HAD LONG BEEN EXPECTED

BETHELEHEM BLAZE CAUSE OF ELATION IN ENEMY COUNTRIES.

BERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 15.—Seldom since the war began has any event caused greater rejoicing in Austria and Germany than the destruction of the Bethlehem works, where munitions are being made for the Allies. The Austro-German press has been forbidden to comment thereupon, but it is openly declared that the event had long been expected. An Austrian personage, interviewed on the subject, remarked that Americans had been warned repeatedly, just as they were warned before the sinking of the Lusitania.

NOW IN FIRING LINE.—The following are a few extracts taken from a recent letter written by Private Frank Loco to one of his friends on the Island: "We are still at Shorncliffe and they are working us pretty hard, but we don't mind it at all; I tell you a fellow has to go through some hardships in the army, but we are all doing it for a good cause. We will never let the Old Flag Fall. We are busy learning military. Every morning we get up at 5.30 get breakfast and walk down to the ranges in full marching order. It is about seven miles from here, so you see that by the time we get home we are pretty tired. When you get this letter I shall be in the trenches for we only have a few days more around here. I was to Mass last Sunday and who do you think gave us communion? Father Burke! I am sure you must remember him for he used to be editor of the "Catholic Register and Church Extension." He made a great sermon. He said, he was going all along the firing line to give the sacraments to the Catholic soldiers. (Private Loco formerly belonged to Rustico, P. E. I., but was in Saskatchewan when war broke out and enlisted at Saskatchewan.)—T.

HANDRAHAN-FISKE NUPTIALS.—St. Bonaventure's Church Tracadie, was the scene of a pretty and interesting event, Tuesday, Nov. 9, when Miss Annie Fiske, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fiske, Tracadie Cross, was united in the Holy bonds of Matrimony to Mr. Michael Handrahan of St. Patrick's Road. The nuptial knot was tied by the Pastor, Rev. J. B. McIntyre, who also sang High Mass. Miss Millicent Ready presided at the organ. The bride who was becomingly attired in a suit of grey broadcloth with hat to match, was attended by her sister, Miss Minnie who wore blue. Immediately after mass the happy young couple drove to the home of the Bride's parents where dinner was served, a large number of relatives and friends being present. Excellent addresses were delivered by Rev. John Currie (of the bride) and Mr. J. J. MacDonald of Tracadie Cross. A pleasant feature of the afternoon's entertainment, was violin selections by Messrs John J. and A. McInnis of Tracadie. In the evening, amidst a shower of rice and good wishes, the bridal party left for the home of the groom, where upwards of a hundred guests had assembled to welcome their arrival. The remaining hours were spent in music both vocal and instrumental, dancing, being kept up, until the wee sma hours of the morning. The many and costly presents received by the young couple testify to their popularity, and the respect, and esteem, in which they were held by their many friends and acquaintances. THE CAUSE OF ANAEMIA
It is universally known that iron is a very important element of the blood, and lack of it is the direct cause of run down conditions and anaemia. It may interest you to know that Druggists E. A. Foster, Charlottetown and H. J. Mabon, Souris, of his town, has in Vinol a reliable, constitutional remedy for such conditions. Vinol supplies iron to the blood in its most soluble state, then there's the nourishing properties of beef pepton, and the medicinal curative extractives of fresh cod livers, with oil, all dissolved in a pure native tonic wine. That's what makes Vinol so successful in overcoming run-down and anaemic conditions.

ISLAND SOLDIER IS OFFERED COMMISSION

The following interesting letter is from Peter A. Hughes in France to his mother.

10, 21, 1915.
My Dear Mother:—I received yours and Jim's letters of Sept. 28th before I left the trench. I cannot understand how you were so long without receiving letters from me, as I always send a letter at least once in ten days, sometimes twice, and nearly always a card from the trenches, some of my mail must have gone astray. It is the same with Miss O'Heare, in B. C. She cannot get letters from me, no matter how often I write. I am well now, had a bad cold, but O. K. at present. Lots of exciting times. Those strenuous moments have an awful bad effect on a fellow when he is unwell but he soon gets over it. If his health is good. We had it pretty exciting last time, but good luck seems to be with us. Our artillery is doing fine work. We are away ahead doing fine work. In that line, I think of the Germans in Serbia, that the end of the war is in sight, because I believe the Germans will put up a great bluff to the last gasp, and when the end comes, it will be an utter collapse.

I am glad that Gattie McAnlay is happily married, give them my sincerest hopes of happiness when you see them. Jim gave me some news of the election, but I expect to see a paper some day. . . . We had a new bunch of reinforcements the other day, we had great fun with them as they seemed to have no conception of trench warfare. They were open mouthed with amazement at some of our doings. For instance making parties go out at night between the trenches for writing or digging, and what with the bullets flying thick it sometimes gets quite interesting. They thought "no one could go out there and live. Of course an odd time a man is killed or wounded, but it is wonderful how few casualties we have that way. The Germans are trying a new plan of throwing fire-balls of phosphorus against our trenches. This will have the effect after a while of lighting up our parapets at night and thus we will not need so many fire-lights. Just this moment received your letter of Oct. 5th so glad you are well. Yes I heard that Will was on his way to England. If I have luck I shall see him, as he will reinforce us. I shall certainly have quite a number of nephews and nieces when I go back. I shall dearly love to see the kiddies at home, you all speak so well of it. I shall shortly if everything goes well go to England for a few days, and shall try to send some souvenirs if I can. I think I shall spend vacation in London or Leeds, as I shall want to make it as complete a rest as possible. I am reading a book today sent by one of the nurses in Boulogne. It is the Harvester. It is fine, you should read it, if you can get it. I see Canadian papers pretty regularly also an odd Guardian. Yes, the Second Continent is here not a great distance from us, they are a fine looking body of men, to fine to be offered as a sacrifice to the insanity of the Kaiser. When I go out on pass, I intend to write a series of letters, that you may have published, but it is different to write a letter here in the way it should be written, as we are generally crowded and very often living in holes in the ground. There have been heavy artillery bombardments to lately and we suffer severely, but although a person will never become thoroughly accustomed to the shells, still he will get hardened to a certain degree. I have been offered a commission in the 16th Irish Division, but I would hate to leave the Canadians. Well they are all calling for the letters. I shall write to you from the trenches if I can. Good Bye. Love to all. Your loving son, PETER.
