Gyro members from Charlottetown who attended were: Dr. P. A. Creelman, Dr. B. C. Keeping, Stewart Jones, W. A. Gaudet, Ken McKenzie, Carl Tibert, Dave Bethune and W. J. Monaghan.

INCREASE IS SHOWN IN TUBER OUTPUT

Prince Edward Island Percentage 85 In Comparison With 72 Last Year.

OTTAWA, Nov. 18.—(CP)—Excellent yields of potatoes in the Maritime Provinces, combined with high tuber output in Quebec, northern districts of the Prairie Provinces and British Columbia more than offset low yields resulting from severe summer drought in Ontario and the southern Prairie districts, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today giving 1936 figures on field crops.

Hay crops in the four Eastern Provinces and in British Columbia, were practically offset by reductions elsewhere in Canada, the report said. Figures for potato, root and fodder crops represented the second estimate of the season.

Production of potatoes, turnips, margolds, etc., alfalfa and sugar beets in Canada this year was higher than in 1936 but production of hay and fodder corn was lower. Increased sowing of fall wheat but decreased seeding of fall rye were also reported.

Estimated yields or root and fodder crops with 1935 figures in brackets: Potatoes 39,063,000 cwt. (38,670,000 cwt); turnips, etc. 37,854,000 cwt (35,100,000 cwt); hay and clover 13,893,000 tons (14,060,000 tons); alfalfa 1,966,300 tons (1,958,700 tons); fodder corn 3,118,300 tons (4,078,000 tons).

Average yields per acre with last year's figures in brackets: Potatoes 79 cwt. (78 cwt.); turnips, etc. 208 cwt. (190 cwt.); hay and clover 1.58 tons (1.62 tons); alfalfa 2.30 tons (2.57 tons); fodder corn 7.63 tons (8.8 tons).

In all Canada 46 per cent. of the land intended for the 1937 crop had been ploughed at October 31, as compared with 40 per cent. at the same date in 1935.

By Provinces the Maritime percentages are as follows, with last year's figures within brackets: Prince Edward Island 72 (85); Nova Scotia 54 (57); New Brunswick 59 (70).

When a man finds not repose in himself, it is in vain for him to seek it elsewhere.

PLANE SPEEDS TO RESCUE

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) WINNIPEG, Nov. 18.—An airplane chartered by the Manitoba Government late today sped to the aid of an unknown number of fishermen reported stranded on a large block of ice that was being carried out into Lake Manitoba.

First, unverified reports said between 50 and 60 men were on the floe that broke off from the shore ice in Olanedoye Bay, at the south end of the lake and about 100 miles north-west of Winnipeg.

Pilot Cliff T. Kaake of the Winnipeg flying club was sent out by the Department of Mines and Natural Resources to determine the exact situation and give aid if possible. His plane, equipped with wheels, will be able to land on the ice if the block is sufficiently large.

It was not known how long the fishermen had been adrift. Should the block be carried out of the sheltered bay into the open lake, it was believed, it would quickly break up.

It was reported about eight men had got off the ice cake and reached shore just before it broke off from the main pack.

The Cape Traverse Young People's Union met last Tuesday evening at the home of Evelyn Bell with the President, Inez McWilliams in charge. The scripture from John 15, 1-17 was read by Marjorie McCallum. Following a very enjoyable period of contests and games the meeting closed with God Save the King.

The Cape Traverse W. M. S. met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James Bell with the president, Mrs. Joseph Cutcliffe in charge. Appropriate readings were given by Miss Mary Muttart and Mrs. Douglas Bell. A vote which was taken as to whether the Pres-

Keen Competition

C. C. Baker, M.L.A., who won the Yearling Male Light Medium Silver Class; H. G. Muttart of Summerside the Light Medium Silver Female Pup Class; Johnston Bros., New London, were at the head of the table when the last class—Pale Silver Adult Males—was judged.

Nova Scotian in Prize List

A notable feature of yesterday's competition was the figuring in the prize list of B. L. Meek, Canning, Nova Scotia, who won an 8th prize in the Medium Silver Pup Class and a 9th prize in the Yearling Light Medium Silver Female Class. Both classes had heavy entry lists of superior foxes.

An announcement was made during the afternoon that a pelling demonstration would be held at the conclusion of the judging by experts selected by the Department of Agriculture, but as no exhibitor showed any inclination to have his foxes pelted it had to be called off.

Sale Committee Makes Announcement

Secretary Shaw also announced that the sale committee had made an important change in the conditions governing the sale and would give the consignors the privilege of setting a reasonable reserve valuation on the fox offered for sale, but that a commission would be charged on that valuation the same as if the fox was actually sold. The change was made because of the many complaints that it was unfair to put up a valuable fox and possibly have him disposed of at a ridiculously low price.

There is a great deal of talk regarding the proposed sale and there is no doubt but that a large number of people are ready to buy. It now remains for the owners of prize winners to do their part and make entries in the sale if they wish to dispose of their foxes.

Today providing the weather is at all favorable, the expectation is a packed pavilion, with intense interest maintained until the last class is judged.

BATTLE LULL RAISES NEW ATTACK FEARS

MADRID, Nov. 18.—(CP HAVAS)—This fire-ridden, shell-torn capital waited anxiously tonight for strong reinforcements reported enroute here from Barcelona and Valencia while Government troops fought in the city's northern and western sections to fend off the Insurgent onslaught.

Insurgent planes circled overhead dropping rockets at strategic points, apparently to direct the fire of General Jose Varela's artillery.

The Insurgent air explosives, artillery shells and shrapnel terrified the population, but even greater damage was wrought by small harmless-looking incendiary bombs which fell with a soft thud and in many cases set fire to the surrounding area.

500 Killed

Fire hundred Madrilenos have been killed and 1,200 wounded since the beginning of the week by Insurgent air and land attacks on the city's residential and business sections, official sources said.

The Insurgent lines in the northwest were under the constant fire of reinforced Governmental artillery and machine gun nests. Scattered positions of the belligerents made it difficult to get exact information on the trend of operations.

Many of the streets looked like small rivers as water from mains shattered by Insurgent missiles flooded through.

No Change

General Jose Miaja's Defence Council said there had been no appreciable change in comparative positions. It claimed a Government force at Carabanchel scored slight gains.

Shells set fire to the American-owned International Telephone and Telegraph building, tearing into a room where phone operators were at switchboards. The flames were extinguished.

The printing plant of the newspaper Libertad and the ancient palace of the Duke of Alba, which had been converted into a museum were destroyed by fire. Art treasures had previously been removed, however.

Streets which have been particularly damaged were closed with barricades. Crews dug into ruined homes, searching for dead and wounded.

Christian Ozanne, Havas correspondent, escaped injury while walking from his hotel toward the telephone building when two shells dropped within 100 feet of him, tearing huge holes in the pavement.
