The Guardian regrets that a paragraph going the rounds of the press to the effect that T. E. Girvan has gone into business in Gouva, Sask, found a place in its columns a few days ago. The Caltonia Club intend to celebrate the opening of their new hall this year on Thursday, the 28th inst., St. Andrew's night, when a most enjoyable soiree is expected to take place. Scotch enthusiasm is already aroused and this will likely surpass all previous occasions of this kind. This Club was always noted for its splendid entertainments but as this is for a double purpose, both to celebrate the night and the opening of their Hall, it ought to be remembered for auld lang syne.

Yesterday afternoon Principal Seaman of Prince Street School very happily presented to the successful competitors the prizes for the best Botanical selections made by them during the summer holidays, which were donated by the late Doctor Taylor.
