Sketch of Schmeling

(By The Canadian Press)

Max Schmeling, born at Luckow, Germany, Sept. 28, 1905, won the world heavyweight boxing championship sitting down in mid-ring at Yankee Stadium, New York, 11 years ago while his Jewish manager, the late Joe Jacobs, screamed "foul."

The beetle-browed, six foot German, nicknamed "Der Schlager", also held the distinction of being the only man ever to knock out Joe Louis in the professional prize ring.

Those two incidents encompass the fistic career of the 195-pound Schmeling, who went in for the dangers of parachuting with the Nazi armed forces in September, 1940, despite the fact he was over-age and overweight. His training was photographed for newsreels and propaganda.

Schmeling's unprecedented "foul" victory over Boston Jack Sharkey brought a change in New York's boxing rules forbidding the winning of a bout on a foul.

Schmeling lost the title to Sharkey in a return bout in 1932 at Madison Square Garden's Long Island Bowl. In 1936 he returned from Germany to the United States and startled the sports world by knocking out Joe Louis, then considered the champion-to-be in the 12th round of a bout at Yankee Stadium.

Before the bout, Schmeling was considered generally to be cool to the Nazi regime and little notice was taken in Germany of the fight with Louis. On his arrival from Germany Schmeling was asked his opinion of Hitler he shrugged his shoulders and said:—

"He is a politician, I am a fighter."

Schmeling's amazing victory over Louis, who had been selected unanimously by boxing experts as the logical winner, seemingly entitled the German to a chance at the heavyweight crown then worn by James J. Braddock. But by jockeying familiar to fistiana, Louis got first crack at Braddock and was champion when he next met Schmeling.

They rematched in 1938, but this time Louis took no chances with Schmeling's right and knocked out the German in the first round. So crushing was the blow that Schmeling dropped to the canvas in a heap with a severe back injury.

Schmeling's actress-wife, the former Anny Ondra whom he married in 1933, did not accompany him to the United States for the Louis fights. She was reported to have listened to a radio broadcast of the first fight in company with Nazi officials. The couple were married July 6, 1933, at Charlottenburg city hall.

Conant becomes I.C.R.A. director

TORONTO, May 29—(CP)—Attorney-General Gordon Conant tonight released a copy of a letter to the Incorporated Canadian Racing Associations in which he announced his decision to act as an I.C.R.A. director temporarily. He said it is based "on the assumption that your association will co-operate with the Thoroughbred Breeders' Association so that racing may be resumed at once or at the meeting next scheduled."

The release of the letter followed announcement that the dispute between the T.B.A. and the I.C.R.A., which caused cancellation of one spring race meeting and two days of reduced fields in another, had been settled.

RED CROSS MARKS SCENE OF CRIME

MONTREAL, Que. May 26—Visitors in western uptown Montreal often ask questions regarding a big wood cross painted red, visible over the fence of the Mother House of the Order of the Grey Nuns. Traffic officials of the Canadian National Railways carried a query to Dr. W.H. Atherton, authority on historic Montreal, and he told the following story. During the French regime when Montreal was beginning to extend beyond the fortified walls, "le Chemin du Roi" (The King's Road) straggled along the edge of the midtown terrace about the present line of Dorchester Street. At the point where Guy Street now intersects, stood a farm house. The farmer was credited with possessing a store of gold. A bandit attempted to rob the farmer and when the latter resisted, killed the farmer, his wife and daughter. Captured, French justice decreed that the bandit should be hanged and quartered the body to swing on the gibbet erected at the scene of the crime. Afterwards a cross was placed at the spot. Years later when the first roads were straightened, the cross was in the centre of the thoroughfare, and on request of the municipal authorities the Grey Nuns agreed to maintain in perpetuity a cross to mark this page in the record of the former French colony.

Paratrooper Schmeling Killed In Crete Battle?

CAIRO, May 29—(AP)—Max Schmeling, one-time world heavyweight boxing champion turned paratrooper, was killed in Crete fighting "like a wild bull" after his capture by British forces, a New Zealand ambulance driver said today.

"Schmeling grabbed a rifle from one of our soldiers who had been wounded and went into action," said the New Zealander, who declared he was a witness to the capture of Schmeling.

"Before he did any damage, however, someone let him have it, and that was the end of Max."

(A German military spokesman in Berlin said he doubted that Schmeling had been killed.)

Nazis claim Schmeling, alive

BERLIN, May 30—(Friday)—(AP)—Nazi sources said today that Max Schmeling, former world heavyweight boxing champion, is alive, and claimed that he is suffering from a tropical disease picked up while fighting as a Nazi parachute trroper in Crete.

His illness was not regarded as dangerous, it was stated

Taken from the thick of the fighting in which he participated actively, Schmeling was placed in an air force hospital—presumably some where off the besieged Greek Island.

Mistaken Identity?

LONDON, May 30—(Friday) — (AP) — Authorized British sources said today there was no reason to doubt the announcement from Berlin that Max Schmeling is alive in a Nazi air force hospital.

These sources said the New Zealand ambulance driver's report in Egypt that Schmeling had been killed in Crete, might have resulted from mistaken identity.

"New Zealanders had identified the man killed as Schmeling," they said, "but it certainly is possible that they were mistaken or misled by incorrect identification.

"There appears to be no reason why the German sources should say Schmeling is alive if he is not."

Rapid Robert Scores Third Straight Shutout

NEW YORK, May 29—(AP)—Rapid Robert Feller improved his reputation at Detroit today as Cleveland's slump breaker by blanking Detroit Tigers 9-0 for his 10th victory of the season and extending to 29 his string of scoreless innings.

In recording his fifth straight victory and third straight shutout, Feller permitted only two Tigers to advance beyond first base while scattering seven singles. He was invincible where in three straight defeats Tribe hurlers had been belted by Detroit for 34 hits totalling 61 bases.

The Indians blasted Tommy Bridges and Floyd Giebell, their 1940 nemesis, for 13 hits, including Ken Keltner's fourth-inning homer, his sixth of the year. Roy Weatherly got four hits, two of them doubles.

At Washington, rain washed out a five-run rally by New York Yankees in the sixth inning and ended their league game with Senators in a 2-2 tie when the score reverted to the fifth inning.

At Boston, operating without Jimmy Foxx, their slumping slugger who was benched at his own request, the Red Sox squared a four-game series with Philadelphia Athletics by pounding Jack Knott for a 6-4 victory.

When Foxx was removed from the lineup, Lou Finney took over first base and Pete Fox moved to right field.

At Chicago, a fourth-inning single by Chet Laabs spoiled a no-hit game for Bill Dietrich as White Sox shut out St. Louis Browns 4-0.

Only two other Brownie batsmen got on base, George McQuinn, who walked in the first inning, and Johnny Lucadello, who drew a pass in the fourth.

Cardinals Continue On Merry Way Beating Reds

NEW YORK, May 29—(AP)—Equalling a previous winning streak, the National League-leading Cardinals captured their 10th straight game at St. Louis today, and their fifth in a row by one run, staving off Cincinnati Reds 10-9.

The desperate Reds, last year's world champions and this year's big disappointment, threw practically everything they had into the game. Manager Bill McKechnie shook up his batting order and used five pitchers.

It took the Cards' fourth double play of the game to snuff a ninth-inning rally after the Reds had scored three runs. With runners on first and second, big Ernie Lombardi lined into the twin killing.

At New York, the combination of youth and age in the Giants battery—23-year-old Bob Carpenter pitching and 40-year-old Gabby Hartnett catching—brought New York a 9-2 triumph over Boston Braves.

Carpenter gave four hits and both Boston runs in the first innings and then allowed only one single during the next eight innings.

Hartnett hit a home run and three singles in five times at bat and drove in four Giants' runs.

His average speed of 117 miles an hour was a new record. It eclipsed the previous record of 113 established by Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis in 1937.
