IN MEMORIAM

MRS. JOSEPH KELLY.

The Guardian announces with deep regret the death of Mrs. Joseph Kelly which took place in her home in Lot 11, Thursday, Nov. 12th, after a lingering illness. Her death did not come unexpectedly but has cast a shadow over the community where she lived. Deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Goff, of Lot 10, and was in her 27th year. She will be deeply lamented by a large concourse of relatives and friends. Of amiable disposition kind and gentle actions and other Christian virtues she endeared herself to all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. Her memory will long be cherished by her many friends and neighbors and her serene and happy death was a fitting closing of a virtuous and well spent life. In her sickness she was visited by her pastor, Rev. R. J. McDonald, of the Brae. The deceased leaves to mourn a husband and one little boy, Herman, besides a father and mother, one brother and five sisters. The funeral took place on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock to St. Bridget's Church, Lot 11, in the absence of her pastor, the Mass for the dead was sung by the Rev. Father McDonald, of Grand River, thence to the R. C. Cemetery, where all that was mortal of a dear friend was forever laid to rest to await a glorious immortality. May her soul rest in peace.

GIRL LEAPS FROM AN OCEAN LINER

To see a young girl actually jump from the upper deck of a large ocean liner, while it is in motion, and fight against the waves in a desperate effort to reach safety is by no means a common sight. This is just what happens in the ninth episode of The Million Dollar Mystery showing at the People's Theatre tomorrow. Since the beginning of this famed serial many wonderful incidents have been presented but it is safe to say that none of them could compare in any respect with Miss La Badie's daring accomplishment in this edition. Apart from this scene, however, the entire production is dressed in a style that is at once spectacular and novel. The views of the ship, George Washington, at sea with the moon playing on the waters, and the Newfoundland fishing fleet in the distance cannot but help appeal to everybody. Then the interior of the ship is shown while the scenes depicting the shopping crowds on Broadway lend a touch of variety to a decidedly remarkable film production. The Million Dollar Mystery is certainly going in interest weekly. 6580

WILL MEET RUSSIANS WITH THREE ARMIES

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A Times despatch from Copenhagen says: "Advices from Posen indicate that there is much dissatisfaction among the Poles in the Eastern Provinces of Germany. The Poles complain that the Germans are neglecting the frontier because most of the inhabitants are Slavs. They declare that the Germans themselves are laying the frontier to waste, in order to delay the Russians. They protest that Poles are put in the front of the battle line as cannon fodder. The Germans, on the other hand, accuse the Poles of helping the Russians by espionage."

"The Germans are concentrating great armies at Thorn-Posen and Breslau, and plan to fight desperately to prevent the Russian occupation of the important parts of Silesia and Posen. Only the utmost need will persuade the German to send any troops back to the Western front at present."

A despatch from Petrograd to the Times says: "Grand Duke Nicholas, the Russian Commander-in-Chief, has overruled the decision of the Council of Ministers favoring the sale of beer and light wines and has now ordered that wherever martial laws prevail, the sale of alcoholic drinks of any kind shall be forbidden.

"This decision was taken because drinking among officers quartered at remote places, had not ceased."

GIVE GERMANS DOSE OF OWN MEDICINE.

LONDON, November 18.—The Copenhagen correspondent of the Daily News learns from Berlin that the Russian military authorities in East Prussia have given orders that as the Russians advance the inhabitants are to abandon their homes and take not only their money and valuables, but their flocks and herds with them, so as to prevent the Russians from obtaining any provision from the occupied districts. The houses are also to be burned so that the Russians shall find no shelter.

THE LONDON BROKERS FEAR A SETTLEMENT

LONDON, Nov. 17.—An informal committee of Stock Exchange members elected to approach the official committee has had a special interview with Lord Reading and treasury officials to impress on the Government the difficulties and dangers of proceeding to the immediate settlement of transactions for a date subsequent to July 29.

It now transpires the Government was misinformed by the official committee concerning the magnitude of the business done during the three days before the exchange closed and since the close. The committee said this was infinitesimal.

Members, however, calculate that fully $75,000,000 of business must be settled on November apart from the business which is being carried over for a year after the war.

The chief trouble is the American market, where one firm alone is stated to have over $3,000,000 in accounts to settle next week. Much of this business represents the closing of long and short commitments which were open for the July 29 account. This account is being carried over compulsorily for a year after the war, so that in some cases where clients thought they had closed, they find they are still long or short for a year after the war on one hand, but on the other, must deliver or take up stock for the November 18 account. Settlement of this account has already begun, but it is hoped some relief in deserving cases may yet be arranged by the Government, otherwise it is believed many members will go into liquidation.

CANADIAN PIPERS HEARD IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—"If the Canadian force now in England is short in anything it is certainly not short in pipers," says the Manchester Guardian. "There are, I believe, four Scottish regiments in the contingent, each of which has from ten to sixteen pipers, and, moreover, there is the Princess Patricia's regiment, which, although not Scottish, is still supplied with a pipe band consisting of fourteen stout-lunged pipers."

"The Canadian Black Watch has a pipe-major whose pipes have resounded in India and in South Africa during the war, and another piper who was in the Scots Guards. They wear the Stewart turban by the way, and not the Black Watch variety. There is a V. C. and a D. S. O. among the officers of this Highland brigade. The V. C. is Colonel Turner, who won it when saving the guns at Colenso at the time Lord Roberts' son was killed. I believe that there are about thirty men in the brigade who have good Gaelic."

"It must be added that a great number of these Canadian soldiers were born in Great Britain, and they have not lost their local accents in Greater Britain. A baggage contest might be held at Salisbury, on a grand scale, when the famous piper McColl, from Oban, and Piper-Major Campbell, the King's piper, might cock their bonnets and challenge all the Canadian pipers to beat them at "Macrimmon's Lament."

A MOTHER'S PATRIOTISM.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—The Temps reports from L'Information a letter from Mme. de... of Paris, written on learning of the death of her son, aged 17, who volunteered despite ill health. The letter, which the Temps calls worthy of the Roman matron Cronecia, runs:—"I thank you for the delicacy with which the terrible news was broken to me. In my agony one consolation remains. For seventeen years I struggled for my son's life against many illnesses, only saving him from death by constant care. I am deeply proud to have succeeded in preserving him to die for his country."

A SENSIBLE MAGISTRATE.

"In Fredericton not so very long ago a squad of volunteers was marching along the road. Some young fellows of the high collar, long cuff stamp—probably 'mamma's owns'—began to joke fun at the recruits as they passed along. Instantly the officer in charge instructed six or seven of the recruits to fall out of the ranks and thrash those youths on the sidewalk. They did the business in great style. Immediately the sires of those boys (men who had been so long residents of the place that anything their sons did or said must be accepted as perfectly in keeping with ancient traditions) laid a complaint against the officer who had inspired the thrashing. He was summoned before the magistrate, who instantly dismissed the case and praised the officer for what he had done. Incidentally he said that if he had his way, he would order that these 'carpet knights' should be thrashed all over again. But instantaneously as they were a sorry looking crowd anyway, he leaned to mercy. "That's the way to deal with 'side walk heroes' who are afraid to take the road to Tipperary."—Halifax Herald.

MINE ON DUTCH COAST KILLED SEVEN MEN

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A mine washed ashore near West Capelle, Holland, exploded yesterday while being examined, killing three naval officers, one civilian and three sailors. This information was contained in an announcement made by the Dutch Ministry of Marine, and cabled from Amsterdam to Reuter's Telegram Company. Several mines had been taken to pieces successfully before the accident occurred. Between thirty and forty mines were seen in the Scheldt near Flushing, yesterday. Some were destroyed, the Dutch officials say, by the boats, and others were washed ashore.

CANADIAN SUGAR PRICES AND AMERICAN

HALIFAX, Nov. 17.—The Halifax Herald a few days ago published an article from the Montreal Journal of Commerce as to the great profits of sugar refining in Canada. The following, on the other side, is from the Montreal Gazette:—"Sugar refiners in Montreal object to criticism that they are reaping undue profits from the sale of sugar on the ground that the critics have wrongly based their arguments on the difference of price between New York and Montreal. This, they claim, may sound all right in theory, but that it neglects to take into consideration certain fundamental factors which govern the situation. The critics have pointed out that refined sugar can be purchased in New York at $5 a hundred pounds, in comparison with $6.75 asked here, and they have stated that the Montreal rate is now $2.25 above the prices charged before the declaration of war. They claim also that the Montreal refiners buy in the same market and have as cheap and excellent methods of refining as his American competitor. There are other differences in the way of tariff and so on, but they claim that, all these things considered, the Canadian refiner makes $1.50 more profit than before the war. The latter claims that, on the contrary, his profits are much less."
