How it Affects Them.
An Alpine guide thus describes the behavior of different nationalities when they get to the top of a peak.
A German, he says, as soon as he arrives at the top wants to know the exact height of the mountain he is on and of every peak around him.
A Frenchman goes into raptures over the wildness of the scenery and the beauties of nature and sometimes accompanies his remarks by an attempt to embrace his guide.
The Englishman when he has "done" his peak plunges his ice axe into the snow, looks around him and then says, "I say, open the baskets and let's have something to eat."

Cook Island Laws.
There are some strange laws in the Cook Islands, in the eastern Pacific. The population is Maori, and each island legislates for itself. The island council of Manihiki, one of the group, has in force an ordinance to regulate village life within the island. It begins by re-enacting "the ancient law of Manihiki as to dogs" and sentencing to death any dogs on the island. Pigs are not to wander at large, and any person going about after 9 p.m. may be arrested and taken to the courthouse to explain his reason for being abroad. No debt incurred by a native inhabitant is to be recoverable in any court. Selling or giving intoxicating liquor to any native is punishable with a $50 fine.

An Ibsen Theory.
In one of the published letters of Ibsen he says that while he was writing one of his plays he had on his desk an empty ale glass with a scorpion in it. Now and then the animal would grow sick and the author would throw a piece of soft fruit to it, whereupon the scorpion would fall upon the food furiously empty its poison into it and then get well again. "Is it not a good deal like this with us poets?" Ibsen continues. "Nature's laws apply in the domain of the spirit also."

B-H ENGLISH PAINT

Said the Architect—"I have specified B-H ENGLISH PAINT because I have found it the best, and the cheapest in the end. It costs less to apply—covers more surface—protects better—and holds the color longer."
It is the 70% Pure White Lead and 30% Pure White Zinc Paint—an ideal formula.

SPRAY SPRAY SPRAY

If you have neglected the early spray, you can still do great good to your trees by spraying just as the buds open to kill the BUD MOTH which is perhaps one of the most troublesome pests we have. These eat the heart out of the bud and stick the ends of the leaves together and retard growth.

NIAGARA LIME
SULPHUR and SWIFT'S ARSENATE of LEAD will kill these pests, tone up your trees and do much toward giving a good crop of fruit.
FORMULA. 1 gal Lime Sulphur and 2 lbs Arsenate of Lead to 40 gals of water, Arsenate of Lead will not burn the foliage, and can be applied stronger safely.
Of course you need a good spray pump. We carry a full supply of THE PERFECT SPRAY PUMPS and will be pleased to send Catalog on quote prices.
