TITO OPPOSITION

When the Tito-Moscow row broke into the open in the summer of 1948 there already were signs that the once-ignored "ersatz Communists" of China probably would get control of the largest single segment of humanity on earth. If they should go the way of Tito, Moscow would have two gaping holes in her supreme authority instead of one.

Chinese Communist leader Mao Tzre-Tung, therefore, saved the Russians profound embarrassment by denouncing Tito and upholding Moscow.

This gave the Russians a breathing space but did not solve their basic problem — how to make orthodox Communism, which is an instrument of Russian nationalism, work in a fraternity of non-Russian Communist states.

It is too early, however, to assume that the Russians can not find some kind of a new answer short of war — perhaps some modification of their insistence that Moscow is always right.

If they manage such a change they may be aided considerably by their new Chinese allies, who still are working out new answers to new problems. Their answers, as are the problems, are Chinese as well as Communist and often differ from Russian answers.

Their job in China is still largely one of gaining power, rather than holding on to power gained some time ago.

They must digest what they are swallowing — 450,000,000 Chinese.

To think that this can be done entirely on the basis of orders from Moscow is an assumption that staggers the imagination of anyone who knows either the enormous problems in China or the narrow approach to such problems permitted by orthodox Communism as Moscow has tried to apply it.

Mao Tze-Tung, nevertheless, has allied himself firmly and openly with Moscow. His allegiance helps Moscow in a period of externally-supported heresy — Titoism. In return, Moscow confirms him as ruler of China.

Maritime Airport Managers Meet

A meeting of Maritime Airport managers held under the auspices of the Department of Transport, Moncton, for the purpose of systematizing airport regulations and acquainting the field managers with one another, concluded here Saturday evening. This was the first such meeting ever to be held in the Maritimes.

There were 16 men present including Mr. W.G. Gillespie, Manager of the local airport and Mr. Leonard MacDonald from Torre Bay airport, Newfoundland.

Attending from the Transport Department, Moncton were Messrs. S.S. Foley, District controller of Maritime Air Services; J.C. Folkins, district inspector; L.H. Filton, assistant district inspector; W.H. Irving, district inspector; Ray Goodwin, inspector of aircraft and Mr. Vaughan.

The group spent most of Saturday at the local airfield, viewing the set up, finding out the difficulties which each manager met and giving solutions for improvements to the various problems.

Considerable time was spent in the systematizing of the regulations so that each airport would have the same interpretation of ambiguous rules. Another point which the managers ironed out was that of finding where their responsibilities began and ended.

Maintenance was another problem about which much discussion took place. Points touched upon under this heading included the field, heavy equipment, buildings, lights and aircraft.

Mr. W.G. Gillespie stated last night that the meeting was a decided success and that it is planned to hold one every year, rotating from centre to centre.

The group from the Transport Department left for Moncton by plane Saturday evening while the others left by plane for Sydney yesterday morning.

Boy Scout Troops and Cub Packs, at their regular weekly meetings this week, will receive instructions concerning the holding of their annual Apple Day next Saturday.

• • •

Indications are that Saturday will see a record turn-out of uniformed Scouts and Cubs and that the event will be one of the most successful held in recent years. This year it is hoped to make the Apple Day provincial-wide and towards this end Gordon Kerr, the new Field Commissioner for the Province, is bending every effort.

• • •

That the Scout movement has the goodwill of the general public is evident from the ready response it has received on all occasions and the manner in which several firms and organizations have volunteered to aid in the coming Apple Day.

• • •

Windsor, Ont., recently held an Apple Day in which $7,000 was raised to help improve a camp site and further the cause of Scouting.

• • •

Mr. R.C. Parent, Provincial Commissioner, recently returned from Calgary where he attended a meeting of the Dominion Council. It was the first time in four years that all the Provinces across Canada were represented. Reports on the first Canadian Jamboree held, in July, near Ottawa were received. The gathering, some 2,800 Scouts was a success from every standpoint. Financially the Jamboree had a profit of about $120.00. It was expected that there would be a deficit.

• • •

Commissioner Parent said it was Headquarters plan to hold a Candian Jamboree every four years. Next year Canada hoped to be represented at a Jamboree to be held in the United States and also send a small contingent to the Jamboree to be held in Austria in 1951.

• • •

Welcoming the new Provincial Field Commissioner, Mr. Parent stated that the Council looked forward to a year of progress in Scouting. He expressed the hope that all leaders, group committees and Council members would co-operate in the good of the movement.

• • •

Reference was made to the coming visit of Major-General Spry, Chief Scout, who will visit the Province early next month. Arriving on Sunday, Nov. 6th., he will be here until Wednesday morning. He hopes to see as many leaders and citizens interested in Scouting as possible. His tour includes a visit to Summerside and Borden.

9TH. CHARLOTTETOWN

Trinity Scouts hold their pre-Apple Day rally tonight when they meet at 6.15 and 7.30. It is expected that a full turn-out will be on hand.

Radioactive Atoms Reveal Secrets Of Blood Diseases

By Alton L. Blakeslee

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 — (AP) — Radioactive atoms are turning up new findings about anaemia and other blood diseases, and even make it possible to predict whether some people are going to become anaemic.

The findings are part of the growing harvest of medical knowledge coming from studies with radio-atoms made in atomic ovens. They were described by Dr. John H. Lawrence, director of the Donner Laboratories, University of California, Berkeley, in an address at the New York Academy of Medicine.

Human blood is made radioactive by injections of radio-iron. The iron atoms can be traced as they circulate, or as they are used in making new blood cells in the bone marrow.

People with pernicious anaemia lack sufficient red blood cells. It has been thought that the iron wasn't being used in making new red cells, Dr. Lawrence said. But these studies show that iron is going into the new red cells, and "there must be something wrong with the length of life of the red cells which are made."

Development of anaemia can be predicted a month or two in advance in people who aren't making red cells normally. The radio-iron tests can show whether the bone-marrow factories are working properly and how their bodies are handling iron.

In leukemia the body produces far too many white blood cells. Usually there is anaemia, too. Many experts thought the abundance of white cells interfered with the making of red cells, Dr. Lawrence said. But the radio-iron studies so far show that red cells are made at the normal rate, or even faster. There has to be some other explanation for the anaemia.

Health Dept. Moves To Prince St. Offices

To-day the health section of the Provincial Department of Health and Welfare opens its new quarters at 188 Prince St. (formerly occupied by the Polyclinic) for the offices of the Divisions of Administration, Public Health Nursing and Sanitary Engineering, and later on for other divisions. The present ones include Dr. B.C. Keeping, Chief Health Officer, Miss Mona Wilson, Director of Public Health Nursing, Mrs. Ina Beer and Miss Bessie Beer, public health nurses for Queens County, Miss Mary McNutt and Miss Margaret Darling, public health nurses for Charlottetown and Miss Dorothy Cox, health instructor for Prince of Wales College. The Sanitary Engineering Division is under the directorship of Mr. W. K. Sharpe, with two sanitary inspectors, Mr. Giles Cantwell and Mr. Arnold Godfrey.

For the past eighteen years, the Department of Health has occupied offices in the Provincial Sanitorium building, ever since the Department was organized and the Sanitorium built. When the new wing of the Sanitorium was added in 1946 additional space was provided for the Health Department and for the enlarged provincial laboratories, venereal disease control and vital statistics. However, the Department has long since outgrown these quarters and the offices on Prince St. will provide more space for the expanding health program and will be more convenient for the mothers and children attending clinics. The Divisions of Laboratories and Vital Statistics will remain at the Sanatorium until the new building to be erected behind the offices on Prince St. is completed.

In future, Dr. Keeping's Saturday morning immunizing clinic previously held at the Sanatorium and the Friday afternoon Well Baby Conference conducted by Miss Beer and Miss McNutt at the Red Cross will be held at the Prince St. office.
