CARD PARTY tonight at 8 o'clock. Holy Redeemer Hall. 4256-4-28

ATTENDED DINNER—Major D. A. MacDonald and Mrs. MacDonald returned home on Saturday night from Saint John where they attended the annual dinner given in that city of the "Red Chevron" Club, on the anniversary of the second battle of Ypres.

FIRST CAR FROM MONTAGUE—The first car to travel the road between Montague and Charlottetown this Spring was one driven by Mr. Milton Mellish who had occasion to visit the C.V. on business yesterday. Mr. Mellish reports the roads to be in fair condition except in a few places. A car from Murray Harbor reached the City Saturday

AT ROTARY—At the Rotary luncheon yesterday His Honour Judge Duffy was the speaker. He gave a very humorous and informal talk on a number of points of law. He stated that rarely does a client admit guilt to his lawyer, and that thus the latter does no violence to his conscience by defending a guilty man, as the defendant is presumed to be innocent until he is proved guilty after trial by the court. The committing of a trespass may be wrong but in certain cases if the act is repeated for twenty years, it ceases to be wrong and becomes right. Rotarian P. W. Clarkin was in the chair, and there was one guest, Dr. McPhee of Summerside. A vocal solo was rendered by Mr. C. J. Gallagher, who announced that the theatre would be available for the morning meeting of the Rotary district conference next month. President H. L. Palmer announced that a large number of ladies will be present at the conference.

PERSONALS

Mrs. George Perry, Souris, has entered the City Hospital for treatment.

Mr. Louis Roper, livestock promoter left yesterday morning for sections in the Western part of the Island on official business.

Hon. David MacDonald, who has been a patient in the Charlottetown Hospital for the past week, is steadily improving.

Mr. Leigh McEachern, of Somerville, Mass., and a nephew of the late Miss Jessie MacEachern, of Hazelbrook, is at present on the Island, on business in connection with his aunt's estate. He is the guest of Mr. J. A. Moore, Mt. Edward Road.

Messrs. Charles Batt, William Batt and John Franschaw left for Fort Churchill yesterday, where they will be employed on the terminals now building there.

Pimples Burned Terribly. Face Disfigured. Healed by Cuticura.

"For three years I was troubled with pimples. When they started they were quite hard and tiny but grew larger and were red. Later they festered and were very sore. The pimples burned terribly when I washed them, and my face was badly disfigured. I was at a loss to know the cause of them.

"I tried one remedy after another but none of them had any effect. A friend advised Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I sent for a free sample of each. I purchased more and in two months I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Agatha Westall, 129 Maynard St., Halifax, N. S., Sept. 4, 1930.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address Canadian Depot: J. T. Walk Company Limited, Montreal.

during the week of May 4 as guest at the Civic Repertory theatre directed by Eva Le Gallienne. She will appear in Chekov's "Cherry Orchard" as Madame Ranevsky, a role in which she was excellent seasons ago when she was a member of the repertory company.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. ROBERT HOOPER

The death of Mrs. Robert Hooper occurred in Vancouver on April 16th in her 85th year. Her only son Frank was killed in the Great War and his father died soon after, as a result of the shock. Their daughter Ina died nearly three years ago. As neither son nor daughter were married, Mrs. Hooper's death leaves this branch of the Hooper family extinct. She was born on P. E. I. and always lived there until 33 years ago, when after a few months in Boston, the family came to Vancouver. She had many friends here as well as on P. E. I.

In religious belief, she was a Baptist and loyally and systematically contributed a generous percentage of her comfortable living to the various objects supported by that body. A nephew, Mr. Lloyd Hooper, formerly of Bedouque, is now living in Vancouver and no son could have been more solicitous of Mrs. Hooper's welfare through all her weary months of suffering.

MR. PETER MCNAIR ROBERTSON

The death of Mr. Peter McNair Robertson, which occurred at East Royalty on the 26th in the 80th year of his age, removes a familiar figure from our streets and a man of outstanding character.

Mr. Robertson had not enjoyed good health for some time, but his friends and loved ones had hoped that when spring opened with its warm weather that he might rally; but contrary to their judgment and all that loving hands and medical aid could do, he peacefully passed to his reward, being a staunch believer.

Mr. Robertson was an extensive and successful farmer and having purchased "The Marshfield Farm" from the late Senator Haythorne he also carried on a large milk business in connection with the late Mr. William Miller and converted the farm into a model one which thus gave ample scope for his great energy until disposing of this property to Mr. Frank Mill.

He is survived by his widow, nee Sarah Munn, and family of five sons and two daughters, viz. three sons and two daughters, abroad, two sons residing at East Royalty, Fergus McNair and Arthur Wolsley.

He also leaves one brother Mr. Walter B. Robertson of Charlottetown.

His first wife, nee Hannah McLeod, predeceased him some fourteen years ago, and a son, Norman McLeod, a few years previous, while sons, Walter Bannerman and Henry Morpeth made the great sacrifice in the late war.

Mr. Robertson was a consistent Liberal and always had the courage of his convictions.

The funeral takes place today at 2 p. m. to Marshfield Cemetery. The Guardian joins with a host of friends in extending sympathy.

MARY JANE MACDONALD

It is but fitting that while we chronicle the death of the late Mary in fond remembrance of the beautiful life recently closed. The deceased was the eldest daughter of the late James Andrew MacDonald, born in Little Pond twenty-seven years ago. When but twelve years old, she was left as house-keeper for the family, a duty which she cheerfully and carefully performed until stricken from activity by an illness, which kept her confined to her room for more than two years. During this prolonged illness, she arose to heroic heights of patience and hopefulness, ever happy to welcome with outstretched hand, the numerous friends who visited her in her sick room for many, many months. To know her was to love her, and this was evidenced by the dainty and tempting delicacies sent and brought to her by friends from far and near.

The members of her family, her father, while he lived added all the comforts they could and endeavored to the best of their ability to restore the health, which was so long denied her. Her spiritual welfare too was constantly attended by her zealous and devoted pastor, Rev. Dr. Callaghan, but notwithstanding all these temporal and spiritual advantages, God called her to her true home on Sunday evening, December 28, 1930.

Her funeral, to St. Francis de Sales Church, was largely attended, fitting testimony of their admiration for their always cheerful friend. Before her death, she chose her pall bearers from among her young friends, namely, Alex. D. MacDonald, Alex. McFarlane, John Norton, John William MacDonald, Stillman MacDonald and John Joe MacDonald; hearsebearer, Allan McCormack.

She leaves to mourn, two brothers, Daniel J. and Frank, also one sister, Annie all at home.

Broadway And Side Streets

BY JACK GAVER
(United Press Drama Editor)

NEW YORK, April 27.—Broadway's appetite for mystery plays has been pretty jaded for the past two seasons and few of the offerings in this classification have been of any merit whatsoever. "The Silent Witness," an English drama just produced by the Shuberts, is the latest mystery and the best of this season.

Lionel Atwill is the star of the cast which includes Kay S trozzi, Anthony Kemble-Cooper, Fortunio Bonanova, Anne Shoemaker, Harold De Becker and Herbert Standing among others. This capable cast and the excellent direction furnished by Harry Wagstaff Gribble lift the play out of the rut into which it might have fallen if placed in less able hands.

The plot has its appropriate twist at the end which absolves the innocent parties and places the blame for the murder where it belongs. Sir Austin Howard has assumed the blame for the killing of a kept woman, who was supposedly killed by Sir Austin's young son. There is a good trial scene which is interrupted by the "silent witness" who has witnessed the murder. The story is carried out by the use of flashbacks to illustrate the action. A revolving stage is used and the changes of scene are made with great rapidity, permitting a smooth and fast moving story.

Jack DeLeon and Jack Colestin are the English authors of the play.

The irreparable loss of her sudden death is very keenly felt by all who knew her and had the pleasure of her acquaintance and her continual kindly and unselfish acts will live always in the memory of her relatives and wide circle of friends and all with whom she came in contact a kind and devoted mother and sister, but we believe that God, who doeth all things well, had in His infinite goodness some plan of which we bow our heads in our grief and she is simply called for higher service, a little closer to the Master's Side. "His ways are not our ways, nor His Thoughts our thoughts." So we bow our heads in our grief and

Madame Nazimova, absent from Broadway this season will appear

Luigi Pirandello's famous play, "Six Characters in Search of an Author" has been given an excellent revival by Tom Van Dyke. This talkative, satirical, mystifying play remains the best of the Italian playwright's work to date. Eugene Powers, Walter Connolly, Eleanor Phelps and Paul Guilfoyle are outstanding in the expert cast.
