

British Violet Hazel

Those to whom the odor of Witch Hazel is disagreeable will find this preparation desirable, as the odor is that of Wood Violets.

This product is an efficacious remedy in cases of burns, bruises, cuts, insect bites, chilblains, sunburn, etc.

It is perfectly antiseptic and makes an excellent After Shave and Toilet Preparation—25c a bottle.

GAVE BOBBY SOME LESSONS.

"What are you going to do, John?" asked Mrs. Fazzie, as her husband unwrapped a pair of boxing gloves. "I'm going to give Bobby some lessons in self defence," he answered. "Every boy should know how to take care of himself in an emergency. Come on, Bobby; I won't hurt you." Twenty minutes later Mr. Fazzie returned with his hand on his face. "Get me a raw piece of meat to put on my eye, and the arnica bottle."

POLICE ROUNDED UP 30,000 ALIENS IN LONDON

LONDON, May 28.—The police have nearly completed their task of rounding up enemy aliens in London, and 30,000 are already accounted for. The officials state that they have caused the police but little trouble. Within the last few days hundreds of German and Austrian women have been repatriated through Holland. It has not yet been decided whether alien mothers with their children will be allowed to remain.

BASEBALL GAME AT VICTORIA PARK THIS AFTERNOON

This afternoon at 3 o'clock, in Victoria Park, the first baseball game of the season takes place between the Connaughts and Saint Dunstan's College team. Messrs. J. N. Conroy, J. J. Purcell, T. Corrigan, F. Hennessey, W. R. Keenan, F. McCarey, L. Campbell, E. Sweeney and W. Purcell will make up the Connaught team. As will be seen by all who know this, a strong nine, and the well-trained Saints, who generally are victors in this game, will have to "step some" to win to-day's contest.

The game is in splendid shape for playing. Likely a large crowd of fans will be on hand this afternoon at 3 o'clock, as it is intention to start the game right on time, to witness what promises to be an excellent game.

GREAT SIEGES IN HISTORY.

Among the great sieges of history that of Przemysl will stand high. Since the siege of Gibraltar, in 1799-81, ending with the relief of the stronghold after three years, seven months and twelve days, the important sieges have been:—
1856—Sebastopol, 332 days. Capitulated.
1857—Delhi, 131 days. Relieved.
1857—Lucknow, 149 days. Relieved.
1862-63—Vicksburg, 186 days. Fell.
1864-65—Richmond, 287 days. Evacuated.
1870—Metz, 134 days. Capitulated.
1870-71—Paris, 135 days. Fell.
1877—Plevna, 144 days. Fell.
1890-1900—Ladysmith, 120 days. Relieved.
1905—Port Arthur, 241 days. Fell.
1912-13—Adrianople, 155 days. Fell.
1914-15—Przemysl, 185 days. Fell.

AN UNMILITARY MAN'S REQUEST

May I suggest a use for unmilitary men of military age? I am thirty six, have been medically rejected for enlistment, and am considered by a great doctor as unfit. Still I am not seriously diseased. There are many like me. Why not form a battalion of such men, give us a little training, arm us with old rifles, send us to France and, let us make a feat—a night march, for example—pressed to the utmost of our small power, while a real attack is developed elsewhere? Fighting is at close quarters. We could be used without our physique being strained to the breaking point before it began.

We might cumber a hospital, but what matter if we had lured away an enemy force? More probably our survivors would prove a useless encumbrance to the Germans. Our training being directed to a definite end soon attained or lost, would be slight, just sufficient for us to move in military order and make some sort of show. Perhaps one of the big volunteer corps would give this. We need not cost the Government much for the better off might help the worse off.

The plan would help in a humble way to show that our country is in earnest. It might well enable the weak to perform a task for which the strong and competent are too often sacrificed. It would crown our last moments with a manhood that our shadowed lives have never known.

JUST SUPPOSE

Just suppose that you were stricken
With the illness of despair,
And you had begun to sicken
Of the fevered breath of care,
And suppose that you were lonely,
Don't you think you'd do you good
If but one real fellow only
Came and cheered you where you stood?
Don't you think your skies would brighten
And your shattered courage mend,
If you think your cares would lighten
If you new you had a friend?

Just suppose your heart was yearning
For a kindly word of cheer,
And with grief your soul was burning,
And your skies were dull and drear,
Don't you think you'd rather like it
If some one should come and say:
"Just cheer up! You're bound to strike it!
Come, I'll help you on the way!"
Don't you think beneath your trouble
That your back would cease to bend,
And the pluck of you would double
If you knew you had a friend?

Well, there's some such weary brother
Round about you every day,
Whom the fumes of failure smother
As he trends his lonely way.
He is standing, sad and weary,
Just as you may someday stand,
And he needs the comfort cheery
Of a strong and helpful hand.
So, suppose you be the brother
With encouragement to lend,
And make glad that lonely other

GERMAN "FAMINE" CRY FOUND TO BE A BLUFF.

The talk of famine in Germany and of famine prices in Berlin is now known to be one of the many "bluffs" that Germany has put up.

A correspondent of the London Morning Post details the "food" prices, as indicated in the bill of fare of the Friedrichshof restaurant in Berlin, which is patronized by the middle classes.

The menu, says the writer, is dated March 16. The prices are quite reasonable, even for a second class popular restaurant. Compared with previous prices, prices have not risen more than 25 to 30 per cent., and in some cases not even as much as that.

The most interesting item on the menu is the underlined, hand-written remark on the left hand bottom corner, in which the proprietors say that "white or brown bread, 50 grams, 5 pfennings only if coupon produced"; that is, one can have rather less than two ounces of bread for one cent, but only in exchange for a bread coupon, of which three are available daily for an adult. As to potatoes, according to the menu, a portion of boiled potatoes is six cents, fried, eight cents. Pommes writes, 12 cents, as before the war. The printed form, I conclude, was drawn up before the war, for the French names still appear on it, although the rule has been to ban them since last August. We can see the printed figures, changed in some cases only, and then only a trifle. For example, veal (wiener schnitzel) costs three cents more than last year; that is a rise from 39 cents to 42 cents. An egg costs four cents, three scrambled eggs 15 cents.

Meat also is cheap, always taking into account that it is a better class restaurant in question. A couple of Regensburg sausages with sauerkraut costs 13 cents, Vienna steak with Zaum pickles, 18 cents, roast veal, 19 cents; calf's brain, 25 cents; beefsteak (from the grill), 32 cents; filet, 38 cents; rump steak (a la Friedrichshof), 37 cents. For half a chicken they charge 37 cents, which is quite reasonable, but according to the bill of fare it is—Steirisches, Austrian. Curiously enough fresh fruit is not to be had in this restaurant, only oranges costing two cents each, but vegetables vary in price very much. Asparagus with butter is 31 cents a portion, while the others are 12 cents. Beer is considerably more expensive than before the war, a glass of it now costing six cents, while before it cost only two cents.

"Up with the Union Jack, boys, And let the Nations see The Flag which Britons hail with pride, The Flag for which our fathers died, The Flag we'll guard whate'er betide— THE FLAG OF LIBERTY!"

(The following is copied verbatim as it appeared in daily press dispatches!)

No Gaiety On His Birthday is wish of His Majesty

Flags Should Be Flown But No Dinners Are To Be Given

"Ottawa, May 22nd--A message from Hon. Lewis Harcourt, Secretary of State for the Colonies, has been received by the Government in regard to the celebration of the King's birthday. The call states: "It is His Majesty's wish that on the occasion of His Majesty's birthday this year flags should be flown, but no dinners, reviews, salutes or other celebrations should take place."

Instructions have been sent out by the Militia Department to officers commanding divisions and districts to carry out the King's wishes throughout their respective commands."

The distribution of British flags by this newspaper therefore comes at a most opportune time. Here is an opportunity to secure for the mere expense of distribution a full sized standard Union Jack which should be flown to the breeze from the house fronts of all patriotic Canadians as an evidence of loyalty to King and country, and to have available for celebrating other holidays—and those victories that ARE SURE TO COME! The outfit is complete with flag, jointed staff, halliard and metal socket for the window.
