Gleanings From Tryon And Vicinity

Mr. Howard Thomas of Cascumpec, P. E. I., made a business trip to Tryon recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Peters, of Augustine Cove, are receiving the congratulations of their friends on the arrival of a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester MacWilliams, of Augustine Cove, were recent visitors to the Provincial Capital.

On Friday evening, April 4th (the Young People's Society of Tryon held a very pleasant evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. G. Somers. There was a short and interesting program as follows: Reading by Mrs. Somers; Piano Solo by Sheldon Dixon; Piano Duet by Florence and Ethel Leard. The entertainment committee took charge at this point, putting on some snappy games and contests. At the close of the proceedings all present enjoyed a bountiful lunch at the close of which a hearty vote of thanks was extended our pastor and his wife for the use of their home. After the singing of the National Anthem everyone departed home feeling this to have been an evening of delightful fellowship.

Mrs. John Thomas, of Tryon, is at present the guest of her sister in Northam. She intends remaining a week.

We regret that the serious condition of Mrs. Sullivan Clarke, of Augustine Cove is causing grave anxiety to her family and friends.

On April 8th, Mrs. Graham Crossman, of North Tryon passed to her eternal reward, after an illness of short duration. The funeral takes place on Friday afternoon, April 10th.

Miss Della Dawson, of North Tryon, has returned after a flying visit to Sackville, N. B.

Their many friends will regret the departure of two of our popular young people Miss Frankie Gillis and Mr. Edward Trowsdale, of North Tryon, who left last week for the States.

We are pleased to report that Mrs. Don MacFadyen, of Augustine Cove, who through illness has been laid up for a time from active duties, is now somewhat improved.

Two of our famed Victoria Anglers, Rev. Mr. Kaye and Mr. Stanley Stewart, made a fishing trip to Tryon on Wednesday and were successful in baiting some fine speckled beauties.

House cleaning is on in this vicinity in almost every home. The men folk in general look unhappy (they always do in house cleaning time). So we will hope for a speedy finish.

Now that changeful April's here, I dream and ponder on the Spring Of beautiful skies so blue and clear And chattering robins on the wing. Now that changeful April's here, A restless feeling fills my heart, I long to wander far and near, So now I'll drop my pen and start. —D.

FORTUNE BRIDGE AND VICINITY

On Thursday evening, March 28th, a very successful concert was put on in the Hall at Fortune Bridge by the young people of the district. The program consisted of dialogues, vocal and instrumental selections, Scotch dancing and a three-act play entitled "Aaron Slick from Punken Crick." The opening number was instrumental music, Messrs. L. McEwen and J. LaPierre, violins; Mrs. McEwen, organ. This was followed by a "Darky Trio" by Messrs. Stead and Jenkins. Next came a Mock Trial, O'Hanley vs. Fung, capably acted out by Judge E. Stead, Lawyers M. Underhay and R. Coffin, Plaintiff, Mrs. O'Hafferty, R. Clapp; Defendant, L. Dingwell, Witness, O. McKenzie; Instrumental Music, McEwen and LaPierre; Act I of "Aaron Slick from Punken Crick." Scene—Mrs. Berry's kitchen on an Oklahoma farm; Instrumental Music, McEwen and LaPierre; Highland Fling in costume by Elizabeth Francis; Act II "Aaron Slick"—Oil on the farm, Aaron's Triumph; Instrumental music; Comic solo, "Behind the Parlour Door," by Fred McKenzie and Mr. Geo. Jackson, accompanist; Solo, "Carolina Moon" by Miss Mildred Coffin, with Mrs. G. Jackson accompanist; Act III "Aaron Slick"—Cabaret scene, one year later. The girl in red almost gets the better of Aaron. "The City Slicker is brought to justice. Back to Oklahoma; Instrumental music; Dialogue, "Married in Haste" by Mr. Brent Stead and Miss M. Harper; Principals Miss Ellen Stead, girl friend, Lester Jenkins. Dr. Ayers in love with the girl friend, George Washington (called), George Dingwell, man servant; Closing, Darky number, "Buffalo Gals," Messrs. Stead Coffin and Jenkins. Every number was well received, especially the play, which was a clean rural comedy, showing how the farmer was one too many for the city slicker. The plot centres around the Oklahoma farmhouse owned by Rosa Berry, charming widow. This part was capably handled by Miss Minnie McKenzie. At Mrs. Berry's farmhouse are two boarders, namely, Wilbur Merridew, a City Speculator, and his niece, Gladys Mae. Mr. Samuel Johnston played the role of Merridew in fine style, and was capably supported by Miss Beatrice Johnston as the City Girl Gladys Mae. Miss Johnston's portrayal of this part was very realistic indeed. Merridew is real anxious to buy the farm having a hunch that there is oil thereon, but meets his match in "Sis" Riggs Tomboy, which character taken by Miss Hazel Green, kept the audience in laughter throughout the three acts. Aaron Slick, an admirer of Mrs. Berry's, and a Southern Farmer, who triumphs over Merridew, by putting oil in the old spring to lead him on, was ably taken by Mr. Harry W. Burke, whose acting was superb. The remaining characters of the cast namely, Mr. Clarence Green (a mysterious young man) and "The Girl in Red" were played by Mr. Harry McKenzie, and Miss Lettie Coffin, who were both exceptionally good, in their somewhat difficult parts. In the second act, Mrs. Berry sells her farm to Merridew for a good sum, due to the cleverness of Mr. Aaron Slick. In the last act, Mrs. Berry and Sis Riggs are real city folks, and are visited by Aaron, who does not approve of their costumes, etc. Finally, Aaron proposes, is accepted, and all return to Oklahoma. After the program a sale of baskets took place, and a very creditable sum was realized, which goes toward the new hall fund. Owing to limited space in the hall, many were prevented from seeing the splendid concert and we understand it is to be repeated at a date to be announced later.

Mr. Dugal Stewart, Jr. of Wood Island West, is now a temporary resident of Port Wood.

The writer recently had the good fortune to be an appreciative hearer of some high class violin music in a home not far from his own and it so happened that every inmate of the house including visitors, was a musician, barring your humble servant, who happens to be endowed with every qualification of a great performer, except the power to perform. He has the will, the keen perception of sweet sounds, the appreciation of interpretation and fine technique. He has all these, I say, but he lacks the magic touch. All the other elements are of very little use to him, when he takes a fiddle in his hands and tries to coax from it the wealth of melody that lies within that shapely mould. In the realm of music it seems quite true that it is not in ourselves we are underlings, but in our stars, and this is a slight variation from the dogma of the Bard of Avon. With "concord of sweet sounds" the night glided on smoothly, happily and all too swiftly.

Mr. Fleming Brown, of Fairholm, Saskatchewan, a seasoned veteran in the game of checkers, succeeded recently in winning the Checker Championship of Canada, but he knew before the campaign was over that he was in a fight. His most formidable competitors were Mr. E. O. Taylor, champion of British Columbia and Mr. J. Merrick Champion of Manitoba, both very young men. Merrick lost only two games in the whole tournament and beat Taylor twice badly, but when they both reached Brown, it was Taylor that made the better showing.

In the year 1909, 27 years ago, the first grain of Marquis wheat was ushered into the world and from that single grain all the Marquis wheat in the world today was produced—a very great family. It is the offspring of a cross between Red Fife (male parent) and Hard Red Calcutta (female parent). Red Fife is noted for its milling and baking qualities and Hard Red Calcutta for its earliness in maturing. Dr. Charles C. Saunders, late Chief cerealist for the Dominion, brought about the union and I presume he suppressed the stamens of the Hard Red Calcutta and transferred the pollen of the Red Fife to the pistils of the Hard Red Calcutta. Any farmer with even an elementary knowledge of botany might experiment in the same way and perhaps with some success in evolving new varieties. If he can distinguish between stamens (the male element) and pistils (the female element) there is no reason why he cannot at least try. It will be seen from this that botany, which is lightly regarded by some is a really valuable study, for without a knowledge of it no one can hope to produce new varieties. In the identification of poisonous, medicinal and other plants, it is highly valuable.—H

Mr. John Davison and son, Vernon, were passengers to St. John last week, returning with their son Milton, who was taking treatment at a Hospital. We are pleased to note that Mr. Davison is slightly improved.

The weekly meeting of the Junior Red Cross was held Friday afternoon in the schoolroom at Fortune Bridge. It was decided to purchase a baseball set for the boys. After the business was concluded a very interesting debate namely, "Which is of more value to man, a car or a horse." Some very clever points were put forth for the car, but the "horse" carried the day.—B.

We regret to report the death of Mr. Thomas Hayter, of Murray River under somewhat tragic circumstances on Friday, 4th, inst. It appears that Mr. Hayter had been visiting friends at Peter's Road and had gone towards Murray River, reached Mr. John Beck's gate on the Commercial Road, about two miles from the house he had left on Peter's Road, and was there found dead by Mr. Beck. The time, it is reported, was about 10.30 p. m. Mr. Beck had the unfortunate man's remains brought to his home and they were afterwards removed to Murray River. The funeral took place a few days afterwards, and interment was in the Cemetery of the Baptist Church at Murray River. Mr. Hayter, while well along in life, was not by any means in his decrepitude. For his years he was a fairly vigorous and active man, and his general health appeared to be quite good. It is probable that death was due to heart trouble or apoplexy. At this writing we are unable to say. Mr. Hayter in his day and generation, was reckoned a mechanic of high skill and the Baptist Church at Murray River stands as an enduring monument of his workmanship. To his sorrowing relatives, the sympathy of this countryside is extended.

As an instance of growth in the demand for nickel, it is stated that last year some 20,000 tons of monel metal were consumed, an alloy of which two-thirds is Nickel. This is half the amount of nickel sold during the war and double the amount for which there was a market in the years 1921 and 1922. It would appear that the technical position of Nickel stock is steadily being improved and that large blocks each are being taken off the market. Prices were generally lower today both in Montreal and New York. The copper stocks were under the heaviest liquidation and as a group suffered the severest losses. We believe that International Nickel will be less affected than the other stocks in this group and that holdings should not be disturbed.

Market reports furnished by Greenshields & Co., Montreal, at Stewart Jones & Co., 88 Great George Street, Charlottetown.

MARKET REVIEW

Steady accumulation continues in large volume in Canada and the United States in the stock of International Nickel and the opinion is widely held that the stock will reach considerably higher levels before the end of the present year. Those most closely connected with the situation pay little heed to current earnings and would accept with perfect equanimity a suggestion that the first quarters earnings may not be above that of last year. The immediate situation, it is held, bears so little a likeness to what the company will be producing and earning next year and in 1932 and still more in 1933, that it is treated as an entirely negligible element. Nor is stress laid on definite estimates of ore either as to quantity or value; there is supreme confidence in the ability of this great mine to produce high grade ore for several generations to come.
