THRONE SPEECH DEBATE WILL OPEN TODAY

Opposition Leader Bennett To Follow Mover And Second-er.

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 (CP)—J. R. Brannan, veteran former member of the Quebec Legislature and now a federal member for Lotbiniere, will open the way to all-out debate when he moves tomorrow in the House of Commons the formal address to the Governor General in reply to the speech from the Throne.

Trend of the feeling that will attend the debate during the present session of Parliament will be revealed to some extent during this debate. If the session, as many expect, is to be marked by spirited debate, the signs will probably be noticeable in the speeches made during the next few days.

Will Second Address R. M. Warren (Lib. Renfrew North) is scheduled to second the address after which Conservative Leader Bennett, speaking for the official opposition party will open the debate drawing response immediately from Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Frequently the debate on the address goes on for days, ending in amendments which, if adopted would mean the administration was not acceptable to the majority and would necessitate its resignation.

United Kingdom Swept By Gale Trail Of Death And Destruction Left In Wake Of Weekend Storm.

LONDON, Jan. 30—A violent weekend gale subsided today leaving a trail of destruction and a number of deaths throughout the United Kingdom. Meanwhile the trawler Bostonian from Fleetwood, missing for two weeks with a crew of 12, is feared lost. Four bodies and wreckage washed up at Hoy in the Orkney Islands was believed for a time to give a clue to the Bostonian's fate but Fred Parkes, managing-director of the company owning the craft said the description of the wreckage did not fit the trawler.

Parques expressed grave fears for the safety of the trawler which sailed Jan. 12 from Fleetwood for the west of Scotland fishing grounds.

The Bostonian communicated by radio in another trawler Jan. 16 and is unreported since. The Hoy wreckage is still a mystery. The home fleet ploughed through heavy seas enroute to Lisbon, on a good will visit to Portugal, and also to Gibraltar for the spring cruise. The battleships Rodney and Nelson were in the van as the fleet left Portland on Saturday without mishap despite an 80-mile gale.

The Bembridge lifeboat struggled back to its station after hours of battling in raging seas off the Isle of Wight. She had helped refloat the coastal steamship New Verduin which ran aground off Spithead. The vessel reached Portsmouth with five feet of water in her hold.

In Glasgow the gale wrecked the partially completed Canadian pavilion for next summer's Empire exhibition. Arrangements were quickly made to have it rebuilt. Debris was strewn over the exhibition ground. Other structures there were slightly damaged and 43 telephone exchanges in Scotland were cut off.

The gale fatalities numbered at least six. In an attempt to regain the title Gayford has plotted a tentative course from Cranwell Airfield in Lincolnshire across Germany, Poland, and Southern Russia to Singapore a distance of approximately 7,300 miles. A second non-stop flight of 4,500 miles would take the fliers to Sydney, Australia.

The takeoff is expected to be made early in April to get the machines into Sydney in time to participate in the 150th anniversary celebrations of New South Wales.

When the flight was first mooted late in 1937, the Vickers "Wellies" standard-type bomber was named as the likely choice on the strength of its general performance tests. The Royal Air Force has now made that selection official. Three of these machines are at present being constructed and are being fitted with special equipment and extra fuel tanks.

While Hitler and his aides turned to the future and the still unsettled questions of German relations with the world, the Chancellor's economic self-sufficiency and the place of the church in the international socialist state, Nazis throughout the country reviewed the achievements of these problems: Unemployment—Practically eliminated by introduction of compulsory labor service, conscription of all military service, a vast program of roadmaking and land reclamation and construction of public buildings.

WILL ATTEMPT LONG DISTANCE FLIGHT RECORD

British Airmen Plan Flight To Singapore Early In Spring.

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON Canadian Press Staff Writer LONDON, Jan. 30—(CP)—Recurring reports that projected British plans to tackle the world's long-distance non-stop flying record might be abandoned have been effectively silenced by the Air Ministry with appointment of the personnel for the test.

Eight commissioned and four non-commissioned officers of the Royal Air Force have been nominated for a course of special training under the direction of Wing-Commander O. R. Gayford, former holder of the long-range record. The present non-stop mark of 630 miles is held by Russian airmen who flew from Moscow to California last July.

WAR PLANES DROP DEATH ON BARCELONA

Insurgents Answer To Air Truce Offered By Government.

(By RAMON BLARDONY) (Associated Press Foreign Staff) BARCELONA, Jan. 30 (AP)—More than 300 persons, 150 of them war orphan children, were killed today in two insurgent air raids on this Spanish Government capital.

Semi-official estimates said 700 others were wounded while unconfirmed reports declared another 300 were killed in a flooded bomb-shed during the city's most destructive aerial attack of the civil war.

The 139 children died crouching in the basement of an old church where they took refuge from an adjoining orphanage. Four insurgent projectiles scored a direct hit on the church dome and plummeted to the basement converting it into a scene of unforgettable horror.

"That is General Franco's answer to our air truce offer," said an army officer at the scene. He recalled the Government's offer of a truce which both sides abstain from bombing cities behind the lines.

Seek Bodies In Ruins Crowds moving in Barcelona's blood-stained streets tonight passionately demanded destruction of the insurgents' airbase at Mallorca as Red Cross workers searched for a course of special training under the direction of Wing-Commander O. R. Gayford, former holder of the long-range record. The present non-stop mark of 630 miles is held by Russian airmen who flew from Moscow to California last July.

The month-end bombings raised the total casualties to 100,000, said the Government spokesman. He estimated that 2,000 were killed and more than 2,000 wounded in raids on Government towns behind the civil war battle lines.

An official government estimate placed the dead in today's two raids at more than 300, it was feared the toll would be greater as many were pinned beneath the debris of buildings literally shattered by the dozens of 440 pound bombs.

The projectiles crumbled five-story houses, burying their occupants. Huge craters were dug in the streets. Cutting water and gas mains.

Nursery Bombed Approximately 165 children were in the nursery when it was struck. The pillars of the building collapsed plunging the roof in on the children.

Forty were killed when a bomb crashed into a medieval church. Resumption of the insurgent aerial attack, just as hopes were growing for an air armistice, was announced by the people of Barcelona.

For four days since Defence Minister Indalecio Prieto suggested a truce on attacks behind the lines, Barcelona had waited in a semblance of security.

The insurgent planes flew in from the sea this morning with General Franco's answer. Most victims of the first raid at 9 a. m. were still in bed. The first bomb fell near the cathedral, killing several. At least 10 houses were destroyed in the part of the city.

Said Slain In Bitter Fighting Major Battle Looms For Control Of Vital Railway Link On Lunghai Front.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 30—(AP)—Three thousand Chinese soldiers tonight were reported slaughtered in smashing Japanese victories on the two principal warfronts and in guerrilla combat west of Shanghai.

A decisive battle was developing from a series of sanguinary skirmishes on the Lunghai Railway front where cold and sleet gripped plains river valleys and mountains. The railway runs from the Upper Kiangsu Province coast into the heart of China.

A Japanese Army spokesman disclosing operations of the past 48 hours, said "at least 3,000 Chinese" were killed on the southern side of the Lunghai front and in the Wuhu and Sochow areas on the Yangtse River Valley south of the "lifeline" battlegrounds.

Several thousand other Chinese scattered and fled before the Japanese thrusts, the spokesman reported.

ENCOUNTERED FORCE The Japanese said their forces encountered 5,000 Chinese west of Mingkwang along the Tientsin-Pukon Railway some 100 miles southeast of its junction with the Lunghai line at Suckow, keystone of the Chinese "lifeline" defenses; two thousand Chinese were killed there.

Another 1,000 Chinese part of the guerrilla forces harassing Shanghai-Nanking supply lines, were rounded up and shot south of Sochow and about 50 miles west of Shanghai. Two thousand others were said to have been dispersed.

Shot on Sight The irregulars were without uniforms, a Japanese spokesman said, and "they therefore had lost their status as soldiers and had become snipers to be shot on sight."

On the Wuhu front, in the Yangtse Valley southwest of Nanking and about 200 miles west of Shanghai, there was a fierce clash between Chinese and the Japanese captors of Wuhu. The spokesman said the Chinese lost heavily.

On the northern side of the double-edged Lunghai front in lower Shantung Province the Japanese said the situation was but little changed.

Chinese sources, however, said a column which forced Japanese out of Mengyin was driving northwest to oust the invaders at Tsai-nan, some 50 miles behind their spearhead along the Tientsin-Pukon Railway.

The prospect of an air and land attack further westward endangered nearly 100 protestant missionaries, mostly Canadians and Americans stationed at or near Suchow.

Approximately 300 foreign missionaries were near the Lunghai war zone.

NINE DEAD IN COLLIERY FIRE

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Jan. 30—Convicted of extracting a tooth at his drug store and accepting payment, Robert Stanwar, 21, a Port of Spain druggist, was fined $68 or three months imprisonment.

Evidence at his trial in magistrate's court here said his "patient" Mrs. Marie Gonzales had been to a dentist before coming to Stanwar but the former refused to extract the tooth. After it was removed by the druggist, she spent 21 days in hospital receiving treatment.

Trapped Underground By Blaze In Scottish Mine. KILSYTH, Strathclyde, Scotland, Jan. 30—Nine miners were trapped and suffocated in a colliery fire today despite heroic rescue efforts by volunteers. The bodies were recovered.

The men were trapped early this morning when fire broke out underground in the Dumbreck colliery, two miles from Kilsyth. While wives and children prayed at the pithead, rescuers fought for hours to subdue the flames and reach the men.

Finally they broke through and discovered the bodies huddled in a group. They were suffocated but not burned.

Thomas Martin, a member of the sub-surface party, managed to escape. He spread the alarm and tried vainly to warn the others. Later he collapsed from shock. Two of his brothers and a nephew were among the victims.

Joseph Campbell re-aided safely but returned to aid his comrades and died with them. Martin said later: "I observed smoke, went along to investigate and found pit props had caught fire."

Hoses were run into the shaft in an effort to quench the flames. The men who were: James Robert and Joseph Martin, Joseph Campbell, Harry Hagen, Edward O'Neill, Joseph Kelly, Peter Walker and Peter Burns, all of Kilsyth and district.

OTTAWA, Jan. 30—(CP)—The Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial relations will finish its sittings here tomorrow and leave for Halifax late in the day after hearing David Sim, Commissioner of Excise and description of his branch work. The commission will start its Maritime sessions at Halifax next Thursday.

18 KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Scores Of Other Italian Munition Workers Injured. (A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) SEGNIO, Italy, Jan. 30—Rain-soaked firman today searched the ruins of one of Italy's greatest powder factories for additional victims of the blast which yesterday killed 18 persons and injured more than 200.

Some workers pierced the piled debris after being kept out for 36 hours by the acid fumes and fire fumes.

Hours of rain aided in putting out the explosion by the blasts in the powder sections of the munition works. Officials said no further bodies were recovered and no additional deaths among the injured were reported. Condition of those hurt was not considered critical.

The first of three explosions came at 7:35 a. m. Saturday. A second explosion 15 minutes later followed by a terrific blast at 8:03 which destroyed the munition plant. Residence roofs crashed, injuring householders indoors.

Prime Minister Mussolini arrived to survey the wreckage, but accepted the advice of guards not to go beyond a point of safety.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—John L. Lewis declared tonight that thousands of workers now face desperate need and even starvation "in spite of the President's promise" to let no willing worker starve.

In a letter urging all affiliates of his Committee for Industrial Organization to notify Congress that "immediate action is needed" to provide 3,000,000 work jobs for the unemployed, Lewis added: "The administration has taken upon itself this obligation, and the workers of America expect it to fulfill its promise."

No more work relief jobs are available at present, to meet an unemployment situation that is reaching "a very serious emergency."

Unless an immediate order is made by the administration to the W. P. A. to open its rolls and put at least 3,000,000 people to work, there will be dire suffering in the nation.

League Aid For China Rests With United States Reaction

GENEVA, Jan. 30—(CP)—A reported British, French and Russian plan to extend economic and financial aid to China in her war with Japan was believed tonight to hang on the official reaction of the United States.

The three great powers still in the League of Nations appeared to have left any definite decision on the nature and quantity of the proposed help to diplomatic negotiations after the League Council closes its 100th session.

A proposed resolution of aid, scheduled for consideration by the Council tomorrow afternoon, was worded broadly. It left little doubt that Chinese hopes for extensive assistance depended on later conversations.

Poland's threat to vote against the measure was altered to an agreement to abstain from voting after a brief public explanation that Warsaw disapproved settlement of the question among League powers alone.

Some circles had reported Great Britain, France and Russia had decided to help China either with or without approval of the League Council if the United States would cooperate.

State Secretary Cordell Hull said in Washington he had no dispatches on the understanding reached by the League's "big three." Hull indicated the United States would continue its policy of permitting arms shipments to both Japan and China and would not join in an agreement to assist China against Japan.

Appointed Judges Of Juvenile Courts

OTTAWA, Jan. 30—(CP)—Two appointments to juvenile courts in Prince Edward Island were announced tonight. Kenneth M. Martin was named judge of the juvenile court at Charlottetown, and Judge D. Edgar Shaw of the Prince County court was appointed judge of the juvenile court at Summerside.

CUNNINGHAM STILL "TOPS" BOSTON, Jan. 30—(AP)—Glenn Cunningham served notice he is still the peer of American millers Saturday night when he raced to a decisive 12-yard victory over Archie San Romani in the Prout Meet's Knights of Columbus mile. miles southwest of Barcelona the government army pushed steadily northward, harassing insurgent communication lines to thwart new assaults on eastern Spain.

Sino-Jap Trouble Noticed In Canada

Effects of the "Japanese-Chinese troubles" were noticed on the Canadian Pacific Coast, Mr. W. A. Simpson of Vancouver, son of the late William McNeill Simpson of Hamilton, P. E. I., and a retired lumberman and contractor, said in an interview in Charlottetown Saturday.

"The Japs frequently insult the Chinese on the streets and police have to be on watch to prevent trouble between members of the two races," said Mr. Simpson, who has been a Vancouver resident for 31 years with the exception of three years service overseas in the Great War.

Business conditions in Vancouver had showed a decided up-trend during the early part of last year, Mr. Simpson said, but receded somewhat during the last few months. Conditions in the United States and the China-Japan situation were cited as two reasons for this development.

However, conditions generally were greatly improved over those of a few years ago. There were 7,000 vacant houses in Vancouver in 1933, but last year 2,000 new ones were constructed and there was still a housing shortage, Mr. Simpson said.

INSTANTLY KILLED UPPER MUSQUODUIT, N. S., Jan. 30—(CP)—Sidney Cooper, 22, of Pope's Harbor, N. S., was killed instantly near this Halifax County village Saturday when struck by a falling tree. Cooper was working in the woods with his father. An inquest was found unnecessary.
