SABLE STEAMER LEAVES

The cable steamer "Tyrian" which arrived in port yesterday after repairing the submarine cable between Wood Islands and Picton, left again early this morning for Wood Islands where some detail work remains in clearing the cable from the sandstone reef, in order to lessen the chances of any damage such as occurred last winter. After completing this job the steamer will proceed to Picton Island and from thence to the east of Cape Breton Island on cable repair work. The steamer, which is commanded by Capt. Peters of Halifax, is well equipped for the work. Mr. A. B. McDonald, chief electrician for the Maritime Provinces, and Mr. H. M. VanBuskirk, formerly manager of the P. E. I. —There was a large number of country people in the city yesterday and the stores did a good business. The market was well attended. Fresh herrings readily sold at 40 cts. per doz. Produce prices remained as follows: hay 65 to 70c; straw, 40c per 100 lbs.; oats 60-63c; potatoes 65-70c.

A TALENTED SINGER

—In the Montreal "Star" of a recent date appears a write up of Mr. S. Morgan Powell, the well known dramatic and musical critic on "The Maid of Westaria" a musical comedy presented at His Majesty's Theatre by an all Montreal cast, including Mrs. Mathieson, wife of A. Walker Mathieson (known to the athletic fraternity of Charlottetown as "Bus" Mathieson) and daughter of Dr. E. J. Keir of Alberton. Of Mrs. Mathieson's singing Mr. Powell says: "The bulk of the individual burden falls upon Mrs. Walter Mathieson in the role of Sang Poy, Mr. James A. Reall as Pin Tu, Emperor of Westaria, and Walter Volkick, as Ban Ko, the Executioner. Mrs. Mathieson is a tower of strength to the entire cast. Her personality is charming; her acting is absolutely natural; and her singing is delightful. She could take her place as the prima-donna of any first-class musical comedy company any time; and make a good many of the singers who have come to Montreal with such organizations, look, and sound, very second-rate. Whether in Japanese costume or Anglo-Saxon attire, Mrs. Mathieson fits into the picture perfectly. She sings in an effortless manner, and her voice fills the theatre easily. In such numbers as "Tis Love Alone," the kissing duet, "Invocation to the Moon," and "Was Ever Maiden's Heart So Sad," she reveals herself as an artist of unusual taste and an unusual singer, and her work at all times is marked by a keen sense of proportion, wise restraint and both vocal and physical appeal."

MINARD'S LINIMENT

It is with profound sorrow and regret that the people learned of the death of Elmer Glover at the early age of 14 years and 11 months youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. David Glover, White Star. It came as a great shock to his family and friends, he being in good health and strength, excepting for a slight cold, but being able to attend as usual to his duties on the farm, he so much enjoyed and took such an active interest in, when he suddenly dropped dead without distress or pain, on the evening of May 2nd.

MR. ELMER GLOVER

Elmer had always a sunny and cheerful disposition, thus winning and holding a very large circle of friends with his loved ones who will miss him in the home, the Sunday school and community. Death is sad under any circumstances, but remarkably so when one so young, just entering into the threshold of manhood, is taken from our midst, but we must find ourselves in submission to "God's Holy Will" and say "His will be done."

The funeral which was held on May 8th, was very largely attended. The service was conducted by Rev. S. Howard who spoke very feelingly and impressively. The hymns sung were "Thy Will be done" and "Abide With Me." Among the floral tributes were: Pillow, Father and Mother. Wreath Brothers, and Sisters. Spray, Little Boy, Elmer Acorn, Lloyd and Bruce. Wreath, Wreath, White Star's Methodist Sunday School, Boquet, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Scaud-

IN MEMORIAM

MISS SADIE LECLAIR

Many will learn with regret and sadness of the death of Sadie LeClair, the beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander LeClair, Martin, which occurred on Tuesday morning the 17th April at the early age of 14 years. She had always enjoyed good health but six weeks before her death she took a cold and with the best medical attention and tenderest nursing, it was hoped her life would be spared, but complications set in and a higher Wisdom saw fit to take her to a better world, with her little angel sister who was taken from them many years ago. May God, who has saved this fresh young life from the weary strife and disappointments of time, comfort the sorrowing parents and help them to bear this cross with resignation. They have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement. Miss LeClair was endowed by nature, with many beautiful qualities of character, which won for her love and esteem of all who had the privilege of her acquaintance. Her funeral took place at St. Anne's Church on the 18th April. A large procession followed her remains to the grave. The funeral service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. W. V. McDonald, who visited her many times during her sickness. The pall-bearers were: Felix Buote, Adolphe Clair, Lemuel Gallant, Wilfred Doiron, Willie Blaquiere and Frank Doiron. She leaves to mourn their loss, besides her sorrowing father and mother, the following brothers and sisters: May, Mary, Nelida, Doris, Rita and Henry all at home. May her soul rest in peace.

MR. ANGUS MCPHEE

There fell upon the house a sudden gloom, A shadow on those features fair and thin; And softly from that hushed and darkened room, Two angels issued; where but one went in. The gloom that was cast over the house at three o'clock Sunday afternoon soon shrouded the neighborhood of Savage Harbour, and before the evening lamps were lighted, the people for many miles around were sorrow-stricken, when they learned that an aged resident, in the person of Angus McPhee had passed to the Great Beyond, fortified by the rites of the Holy Catholic Church. It is so strange that death, almost the only thing of which we are certain in this life, should bear in its train so much grief and sorrow. Mr. McPhee's illness was of short duration. About the first of March, he contracted a gripe, but kind and attentive nursing by his sister and family, he regained his health. But mistaking that he was as well as ever, he longed to be about his work as usual. He suffered a relapse and his death took place as before mentioned on April twenty ninth. The deceased was born at East Point and when very young, removed with his parents to Salvation Harbour. He was the third member in a family of eight, of which Katherine alone survives to mourn the loss of an affectionate brother. Mourning the loss of a kind and loving husband and father, are his sorrowing wife, Ellen J. (nee McDonald), two sons Hugh J. and Victor, and one daughter, Mary C. The district is bereft of a kind neighbor and a true friend. The funeral took place on Tuesday, to Saint Andrew's, where a funeral mass was chanted by his pastor Rev. Father McLeelan. The roads were almost impassable, but despite this and a heavy rain, quite a number of carriages took their places in the funeral cortege. His remains were laid in the cemetery to await the day when body and soul will again be united in life, that nevermore shall cease.

MR. ELMER GLOVER

It was with profound sorrow and regret that the people learned of the death of Elmer Glover at the early age of 14 years and 11 months youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. David Glover, White Star. It came as a great shock to his family and friends, he being in good health and strength, excepting for a slight cold, but being able to attend as usual to his duties on the farm, he so much enjoyed and took such an active interest in, when he suddenly dropped dead without distress or pain, on the evening of May 2nd.

ALKALI IN SHAMPOOS BAD FOR THE HAIR

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use. Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup of glass with a little warm water, is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fleecy and easy to manage. You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it is very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure you get Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

PRINCE EDWARD

MON. TUES. MAY 21-22

MURDER!

The word MURDER! and through the chill air of the night the beating of the Cardinal's heart sounded like the death watch by a sick man's pillow.

The word MURDER! and up down the marble staircases of the Cardinal's palace ran hurrying footsteps. Then came one loud cry that brought anguish to the hearts of the three helpless ones gathered in the Cardinal's library: "Death to the Cardinal!"

The word MURDER! and on it hung the destiny of France. Could Richelieu, now old, his power and influence tottering, baffle the conspirators, save his ward, and preserve his country from her enemies?

COULD HE? HE DID! He will do it twice more for your special benefit on the nights of May 21 and 22.

RICHELIEU is the play; the PRINCE EDWARD is the place; and the students of ST. DUNSTAN'S are the players.

greater measure of sunshine along the dreary path of life, so now in this letter I will try and make the "star of hope" shine somewhat brighter.

You will probably recall that in my letter of April 9 I wrote about the cat and the potato rut that a good many farmers fell into, and I suppose a good many of those ruts are still in existence on many farms in Pleasant Valley. I am now going to take the cow, the pig and the hen, and harness them up tandem-fashion, in order to give a little pull out of those ruts that are in my opinion a menace to progress on many of the farms. I am going to place the cow, and often abused hen in the lead and try and make the pig do as much pulling as the pig and the cow, and to begin my story properly I will skip over to Denmark and tell you what the farmers there have done and are doing now.

The chief business of Denmark is raising bacon, butter and eggs. These three items bring in annually to Denmark millions of dollars, and from England alone Denmark received last year $38,000,000 for bacon, $40,000,000 for butter and $35,000,000 for eggs. These figures are worthy of notice among your farmers, especially when you must take into consideration the fact that your land is a British possession, and I think you could get a fair slice of that business with a good quality of butter and bacon. You would have to look for the business in the proper way, you would have to establish a good reputation along those two lines, and you would have to strive hard to hold the reputation once established.

In Denmark the farms are nearly all small. There are probably more than 130,000 farms less than twelve acres, and more than 50,000 farms which range in size from 12 to 40 acres. The farmers of Denmark produce 90,000 dozen eggs per year. This will readily tell you that 10 acres of land is quite enough for a man to make a decent living and educate his children. Of course, there are large farms there too, but they are few when compared with the great number of small ones.

Sixty years ago the farmers of Denmark were not successful. They were some of the poorest in the world, they did not know when their cow was good or bad, and I think their eggs gave a very bad odor to the country. This was due chiefly to the fact that they were selling their raw products, and that they did not give much attention to breeds of cattle, breeds of pigs, or breeds of hens, but still they were shrewd people. They saw there was some thing wrong in their methods, so they got together and began to talk things over around their firesides, and I suppose when the women would drive the men out of the kitchen, they would hold their little "confabs" out behind the old well-house. At any rate, they were shrewd and also anxious to pull out of old ruts. They saw England across the way and fixed her up in a business-like manner. They found that England was not able to supply her own needs in the way of food, and they also found that "John Bull" had a big stomach and liked good things to eat. They also saw that Ireland and Scotland would be their nearest rivals in making "John Bull" happy, but as I have already said the Danes were shrewd people, and they quickly saw that when things would not go right with the Irish chap, he would roll up his sleeves and look for fight, and if the Scotchman saw any dark clouds ahead, he would take a drink of whisky. The Danes went in for team work, they went in for co-operation, and they went in for one, strong, united effort, and the result is today, the bright sun of happiness is smiling on Denmark, while in Ireland there is trouble, grief and strife, and in Scotland the pling is still going on.

If the farmers of Pleasant Valley will give more attention to team work, co-operation, and all pulling together, they can also accomplish what the Danes have brought about with the cow, the pig and the hen, and when they once turn the key of co-operation, they will open the door to opportunity, progress and greater prosperity.

I think now we had better take "Biddy," the hen for a starter. Supposing a group of 25 farmers got together and say plan for next year with a flock of 300 hens each. This would make a total of 7,500 hens, which, at a fair estimate and which range in size from 12 to 40 acres. The farmers of Denmark produce 90,000 dozen eggs per year.
