J. Young; step dancing by A. Gallant; selections by St. Dunstan's Glee Club which were comprised of the following personnel: L. LaFrance, G. Gorman, F. Forbes, M. Perron, H. Trudell, M. Thibault.

Before, during and after the play popular music was supplied by "Ding" Connolly and his orchestra. Orchestra members included: Piano, "Ding" Connolly; 1st. violin, Kathleen Hornby; 2nd. violin, Mar- ion Pucher; saxophones, Elmer Gorman and Art Cantwell; Clarinet, Ray Simmons; Trumpets, Bill More-side and Wendell Murphy; Drums, Jimmy Coady.

Mr. Forest Slocombe was stage and property manager.

At the conclusion of the program, Hon. Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, on behalf of the Sisters of the Hospi-tal, thanked the audience for their attendance.

THRILLS LARGE AUDIENCE AT CAPITOL, SUMMERSIDE

49th Parallel the picture of the year which has been widely acclaimed opened last night at the Capitol Theatre and drew a large crowd who were thrilled with the scenic beauties of the Canadian scenes, portrayed.

Authorities for the claim of Canada's greatness as a film locale include Fred Young, Chief Camera-man of the 49th Parallel crew, who has filmed many great pictures and won an Academy Award for his photography in "Good-Bye, Mr. Chips" and his opinion was supported by Captain Osmond Borradaile, Vancouver-born cameraman who filmed exteriors in "Elephant Boy," "Victor the Great" and numerous other top pictures.

"It was my first trip right across Canada," said Young, after he had finished shooting miles of film from Halifax to Vancouver. "I didn't realize that Canada had so much to offer. And when we really have learned how to handle the incredibly fine light of Canada's latitude, the atmospheric clarity of the open country is going to give us some of the finest photographic effects ever filmed."

"There's nothing better for film work than Canada's scenery," Borradaile echoed. "It's tops. Nothing can beat its mountain scenery and the prairies offer opportunities which we bit into for this picture. From now on Canada will go places. I think, because it has everything."

—A BRITISH PORT, April 6—(G.P.)—A number of the 11 Norwegian ships which last week made a daring dash toward Britain from Göteborg, Sweden, have reached this port safely after being attacked repeatedly by German airplanes, naval surface craft, and submarine.

A combination of heavy fog, skillful seamanship, and plain luck enabled the ships to run the German blockade. But some of them were sunk by the Germans.

(Copenhagen German-controlled dispatches said that from two to four of the ships were sunk, and that two turned back to Göteborg.)

A young Norwegian sailor who came through the gauntlet said those torpedoes seemed to fill the sea.

The ships had been in the Swedish harbor opposite the northern tip of Denmark since the German invasion of Norway, and were chartered formally to Britain by the Norwegian government.

The problem was to get them through an alert German blockade.

The attempt was made last Tuesday.

"We knew we were taking tremendous risks, but we did not expect things to happen as quickly as they did, the young Norwegian said.

"The Germans had been tipped off. They were waiting just off the coast of the heavily-mined Skagerak, and opened up on us immediately.

"We could do nothing in reply. Their shells were screaming all around us. German bombers dropped overhead and it seemed as if nothing could save us. Some of us were being fired on as point blank range.

"Somehow we managed to survive, some of us.

"Most of the ships had turned back from this almost certain destruction. Then suddenly a heavy fog came down. Visibility was nil and the Nazi bombardment stopped.

"We crept out again. Then I saw a vivid flash. I think it was a ship which had turned with us on the second attempt to make a run for it. She must have been hit by a torpedo.

"Our ship kept on at full speed. Above us we could still hear the roar of German bombers, and every now and then the thud of exploding bombs. In spite of the fog the German warships and U-boats were assuming the attack.

"Those torpedoes seemed to fill the sea, but all missed us. We were chased for hours and attacked with every form of weapons—bombs, shells, torpedoes.

"But that fog was our salvation."

they attempt to invade this continent.

But he warned: "I am encouraging nobody to believe the tide has turned. The tide always returns. We must be vigilant and ready. It is a long way to go yet. The tide in which I am most interested is the flood whereon the full strength of the Allies with Australia among them, will flow toward Japan for the final battle."

Although Australia's position was distinctly easier than two months ago, he said the country "must expect and prepare for attack."

Convinced Italian Sub Takes Toll In Atlantic Battle

MIAMI, Fla., April 6—(AP)—The captain of a medium-sized British freighter sunk in West Indian waters March 13, is convinced that an Italian submarine was taking its toll of shipping in the western Atlantic.

One member of the crew who died of a heart attack was the only casualty when the submarine torpedoed and killed his vessel, Capt. J.J. Egerton said. The remaining 57 in the ship's company were picked up after 42 hours in lifeboats and were taken to Nassau, where the sinking was announced March 17.

"I am certain the sub was of the large Italian class," said Egerton, a graying, 64-year-old veteran of more than 40 years at sea, after he and the other survivors were brought to Miami.

"After we abandoned ship, the sub circled our four lifeboats and the captain shouted out to ask us whether we were all right and whether we needed anything. He spoke very good English, but it was easy to tell that it was an Italian talking English and not a German."

"He hoisted the Italian flag just before waving goodbye."

It is Canada's first army, in the technical sense of a particular type of field organization, as contrasted with the use of the word "army" to describe the country's military forces as a whole.

Organization of the headquarters staff brings the new formation officially into existence but other steps remain to be taken before the new formation of two corps is ready to enter action as a full-fledged army.

Li-Gen, H. D. G. Crerar, former chief of the general staff, is promoted from the command of a division to command the corps headed until now by Gen. McNaughton but the announcement from national defence headquarters today made no mention of a commander for the 2nd corps.

It said headquarters of the 2nd corps would be established as soon as the corps organization is completed and the two corps army projected in the 1942 overseas program it is proposed to send overseas the 4th (armored) division now in Canada and being converted from an infantry division.

Whether the 2nd corps will actually take concrete form before the 4th division reaches England has not been stated.

Announcement of the formation of the army headquarters staff comes just over a week after Gen. McNaughton's return to England from a visit to Canada, during which he held lengthy conferences with members of the cabinet and the staff of national defence headquarters. His promotion to the rank of full general is expected to follow shortly as a matter of course.

19 Rescued After Drifting 5 Days

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, April 6—(CP)—Nineteen survivors of a torpedoed merchant ship, who drifted five days and five nights in a lifeboat, were brought here today from another East Coast Canadian Port and taken to hospital. Their rescue had been announced April 3.

All the seamen were making good recoveries from exposure. They were picked up last week by a coastal vessel and taken to the other port. They came here by train.

With their arrival, the one Canadian aboard the ship was identified as Seaman Bill Coby. Coby was among those rescued.

The three lifeboats that left the sinking ship all have been picked up. Only casualties were three men killed when the first of two torpedoes struck in the engine room.

The seamen said the attacking submarine came to the surface after the boats had been launched and its commander shouted something unintelligible to the survivors. Then it submerged.

Enemy gains Ground on Bataan Front

WASHINGTON, April 6—(AP)—The Japanese hurled waves of assault troops at Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright's American-Filipino forces today and gained ground in the third day of fierce fighting on the Bataan peninsula.

A late day communique from the war department said the attacks were supported by artillery fire and dive bombers, and, for the second time in three days, reported that "the enemy made some gains," although paying heavily in casualties. Anti-aircraft gunners shot down one of the dive bombers, the second they have bagged in two days.

On the east coast of the peninsula, where the Japanese have been repulsed twice in the last 72 hours in attempts to land troops for a flank attack, enemy artillery harassed the defences, firing from barges in Manila Bay. Most of the shells fell short of their targets, the communique said.

The action reported today was the seventh drive against the Bataan defences in two weeks. Since Saturday the hammering at the right centre of Wainwright's line has been almost continuous.

Still seek Solution to Indian problem

(By H. E. STIMSON, Associated Press Staff Writer)

NEW DELHI, India, April 6—(AP)—Louis Johnson, special emissary from the United States, sought in a round of conferences today to assist in solution of the complex Indian independence question, rendered even more urgent by the first Japanese air attacks on the mainland.

Washington Government's interest in India's future were believed to have been given by Johnson in talks yesterday and today with Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru and Mahatma Abul Kalam Azad, leaders of the All-India Congress party the major political group of Hindus.

Johnson then conferred with Sir Stafford Cripps, British Cabinet Minister who brought to India an offer of post-war dominion status.

While the American position was described as in no sense involving guarantees, Johnson was reported striving to see what could be contributed toward a solution, and his attitude imparted a sense of vigor and urgency to the negotiations.

(To meet Indian objections to this defence remaining in British hands, one suggestion under consideration was said by these sources to be appointment of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell as Viceroy with Nehru or the moderate Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru as defence minister. Gen. Wavell would retain his position as commander in chief for India.

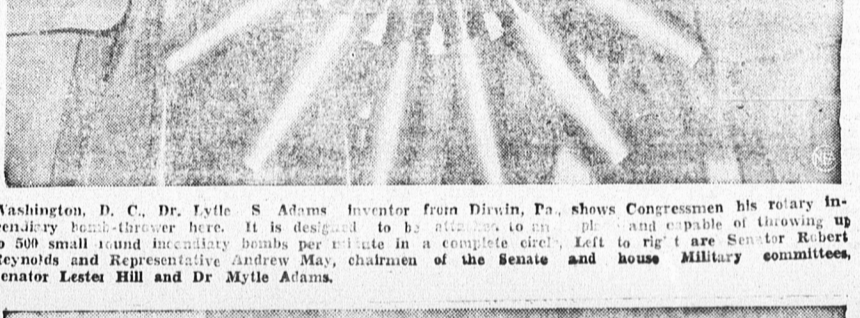

(Thus a temporary solution would be founded upon the desperate nature of the military situation rather than on the complexities of Indian politics, with Britain underlining a promise of post-war government of by and for Indians, these London quarters asserted.)

Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski, Prime Minister of Poland and Commander in Chief of Polish armed forces, centre, is greeted by Premier King as he arrives in Ottawa for a series of conferences. The General flew to Canada from Britain about ten days ago and proceeded to Washington returning to the Dominion. Polish forces are training in Canada while a large army has been mobilized in Russia.

Washington, D. C., Dr. Lytle S. Adams, inventor from Durin, Pa., shows Congressmen his rotary incendiary bomb-thrower here. It is designed to be attached to an airplane and capable of throwing up to 500 small round incendiary bombs per minute in a complete circle. Left to right are Senator Robert Reynolds and Representative Andrew May, chairman of the Senate and house Military committees, Senator Lester Hill and Dr. Myrtle Adams.

Yesterday at 2 p.m. this city was the scene of something which has not been common for a good many years. Considerable interest was shown by all lovers of horses in a parade which began at Lower Queen Street, travelled up Queen Street, along Easton to Weymouth, from Weymouth down Kent to Lower Prince, from Prince via Grafton to Queen returning to starting point.

Most of the harness horses of the city and surrounding parts were present and some good horse flesh was noted. Wellington MacNeill driving "Raymond Budlong" and Willard MacDonald driving "Willard Kelly's 'Playdale'" Mr. Willard Kelly was driving the only pair in the parade, "Millie Kalmuck" and "Tina Kalmuck" hitched together to make a good looking pair. Charles O'Brien handled "Singing Sam" and Mr. Alie Cutcliffe behind "Alle Burnham."

Dr. R. F. Seaman, Frank Wheatley, James Arling, William McVeigh were also present with other horsemen in the parade. Beside the harness turnout the parade was led by one saddle horse and the rear brought up by ten other saddle horses. The saddle horses were ridden by competent equestrians and made an impressive appearance.

Master Frankie Clark and Miss Ann Blake attracted considerable attention with their ponies "Snap" and "Queenie."

There is no doubt that riding as a means of recreation is coming into its own in this province. Aside from being a grand sport it could be the means of conserving considerable gasoline.

Parachutists May Raid New England

BOSTON, April 6—(AP)—A warning that "parachute troops may land at some point in New England" was issued today by Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles, first corps area commander, at army day observances here tonight.

Gen. Miles said in a broadcast address that the parachute troops probably "will be bent on sabotage, the seizure and destruction of some important plant of essential utility. They may then probably will be aided by their agents and secretly organized groups now in our midst."

This picture, showing bombing ruins in the business-district of Aachen, was published in a Nazi magazine purportedly to show damage to civilian property only. It gives some idea of the way R.A.F. bombers are pulverizing western Germany in their great spring offensive.
