Mrs. M. MacLean, librarian at Montague, left on Friday for Summerside where she will be staying at the home of her son Allison, who, with his wife, are leaving on a three weeks tour of the United States. During Mrs. MacLean's absence, Mrs. Malcolm Patterson will be acting librarian.

The motor vessel "Balfrey" arrived at Montague on Monday under the command of Captain Charles Thornhill. The vessel will take on a load of produce from Poole & Thmopson, Ltd., for Fortune Bay and other Newfoundland ports. Also arriving on Monday was the "Alice and Adelaide" commanded by Captain Howard Lake. This vessel is also loading produce for the same destination.

During the past week the work of painting the Irving Oil gas tanks has been completed so that with a coating of aluminum paint they present a far more pleasing sight than heretofore. The work was completed by Mr. A. Larkins, and Mr. R. Semple; another excellent move was the demolishing of the building at the south end of the bridge, so that now the approach to the bridge from either side is much improved to what it has been in the past, and no longer presents such an unsightly appearance. At present, however, there still exists a considerable depression at the south end which might be greatly improved by several loads of clay being dumped at this point. Tourists in the past have remarked on the fine appearance of the town in general, but were astounded that such an unfortunate appearance should be present near the bridge, where it was particularly noticeable. A minimum of work would do much to remove this fault, and thereby help to make our town even more presentable. Perhaps, also, at the same time something might be done to make an improvement on each bank below the bridge, which at present could stand some improvement. However, since each thing must be done in turn, this need might be taken under consideration following the completion of the other which is, perhaps, of more instant need.

"GALLANT BLADE" SWASHBUCKLING NEW ROMANCE

"The Gallant Blade," co-starring Larry Parks and Marguerite Chapman, is due to open at the Prince Edward Theatre today. The Columbia film, a romantic adventure drama in Cinecolor, features Victor Jory and George Macready in supporting roles.

The swashbuckling story, from a screenplay by Walter Ferris and Morton Grant, is said to tell of the exciting adventures of Frances greatest swordsman and boldest lover. Set in the colorful period of 17th Century France when disputes were settled at the point of a sword, such production and story elements as stirring action, sly intrigue, the pomp and circumstance of court-life and romantic love are said to be plentiful.
