DOOM OF PUGILISM Result of Bowen's Death In New Orleans. IT WAS A BRUTAL MURDER Bowen Called a Cur and a Coward While He Was Dying—Even New Orleans is Aroused Against the Savagery of the Ring—Police Also See It.

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—It is that brutal prize fight in New Orleans after Andrew Bowen, the local light weight fighter, had been beaten into a pulp, George Lavigne struck the unfortunate man so severely on the chin that his death was due to no other cause. He never regained consciousness from the time he fell down under the blows of his antagonist until his death. He was jerked and hissed by the "gentlemen" of the Auditorium club as he lay senseless. They called him a cur as he was dying, but he heard them no more than he heard his wife, who begged him to speak to her, or than he heard the clergyman who sought to save him as he was passing. IT WAS A GHASTLY AFFAIR from first to last. New Orleans has already earned an evil reputation for the candid brutality of its welcome to the thugs of America, but Friday evening's entertainment was a function that out-New-Orleansed New Orleans. There was a series of fights arranged, each of which, it was expected, would prove more bloody than its predecessor. It was not expected that there would be murder so early in the program, for the Dempsey-Ryan fight was still to come off after either Lavigne or Bowen had battered the party of the other part into a state of insensibility. But it was cruel from the start. A twenty-five-round fight was arranged, but Bowen only lived through eighteen of the rounds. He was a New Orleans man and was backed by New Orleans money, and Lavigne beat him from the start. This naturally disappointed the society of the Crescent city and jobs and guying attended every upper CUT AND SMASH AND JAB and counter whereby the Michigan champion pounded the Louisiana representative toward the morgue. Both men were thugs with records of having pounded other thugs before other spectators, but Bowen was the weaker and less skilful thug of the two and so after being mangled and mangled for eighteen horrible rounds he fell gasping. Then "Professor" Duff, called "professor" probably on account of his graduation from the place of waiter and bouncer in a cheap restaurant into the collars of the prize ring, counted Bowen out and he was carried home to die. He did die, and if the judgment of many of the authority whose views appear below amount to anything with him died American prize fighting. Even New Orleans has been so SHOOKED AT THE MURDER that Mayor Fitzpatrick has ventured to prohibit the Ryan-Dempsey "athletic contest" billed for last night. Chief of Police Brennan, when asked what he thought would be the effect of Bowen's death upon prize fighting in Illinois said: "I can only speak for Chicago, and here prize fighting has been dead for years. I will not permit it and the people know that I will not. Occasionally they sneak a fight as they did four or five nights ago here, but it is seldom that they can do it, and there is no profit in it when they do. It is all both talking about these affairs being 'athletic contests.' If they were nothing more than that they would attract nobody. People do not go to see 'athletic contests' of that sort. If they do not get a prize fight they feel that they are swindled, and they are. No set fight, no 'athletic contest' of the prize fight order will occur in Chicago while I am superintendent of police, and that is all I care to say about it. AS TO THE EFFECT OF THE KILLING of Bowen upon prize fighting in America, my judgment is that it will be buried in his grave. New Orleans can not afford to have another murder of the sort perpetrated there. Bowen's death must have shocked the community into realizing what their authorities are permitting. No great fight can be made a financial success unless the promoters are certain of immunity. I don't think there will be any more immunity in New Orleans. And Florida has been the one state in the union, I believe, where anything of the sort is possible. But two such events as the death of Riordan at Syracuse and the killing of Bowen at the Auditorium ought to make the sport as dead in Florida as it is Illinois."

At the time Young was injured, he was given the ball to make a run, and was heavily thrown, fumbling the ball. While reaching for it, he was accidentally kicked in the head by a runner who was close behind him at the time. He was taken to his home and grew better, but later an abscess formed at the base of his brain, which resulted in his death. Bowen and Tupper. THEY MAY EXCHANGE PLACES FOR A TIME. TORONTO, Dec. 21.—A Conservative who is considered pretty well informed usually on politics of the day, said this morning that Mr. Bowell would not long remain Premier, but would soon make way for Sir Charles Tupper, who would pilot the party through the Elections. Mr. Bowell would take the High Commissionership. His knowledge of the intercolonial negotiations would stand in good stead in the High Commissionership. Enormous Overdrafts. Winder, a cyclist of Warsaw, Ind., and publisher of the Wasp, a weekly newspaper of that place, will start Feb. 4, 1896 to make a trip around the United States on the coast and border lands, estimated on country roads to be a distance of 21,600 miles. Winder will start from New Orleans and go west so that the entire trip may be made in warm weather. The time limit has been placed at 300 days, so that he will have to average seventy-two miles a day. He will cross thirty-three states and territories, 220 counties, will touch 3,000 towns of different sizes and will register at 66 points en route. It is claimed that this is the longest bicycle ride ever attempted, being considerably farther than the circuits of the globe, which requires from two to three years. Winder is of slight build and weighs but 120 pounds, but has a great local reputation as a "tough" rider.

DIRGE STILL LASTS Sir John's Funeral Honors Not Yet Ended, BRITAIN IS STORM-SWEPT It Rages Most in Ireland—Three Persons Killed—British Steamers Astonish Natives in China—Novelist Stevenson is Really Dead. SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO THE GUARDIAN] LONDON, Dec. 22.—There was a heavy cold rain to-day. Few persons besides those interested were at the museum this morning to witness the transfer of Sir John's body. The hearse was drawn by four black horses. The casket was covered by the Union Jack.
