New Ayrshire Breeding Stock

There recently arrived in this province two young Ayrshire bulls from the herd of Cumming Bros., Lancaster, Ontario. One of these animals will head the herds of J. A. McLeod & Sons, Primrose, and N. W. McLeod & Son, Bridgetown. The other will be used in the herd of H. W. Clay, East Royalty, who personally selected them while in Ontario during the past summer.

Both bulls are sired by Glengarry Sir Burton that well-known show bull now used to head the Cumming's herd. Sir Burton was imported from Scotland in dam. He was Junior Champion at Ottawa in 1937. First as a Senior Yearling and Grand Champion at Ottawa in 1938 and first Senior Yearling at the 1938 Royal Show. His get shows high class type and dairy quality and color.

The dam of the bull going to the McLeod herds is out of Glengarry Queen Bess, a daughter of the Edgerstoune's Sir Oliver and Morningside Queen Bess, both Grand Champions at the Toronto Royal Show. Incidentally this young bull named "Glengarry Burton Prince" was first and reserve junior champion at the Williamstown Show reported in the October Review.

The bull "Glengarry Bit of Fashion" in the Clay herd is line bred on Edgerstoune's Sir Oliver on the dam's side In addition he carries the blood of Pansy's Supreme, a sire used successfully at Truro Agricultural College some years ago. These two bulls should do much to improve the type and quality of Island Ayrshires.

The death occurred on Saturday morning at her home in Freetown of Mrs. Frederick W. Taylor after a long illness. Mrs. Taylor had been in failing health for the past ten years, but was always cheerful, and her many friends will miss her companionship. Besides her husband, she leaves to mourn two sons Basil, in Freetown, and John on the homestead; also a daughter, Mrs. Albert Stetson, of South Freetown. One son, Horace, was killed in the last war. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved. The funeral will take place this afternoon from her late residence, with a short service at the house at two o'clock, followed by a service in the United Church at 2.30 p.m. S

Kensington And Vicinity

Senator John Sinclair, of Springfield, was a recent visitor to Kensington.

His many friends will be pleased to hear that Mr. Patterson Walker, who is a patient in the Prince County Hospital, Summerside, suffering with a broken leg, is resting quite comfortably and coming along so well that he hopes to return home at an early date.

Mr. Oliver Profitt was a business visitor to Summerside on Friday.

Mr. Leo McKenna, another of our popular young men, was called to Charlottetown on Friday to undergo examinations for entry into the R.C.A. Force.

Miss Myrtle Brooks, Marina Beauty Shop proprietress, was a visitor to Summerside on Friday.

Mr. Daniel MacKenzie and son, Gerald, were business visitors to Charlottetown on Friday afternoon.

His many friends will be pleased to hear that Mr. Justin Kilbride, who has been a patient in the Prince County Hospital, Summerside, suffering with a severe case of blood poisoning in his right foot, during the past week, has recovered sufficiently to enable him to return to his home here on Friday afternoon.

Hon. W. H. Dennis, Minister of Agriculture, Charlottetown, was a visitor to Kensington on Friday.

Mr. Evans Inglis, local painter, is now busily engaged in painting the interior of MacKenzie & Co.'s office in their new store.

Mr. William Delaney, Mr. Kenneth McLean and Mr. Lloyd Howard are busily engaged in preparing the space between the post office and sidewalk for cement. When finished the platform will be on a level with the door. This work will be something that has been badly needed since the erection of our post office, as the former entrance of plant was, especially in winter, a precarious walk, as several at different times had received nasty falls.

Thieves once again made their appearance in our fair town when on Thursday evening they broke into the Granite Bakery, gaining entrance by breaking in the door with an axe. Their labours were, however, hardly worth their time and trouble, as only a few cents was secured by them. The R.C.M.P. are now working on the case, and no doubt the guilty ones will be soon rounded up.

SUBMARINE IN 1620

The submarine is regarded as a modern invention, but the first one really was built in England in 1620. It was a wooden shell covered with leather, and navigated by 12 rowers.

No man ever planted roses with a hammer.

PETAIN-LAVAL

They warned the French to beware of "insidious rumors" from Britain which, they claimed, would try to place obstacles before the new Vichy policy.

Petain, they said, gave his free consent to the policy of collaboration in continental Europe.

Censorship limited French newspapers to bare announcements and officials made no secret that strict press control will remain in force until further negotiations have been held.

The government secrecy bred many rumors of what is going on.

(In Berne, Switzerland, where the rumor factory's output often is used by both sides to cloak their real intensions, two reports touched on the Vichy government's new role.

"(According to one, Axis warplanes already are flying southward todward bases near Gibraltar. France's collapse has given the Germans direct connection for transit of men and material to the border of friendly Spain.

(The other pictured French African and near eastern territories as involved in the discussions with Germany. In Tunisia, there are military airfields and the naval base of Bizerte which the Italians might use in an attempt to slice Britain's "life-line" through the Mediterranean. The Axis also could use Syria's airfields and oil pipeline outlet to Tripoli).

Commenting on reports that Laval had taken over the portfolio of foreign minister Paul Baudouin, Vichy circles said "there is no question of Baudouin resigning."

Sensible heads don't swell when exposed to success.

OCCURRED IN

men lost with the Margaree live in Canada's easternmost and westernmost provinces. Nearest relatives of 46 live in British Columbia, and of 36 in Nova Scotia. Next-of-kin of 13 live in Quebec, or 13 in Saskatoon, of 10 in Ontario, of eight in Alberta, of four in New Brunswick and of another four in Manitoba.

Nearest relatives of three others live in England, of one in Newfoundland and of another in the United States.

Halifax residents suffered the greatest loss, since next-of-kin of 25 of the officers and men live there. Families of 14 are at Vancouver, of 12 at Victoria and of nine at Esquimalt, B. C., just outside Victoria. Survivors of eight men live in greater Montreal.

Nearest relatives of eight of the survivors live in Nova Scotia. Relatives of eight live in British Columbia, of six in Ontario, of five in Saskatchewan, of two in Alberta and of one in Quebec. No next-of-kin was listed for one survivor.

Next-of-kin of seven survivors are at Halifax, and five at Victoria.

The Margaree was acquired to replace the Fraser and was manned by survivors of the Fraser's crew along with other Canadian officers and men

In announcing loss of the Margaree the navy did not name the large merchant vessel with which she was in collision. Neither was the second vessel involved when the Fraser went down named at that time.

The merchant vessel involved in the sinking of the Margaree was not believed to have suffered much if any damag because it was noted that survivors of the Canadian warship were heading for Canada aboard her.

While the officer commanding the Margaree was lost on his first destroyer command, Sub. Lt. Robert Timbrell of Hollyburn, B.C., who survived the Fraser disaster and gained the Distinguished Service Cross for valor during the evacuation of Dunkerque, again escaped death.

Only last Oct. 13 the Margaree was reported as having sailed for the United Kingdom. A story reporting her sailing said she left "for duties overseas."

She was a veteran of patrols around Narvik where she operated after seven years' service in the China Seas and with the Mediterranean and Home Fleets.

The Margaree, named after a Canadian River like all destroyers of the Royal Canadian Navy, was of the Defender class, a similar ship but later built than the sunken Fraser, the St. Laurent, the Ottawa and the Restigouche of the Canadian Navy.

Formerly the Diana of the Royal Navy she was launched in 1932 and completed in 1933.

She was commissioned in the Royal Canadian Navy last Sept. 6, had a displacement of 1,375 tons, a normal complement of 145 and a maximum speed of 36 knots.

The Margaree carried four 4.7 inch guns, six smaller guns and eight torpedo tubes.

At the start of the war Canada's destroyer strength stood at seven, including the flotilla leader Assiniboine. The loss of the Fraser brought it down to six but with the acquisition of the Margaree and the six United States destroyers it was raised to 13.

The statement, issued by naval headquarters on the disaster, drew attention to the fact that errors were possible in the list of survivors and the missing owing to difficulties of wireless communications at sea in wartime.

which makes wireless sets and other electrical equipment has been completely destroyed and at another factory, where chemical machinery is made, fires broke out after a prolonged raid, and destroyed half of the factory buildings.

Damage in Berlin is much greater than the Nazis admit, the Ministry said. It pointed to reports of efforts of Berlin police to keep curious persons from viewnig the damage.

In the words of one informant," the report said, "gangs are put to work almost as soon as the bombs have been dropped and they do their utmost to effect repairs before daylight.

In many instances the few hours of darkness left do not give workmen enough time to do the job thoroughly and consequently streets and sometimes whole areas are roped off so as to prevent the truth from leaking out."

During Saturday air force bombers attacked in the Channel area once again, making it resound with explosions. Great columns of smoke were seen rising from the Nazi-held French coast from areas set aflame by British bombs.
