

Salt Rheum

You may call it eczema, tetter or milk crust. But no matter what you call it, this skin disease which comes in patches that burn, itch, discharge a watery matter, dry and scale, owes its existence to the presence of humors in the system.

It will continue to exist, annoy, and perhaps agonize, as long as these humors remain. It is always radically and permanently cured by which expels all humors, and is positively unequalled for all cutaneous eruptions.

About Coffee.

At a meeting of the congregation of the First Methodist Church last night the following were elected representatives to the Official Board: R. C. Goff, R. Heartz, W. W. Wellner, B. Balderson, R. K. Job, Benj. Sellers, W. A. Weeks.

John and Talmage McLean arrived from Boston by the Halifax on a two weeks' visit to their home in Searletown. The former has been away for ten years, and the latter for six, during which interval they have not visited their Island home.

THE little fifteen year old boy of George Carver was run over by a trolley at the Apothecaries Hall corner yesterday afternoon. The wheel passed over his head and he was bleeding at the ears when picked up. The doctor reported that his injuries though painful were not serious.

An old land mark has passed away and gone to his reward in the death of Muddock Lamont. Springton, which took place at his late home yesterday at one o'clock. The deceased was one of the oldest residents of that settlement having reached his 88th year. The funeral takes place on Saturday at one o'clock.

At the meeting of the Executive Council yesterday afternoon the question of school consolidation and the establishment of departments for the teaching of natural science as proposed by Sir W. C. McDonald and outlined in the Guardian some weeks ago was discussed. The offer as made through Prof. Robertson will be accepted and the school started if the districts to be amalgamated consent to do so.

THE marriage took place yesterday at the McMillan House, Hillsboro Street, of Alex. Nicholson, Flat River, to Annie McMillan, daughter of the late Donald McMillan, Wood Islands. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. McLean Sinclair in the presence of immediate friends. The groom was supported by H. R. McKenzie and Miss Mary McPherson assisted the bride. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson left for their future home in Flat River. The Guardian joins in congratulations.

GOOD HEALTH FOR CAPITAL. Maintaining good health is to the majority of people the most vital question in the world and nature affords no more efficient strengthener for the system and restorative for the nerves than Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Naturally, gradually, and certainly, it forms new red corpuscles in the blood, creates new healthy nerve cells and puts into the system the snap, energy and vitality that defies disease.

On Saturday, Sept. 13th, there passed peacefully to rest James B. Baker, of Alma Lot 3, son of Jessie Baker, Esq., of that place. The deceased who was in his 38th year, was a man of upright character, and quiet unassuming manner, and was greatly loved by all who knew him. He was a devout, humble Christian, having early learned the true secret of life. He bore his painful illness uncomplainingly, being strengthened spiritually unto patience and long-suffering. The funeral which took place on Monday afternoon was very largely attended. The service was conducted by Rev. A. D. McDonald assisted by Rev. Jas. Murray, a former pastor of the congregation. The pall-bearers were Messrs. James Barbour, Stephen Baker, David Barbour, James B. Mountain, John Barbour and John Rix. The floral tributes from Mrs. J. H. Myrick, Mrs. A. J. McFadyen, Mrs. Jas. Murray, Miss Kate and Sibly McFadyen, Charles Beaird and others were very beautiful and appropriate. In the presence of a large assemblage of friends and acquaintances the remains were solemnly laid to rest in the quiet shady cemetery at Montrose. He leaves a widow and two children, besides an aged father and mother to mourn their great loss, to all of whom the Guardian tenders sincerest sympathy.—Com.

INTEREST AND ALARM.

TORONTO, September 14.—The Telegram's London cable says: The Chronicle today, commenting on Bond's prospect of a reciprocity treaty with the United States, says: "We are in doubt whether he is right, and believe union with Canada is Newfoundland's ultimate destiny. Bond's experiment will be watched with equal interest and alarm."

No Better off Than Before.

A small town in Posen near the Silesian frontier still keeps that relic of other centuries, the night-watchman who calls the hours. One night—the London "Telegraph" tells this remarkable story—one of these watchmen, an old worthy long in service, failed to blow his whistle when the clock struck the hour.

The burgomaster summoned the delinquent to account for his negligence. After some hesitation he declared that his last tooth had dropped out, and that he could not hold in his mouth the official flat tin whistle.

A council was called, and the subject was gravely discussed. Finally one of the members said that he had heard of a dentist at Breslau who supplied artificial teeth. After long debate the council appropriated money to send the aged watchman to Breslau to get a set of new teeth.

In due time the watchman reported that his teeth had arrived. That night the burgomaster sat up to hear the result. To his astonishment there was no whistle at ten, at eleven, or at midnight. The next morning he summoned the watchman.

"You have got your teeth," he said, indignantly. "Why do you not whistle as before?"

"Yes, I've got a new set of teeth," replied the old man, "but the doctor told me to put them in water at night."

Scotsmen to the Front.

You know the character which Scotsmen have acquired, beyond almost any other people, for the art of pushing their fortunes abroad. It was never, perhaps, more singularly illustrated than by the following anecdote, which is related on the authority of an almost eminent scientific baronet.

The Russians and Turks in their war of the eighteenth century having diverted themselves long enough in the contest, agreed to treat for peace. The commissioners for this were Marshal-General Keith, on the part of the Russians, and the Grand Vizier on the part of the Turks. These two personages met and carried on their negotiations by means of interpreters. When all was concluded and they rose to separate, the Marshal made his bow with his hat in his hand, and the Vizier his salaam with his turban on his head.

But when these ceremonies of taking leave were over the Vizier turned suddenly, and coming up to Marshal Keith, took him cordially by the hand, and, in the broadest Scottish accent, declared warmly that it made him "verra happy to meet a countryman in his exalted station."

Keith stared with astonishment, eager for an explanation of this mystery, when the Vizier added:

"Dinna be surpris'd man; I'm o' the same country wi' yousel! I mind weel seein' you and your brother, when ladies, passin' by the school at Kirkcaldy. My father, sir, was bellman o' Kirkcaldy."

Cynicism of Girls of To-day.

"I have been unpleasantly impressed lately by the cynical bitterness of up-to-date young women," remarked a woman of experience. "With older people who have been soured by frequent disappointments—who have had their hopes frustrated, and who have been crowded to the wall more or less by fortune's favorites, it does not seem altogether unnatural that they should become caustic and critical, and question their acquaintances' motives and springs of action; but there is something very sad to me to hear the young, who surely should be unsuspecting and have faith in humanity, discuss the frailties of their friends with the satirical acumen of women of the world. The good old fashion of keeping the fruit of the tree of knowledge of good and evil away from young girls seems to be obsolete. 'See and judge for yourselves' is the axiom of the new dispensation, and the result certainly does not improve their trust in human nature. Bitterness in old or young generally argues disappointment; those who are successful are apt to be more kindly disposed to their fellows; they have no time in their pleasurable lives to notice the frailties of their acquaintances. People who are self-centered, too, are rarely censorious; their own affairs occupy them too much, and they do not think enough of others to judge them; but that an unkindly, critical spirit is rife among the young girls in upper tendom no one who listens to their chatter nowadays can doubt."

SHE BUYS BEST WHO BUYS QUICKLY

While there is no doubt that we have this season the largest stock of Ladies' Coats that ever were gathered under our roof at one time since we went into business—it is also true that we never sold so many Coats so early in the season. Every day sees some of the best ones picked up. Therefore "She buys best, who buys quickly."

We think a call at our Garment department, and a little time spent in examination, will convince you that this is the finest stock of Coats in the Province. That is a large claim, but we have the goods here to stand behind the claim.

HERE ARE A FEW OF THEM;—

- Very fair quality Black Melton Coat, velvet collar, $1.95.
- A medium length coat in Frieze or Beaver, colors fawn, brown, navy and Oxford grey, neatly made and very good looking, $3.10.
- Heavy Beaver Coat, double breasted, with pearl buttons, $4.85.
- Black Coat, 3/4 length, comes in Beaver or Nap, and is lined throughout, $5.65.
- A very pretty Coat of Oxford Grey Zibeline Cloth, lined throughout with Roman Satin, plain, but very neat and stylish, $6.75.
- Now comes a very finely tailored coat of black Cheviot, finished quite plainly $9.45.
- Three-quarter Coat of Oxford Grey Covet Cloth, with flare cuffs, side vent, $10.45.
- Black Beaver 3/4 Coat, Roman Satin lining, collar and revers trimmed with stitched taffeta silk $12.50.
- This last garment comes also in Oxford at the same price.
- Handsome Fawn Beaver Coat with triple cape collar, 4 rows of stitching on collar, cuffs and skirt, $14.85.
- Very swell 3/4 Coat of finest black beaver, has flare cuffs, and has sleeves, collar, front and back all trimmed very effectively with narrow bands of black satin $21.50.
- Black Beaver Coat in full length, very finely made and finished, $22.50.
- Full length coats in a wide assortment of grades and prices from about $10 up.
- Then there is an immense variety of coats for little folks; about the best range of the sort that we have ever been able to show.
- Do not think that the list above represents more than the very slightest suggestion of what you can find in this department of ours.
