GLADIOLUS

The gladiolus comes into bloom in from fifty to ninety days, depending on variety. If the quick-flowering sorts are used, they may be grown almost anywhere in Canada, while a long-flowering season is possible by using early, medium and late varieties where the weather is more tem- perate. Plant the bulbs after danger of frost is over. The gladiolus will grow in almost any soil but is at its best in rich open loam, properly drained. Plenty of moisture and sun- shine is necessary, though it is best to plant in a position where the bed will be shaded a little by light tree growth during the middle of the day. The gladiolus bed should be changed from season to season to avoid in- jury from fungus diseases in the soil. In sandy loam, plant four to five inches deep, but only half this depth in heavy clay. A greater decorative effect can be obtained if planted in clumps of about a dozen, spaced about eight inches apart, but where cut flowers are wanted, one may plant about four inches apart in rows in the regular vegetable garden. The tiny bulbs found clinging to the main bulbs or corms when dug in the Fall, may be planted about an inch apart in rows like onions and if lifted up in the Fall and planted again each Spring, will attain flowering size in a year or two. Dig the soil to a good depth, plant the bulbs and cultivate frequently until the foliage makes this impossible. Special hand culti- vators shaped roughly like a couple of bent fingers will be found useful for cultivating round these and other flowers. In cool weather, water late in the day, and in very warm weather in the morning as well as the evening.

QUEEN'S ONLY SHADOW OF FORMER SELF

KINGSTON, Ont., May 17-(C.P.)-It's a long way from the intercol- legiate rugby season yet, but it ap- pears as though Queen's University senior team this fall will be but a shadow of the former powerful com- binations. Through examination fail- ures only four of last season's 12 reg- ulars are at present eligible, and some of the senior substitutes have also been tripped by the scholastic regulations.

Howie Carter and Red Gilmore re- main in the backfield and the expect- ed addition of Huck Welch, former Hamilton star, will bolster this de- partment up. Bubs Britton may again be at flying wing, but he will have to pass supplementary exams. He is eligible for another year so far as the rugby union goes, because he played only once in 1928. "Ike" Sut- ton will be at quarter and Basserman and Kilgour remain of the line- men.

But graduation has taken both outside wings, a halfback, an inside wing and snap back in "Unc" Dug- ham, Ed Hanford, Conrad Nagel, Chuck Agnew and Jimmie Wright. And the examination results this month disclosed that Britton, "Iris" Monahan and Fred Warren have failed to pass. Armour Munro and Jackie Jamieson, reliable substitutes, also failed.

COLLISION-A horse and wagon proceeding east on Grafton Street yesterday evening shortly after 4 o'clock, in turning the corner at Great George Street, collided with a Chevrolet car coming west on the same street. The shafts of the wa- gon crashed through the both left windows of the car. A large crowd were attracted by the sound of break- ing glass and grinding brakes, and for a while traffic was at a stand- still. The two shafts of the wagon were snapped of and some harness broken. It is not known yet who will pay the damage.

ANNUAL AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS

OTTAWA, May 14, 1929, 4 p. m. -The Dominion Bureau of Statistics has made the customary arrange- ments for the collection and publica- tion of the annual agricultural statis- tics of Canada for the year 1929.

These statistics will be based upon returns to be collected next June from individual farmers upon card- board schedules issued to them through the teachers and children of the rural schools, as well as from farmers direct, which will be circu- lated on an increased scale this year. The schedule is a very simple one, calling only for the areas sown to field crops and the number of farm animals alive on the farm in mid- June. Upon the resulting estimates of total areas sown are based the pre- liminary, provisional and final esti- mates of yield, which are of supreme importance in connection with the movement, financing, distribution and sale of the principal cereals, especially of wheat, of which Canada is now the world's leading exporter.

The present plans for the collec- tion of these statistics have been fol- lowed annually since 1917, and the estimates based thereon have come to be confidently relied upon by all in- terested in the production and dis- tribution of Canadian grain.

Accurate statistics are indispensable for a proper appreciation of the na- tional progress, and in order to en- sure that the statistics may be as accurate as possible, it is earnestly hoped that farmers throughout the Dominion will not fail to render the small service required by filling up and returning the schedule issued.

If any farmer should not receive the cardboard schedule by the middle of June he should apply for same either to the school teacher of the

Thinking While Sleeping

(By British United Press) LONDON, May 17.-What is the best hour for clear thinking.

This question is raised in a letter to a London newspaper by a cor- respondent who declares his brain is most wide awake in the middle of the night. He writes:

"I am a professional man. As my normal working-day is a mental rush from beginning to end, I have got myself into the habit of putting aside until bedtime any puzzling problems that arise.

"I usually fall asleep at once. When a problem occupies my last waking thoughts I waken regularly in the middle of the night. Then my brain is amazingly clear-so clear, indeed, that my problem always seems to solve itself."

A mental specialist and psychol- ogist, who has made a special study of the activity of the brain during sleep, declared that many hard- thinking people were best able to ev- olve and develop ideas in the dead of night.

"The old advice to 'sleep on it' has a greater significance than most people imagine," he said. "There are many cases on record of ideas being received in dreams. These very of- ten vanish, however, a few moments after the awakening."

A classic instance is that in which Samuel Taylor Coleridge dreamed the whole of his wonderful poem "Kubla Khan." On awakening, he started to write it down. While half- wakened through his task he was in- terrupted by a tradesman. When the man had gone Coleridge discovered his remembrance of the rest of the poem had vanished.

A ROAD COMPLAINT

Sir,-A deplorable state of affairs exists in the northern section of the Belfast electoral district. I refer to the condition of the Georgetown road between Jenkin's store in Millview and the County Line. The above named road was the first to be im- proved and made a so-called per- manent highway under the Dominion improved highways scheme by a pre- vious Liberal administration, at an average cost of between $1900 and $2000 per mile.

During the regime of the Stewart government this road was maintained in a proper condition and no com- plaints were heard. The proceeds of the auto registration and gasoline taxes were wisely spent, solely for the upkeep of the roads of the province and farmers and motorists alike en- joyed the benefits.

Since then a provincial election has taken place and other hands hold the purse strings, which are appar- ently loosened, not for the purpose of maintaining the roads in a proper condition, but to satisfy the demands of a few staunch adherents, who need a job. Such an administration is bearing the expected fruit, and as a result many parts of the road are impassible. The particular piece of road referred to is under the im- mediate observation of the recently elected representative for this part of the district, who, during the cam- paign repeatedly stated that he was a man of few words, but mighty deeds. During the last session of the House he ably upheld his boast of silence; not a word was spoken in be- half of the needs of the constituency represented. Neither of the represen- tatives of the Belfast district have made any apparent efforts to fulfill their promises to the people during the canvass of the district.

For more than a month this stretch of road has been allowed to remain in well high impassible con- dition much to the inconvenience of those who were compelled to travel it. It is sincerely hoped that the Public Works Department will take im- mediate steps to correct this state of affairs.

BREAKFAST HOT BREADS

By Barbara B. Brooks

Why not open the windows these bright mornings and let the sun pour in on the breakfast table? The mem- bers of the family will anticipate the meal more and probably will hesitate to miss it. The table can be made cheery with Spring blossoms or flow- ers, gay linen and decorated china.

The interested homemaker offers a varied breakfast to those who dine at her table. When the family tires of toast for breakfast-try hot breads. No sooner thought than done be- cause they are easy to prepare. It does not take over ten minutes to as- semble and mix the ingredients. Ser- ved with fruit and a hot drink, hot breads form a delightful meal.

For breakfast we usually choose a muffin, or a biscuit. There are some who think muffins are a trouble, while they really are the easiest of quick breads to make because it is speed in both preparation and mix- ing which insures a good muffin. The ingredients should be mixed only un- til the last bit of flour has disappear- ed. The batter may look lumpy, but do not beat out the lumps, because over-beating causes the muffin to be tough, to have holes running from the bottom to the top, and to have peaks. A good muffin has a rather tough, well browned crust and a slightly rounded top. The batter may be mixed the night before, put in the greased muffin tins, covered with waxed paper and put in the ice box, all ready for baking the next morn- ing. This recipe for all bran muffins may be varied sometimes by the ad- dition of chopped dates, figs, raisins or nuts.

Muffins

2 tablespoons shortening 1-4 cup sugar 1 egg 1 cup sour milk 1 cup All-Bran 1 cup flour 1-2 teaspoon soda 1 teaspoon baking powder 1-2 teaspoon salt

Cream the shortening and sugar. Add the slightly beaten egg and milk. Add the All-Bran. Sift the flour, soda, baking powder and salt and add to the first mixture, stirring only until the flour disappears. Bake in greased muffin tins in a moderate oven (375o F.) for twenty minutes.

If sweet milk is used in the above recipe, omit the soda and use three teaspoons baking powder. Have a surprise for the family some morning and make honey date biscuits. Pat out the baking powder biscuit dough. Make a paste of 1-2 cup honey creamed with 1-4 cup but- ter. Add 1-4 cup chopped dates, 1-4 cup chopped nut meats and 1-4 Cup All-Bran. Spread this mixture on the biscuit dough and roll like a jelly roll. The roll can be made the night before, covered with a cloth and put in the ice box to chill. Cut into 3-4 inch slices. Bake on a buttered sheet 25 minutes in a hot oven (400o F.) Biscuit dough should not be mixed for a long time-just suffi- cient to slightly blend the materials. Waffles may be used for the break- fast, luncheon or supper menu. They are delicious when served with a honey strawberry sauce.

There are so many bright waffle sets with which to make the break- fast table gay. The batter may be put in the pitcher and poured on the waffle iron at the table and thus the hostess will be able to spend all of the breakfast hour with her family.
