U. N. Votes To Make Former Italian Colony An Independent State

Urge Speed In Creation Of Food Bank

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—The 50-country Food and Agriculture Organization was urged today by its top officer to speed creation of a $1,000,000,000 world food bank.

Lacking such a mechanism, director-general Norman E. Dodd said, farm surpluses and falling prices may drive countries to "panic measures" and ultimately to "widespread depression."

Dodd offered the proposal in a message to the fifth annual conference of the United Nations body. Earlier he pleaded for a start on a global distribution machinery, even if plans are imperfect.

The plan for a food bank, a revolving fund which Dodd proposed to call the "international commodity clearing house" was drafted by a committee of P.A.O. experts six months ago.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (CP)—The United Nations Assembly today voted decisively to make an independent state of Libya, the largest colony of Mussolini's pre-war African empire.

With only Ethiopia dissenting, the 59-member assembly also ruled that Italy shall administer Italian Somaliland under a 10-year U.N. trusteeship preceding independence and that a U.N. commission recommend next year disposition of Eritrea.

Libya, the strategic area on the Mediterranean's south shore wrested from German and Italian hands by British forces during the Second World War, is to be a sovereign state not later than Jan. 1, 1952.

The vote on one of the Assembly's most historic decisions was 48 to 1 with nine abstentions. Canada voted with the majority. Russia, France, New Zealand, White Russia, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Sweden, the Soviet Ukraine and Yugoslavia abstained. Paraguay was absent.

Disposition of the Italian colonies — which have a population of 3,000,000 and cover an area about the size of Alberta and Saskatchewan combined — is the first question in which the Assembly's decision is more than a recommendation. Britain, Russia, United States and France agreed in signing the Italian peace treaty to abide by the Assembly's decision if they could not agree among themselves.

The Big Four and then the U.N. wrangled for the last three years over the fate of the three separate colonies which have coastlines on the Mediterranean, Red Sea and Indian Ocean. Britain now is administering all three except one small corner held by France.

While the Russian-bloc countries merely abstained in the final vote, they fought throughout the weeks of debate for earlier independence of Libya and Somaliland and immediate withdrawal of foreign troops.

Russia has hinted that the final word on the fate of the colonies has not yet been heard.

OTTAWA, Nov. 21 (CP)—Tighter ship safety laws were forecast by the Government today as it made public a judicial report blaming the owners and master of the Noronic for the holocaust that blazed through the vessel and took 118 lives at Toronto Sept. 17.

The 30,000-word report by Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada sharply censured both Canada Steamship Lines and 66-year-old Capt. William Taylor for the early-morning fire that wrote a tragic finish to a gay cruise over the Great Lakes from Detroit.

The master's certificate was suspended for a year from today, and the company was penalized by being taxed for the Transport Department's expenses in a 17-day inquiry at Toronto. These might run to between $50,000 and $100,000.

The Judge, who sat as commissioner in the Department's inquiry, ruled the loss of the ship and the loss of life were due to "failure" of the company and the captain to take proper precautions against fire.

At the same time, he found there had been "laxity" in Government inspection of the 36-year-old ship under safety regulations and he expressed belief this could have contributed to laxity of owners and officers in fire prevention.

A series of recommendations for improved precautions against fire on inland passenger ships were proposed by the Justice, and Trade Minister Howe told the Commons he would be surprised if early legislation did not follow the report.

By Mr. Howe
The bulky document was tabled in the Commons by Mr. Howe for Transport Minister Chevrier, who was ill. Earlier, Mr. Justice Kellock had delivered a brief judgment from the bench suspending the Sarnia, Ont., captain's certificate.

The Captain has the right of appeal from the suspension to the Exchequer Court of Canada. The company has no appeal from the findings.

While the Justice found that the ship's fire-fighting appliances appeared to have been satisfactory and in good working order, he castigated the owners and officers of the 6,905-ton Noronic for failure to take proper measures for the detection, alarm and fighting of fires and for getting passengers ashore in the event of fire.

Most of them were United States residents on a post-season cruise from Detroit to Toronto and return. Only one Canadian was among the dead, the toll of which now is 111 identified and seven known missing.

Critical of Small Crew
All of the 16 crew members on duty at the time of the outbreak — including the Captain — comprised the duty watch at the time, and the Judge was critical of the smallness of this number.

He accused management and officers of "complete complacency" with regard to fire precautions.

Unexpected Death Of Brookfield Farmer

The body of a Brookfield farmer, Mr. John A. MacLeod, was found near his barn yesterday morning about seven o'clock by his hired hand. Time of death was set at Sunday evening by coroner Dr. J. C. MacGulgan.

Mr. MacGulgan viewed the body yesterday and attributed death to natural causes. An inquest will not be necessary.

He was last seen shortly after five o'clock on the evening of his death by his hired hand. The employee lived in a separate house and upon his return to work yesterday morning found the body.

Mr. MacLeod, whose wife is ill in hospital, lived with a Mr. Dan MacLeod who is also indisposed. They lived about one half mile from Brookfield centre on the Coville Road.

He is survived by a brother, Mac MacLeod in the United States, and a half brother, Mr. D.M. Robinson, Charlottetown.

Finds Peanut Farming In East Africa Tough Job

By ALAN HARVEY
LONDON, Nov. 21 (CP)—Food Minister John Strachey today admitted the government underestimated the difficulties of growing peanuts in East Africa, but said there was no intention of letting the plan go by default.

"With a scheme of this kind you either go on with it or you chuck it," he told the House of Commons decisively. "We have decided to go on with it."

He resisted a Conservative demand for an inquiry into what has become known as Britain's started three years ago to build a Tanganyika peanut empire as an alternative source of food oils for margarine and other fats.

The Commons backed him up tonight, defeating the Conservative motion for a full-dress investigation of the scheme by a vote of 315 to 161. Labor spokesmen pledged they will push on with the attempt to develop the African bush for food-oil production.

Strachey said it was "monstrous" to suggest that £23,000,000 ($71,300,000) had been frittered away in a peanut project "with nothing to show for it."

"There are railways, ports, roads, towns, villages, water supplies, hospitals, training colleges, and 100,000 acres of cleared land to show for it."

The Government regretted the "initial miscalculations" which led to optimistic forecasts of the number of tons of peanuts that could be produced in Africa

Noronic Fire Probe Findings Made Public

By Max Boyd
WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery said today he sees no immediate threat of open conflict erupting in Europe.

Arriving in the United States for a round of talks with American military leaders, Britain's No. 1 field commander in the Second World War also declared he does not intend to ask for more United States troops in Western Europe.

The victor of El Alamein, now chairman of Europe's Western European defence alliance, reached New York on the Queen Elizabeth and came immediately to the capital in a United States Air Force transport plane.

In brief talks with reporters, he made it clear that he sees no imminent danger of war.

As for seeking more American troops in Western Europe, he said such a question is political in nature and has nothing to do with him.

The Field Marshal looked forward to a great battle Saturday, however, between the army and navy football teams at Philadelphia, where he will be the guest of Gen. J. Lawton Collins, United States Army chief of staff, who once served as a corps commander under Montgomery.

British and American officials said the Field Marshal is in the United States in private capacity as the guest of the English-Speaking Union, which he will address in New York Nov. 29.

He is scheduled to sail for home on the Mauretania Dec. 2.

May Increase Livestock Exhibits At The Royal

Island Hogs Carry Off Coveted Award; Local Group Enthusiastic Over Air Trip To Toronto.

Prince Edward Island may send all breeds of dairy cattle exhibits to the Royal Winter Fair next year. A committee of Allison Profit, Freeport, and H.J. Kennedy, Charlottetown, was appointed by the Royal Winter Fair Committee to lay the initial plans. The Guardian learned from Mr. Profit of his return from the Fair. The project has been assured all cooperation and assistance by Premier J. Walter Jones and Minister of Agriculture C.C. Baker. Representatives from all breeds will be included in the Island committee.

Showing for the first time at the Royal since 1925 and with only two entries in a class of 26 of all breeds, Prince Edward Island Yorkshire won first and fourth place in the single bacon hog class. The comparatively new swine breeder, Willard Proude of Kingston, won the Brethour Trophy awarded for the best Yorkshire side of bacon and considered the top win for swine at the Royal. David Wright of Lower Montague was placed fourth in this class. The 32 Island bacon hog exhibits were well placed in other classes.

The house, Mrs. Morro left with him to drive him to his brother's home. The two men were to go hunting the next day.

Ponder Surgery To Separate Alberta's Siamese Twins

FOREFIELD, Alta., Nov. 21 (CP)—Four days old and reported "doing fine," Siamese twin girls born to Mrs. E. A. Townsend, 20, were being nourished tonight in an incubator while medical authorities pondered the question of separating them by surgery.

First Siamese twins born in Alberta, the children were delivered last Thursday morning in the tiny but modern Forefield Municipal Hospital, 35 miles southeast of Edmonton. They are joined at the abdomen in front.

Their father said that aside from the union the children are "perfectly developed."

The attending physician, Dr. W. H. Preebury, said it is impossible to say yet whether the twins can be successfully separated by an operation.

He said he hopes the girls can be saved although it is unusual for such cases to survive.

Meanwhile, the mother was reported making remarkable progress in hospital although "it was quite a blow" to learn of the condition of the babies.

She had expected twins.

"I don't know what to say," said Townsend, a 22-year-old clerk for Northwestern Utilities Ltd. "We can only hope that somehow an operation can save our little girls."

They weighed a total of nine pounds 12 ounces at birth.

Formation Of New Party In China Forecast

HONG KONG, Nov. 21 (AP)—A new party hostile both to the Communists and Chiang Kai-Shek may be in the offing in China.

Acting President Li Tsung-Jen is expected to take the lead in it. He has been in hospital in this crown colony since his arrival Sunday.

Chiang still is awaiting Li in Chungking. The Generalissimo went there from Formosa last week at Li's invitation.

Foreigners from inland China said the new party, which would expect United States help in assembling the Communists, likely would shape up this way:

1. Li and his own friend, Gen. Pai Chung-hsi, strongest Nationalist military man left on the mainland, would join forces with three other important Chinese, Gen. Chan Chieh-Tong, administrator of Hainan Island, and General Hu Shih-Yueh and Yu Han-Mow, in Southern Kwang-Tung Province.

These observers said the new party would adopt a more vigorous policy against the Communists than Chiang's policy of trading spaces for time and avoiding major battles with the Reds.

Such a policy, the observers said, might gain the support of people dissatisfied with the Communist administration and might win sympathy in the United States and substantial material aid.

Noronic Owners Stand By Suspended Captain

OTTAWA, Nov. 21 (CP)—Ruddy, weatherbeaten Capt. William Taylor, 66, of the disaster ship Noronic was denied use of his master's certificate for a year today and exposed to biting commentary by the Judge who probed loss of his ship and an estimated 118 lives by fire Sept. 17.

Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock, in a 99-page report on his court of investigation, found the Sarnia, Ont. skipper and the ship's owners, Canada Steamship Lines Ltd., responsible for the fire because of "wrongful default" in their "failure" to provide adequate safety measures.

Informed sources said the report could be used as the basis for criminal action in the courts. Civil suits would be initiated by survivors or by relatives of those who perished.

Mr. Justice Kellock, one of the seven Judges of the Supreme Court of Canada, did these things to Capt. Taylor:

1. Ordered his seagoing certificate suspended for a year from today.
2. Said he was "extremely naive" in some of his evidence.
3. Maintained that both he and his officers and the company were "completely complacent" about fire prospects and precautions.
4. Charged that he should have organized and directed the waking of passengers instead of acting as "an ordinary sailor in such parts of the ship as he could reach" amid the flames.
5. Said he showed neither "resource nor initiative."
6. Raised the question of whether he was "intoxicated" and quoted evidence but made no clear-cut decision.

Under the Canada Shipping Act, basis for the inquiry, Capt. Taylor has the right to appeal the suspension to the admiralty section of the Exchequer Court.

In Montreal, Capt. Norman J. Reoch, general manager of C. S. L., said the company is "standing by" the skipper, that Taylor's "position with the company is un-

Meat Rationing Ends In Denmark

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 21 (Reuters)—Meat rationing ended in Denmark today after nearly 10 years, but price controls were lifted too and Danish housewives crowding into butchers shops found meat costing half as much again as on Saturday.

Accused of holding up a dice game Sunday, James M. Robertson, 21, and his 16-year-old brother, Allen, formerly of Souris, P.E.I., in magistrate's court today elected trial by higher court on charges of armed robbery. They were remanded in custody to Nov. 28.

Police said the two youths held up a dice game at the rear of a confectionary store here Sunday morning and were arrested a few hours later in bed at their suburban home.

Murder And Suicide Verdict

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL, N. S., Nov. 21 (CP)—A coroner's jury today returned a verdict of murder and suicide in a double slaying at nearby Victory last week.

The jury decided Myron R. Selig, 37, shot and killed Mrs. Irene E. Morro, 44-year-old taxi operator, and then took his own life with the rifle.

Mrs. Abbot Dewey testified that Selig had been at her house two weeks before the slaying and had told her he would "get even with Irene if it's the last thing I do."

Why he wanted to "get even" did not come out in evidence.

Mrs. Dewey said Selig had thrown himself on the floor and complained about severe pains in the leg. She quoted him as saying: "I must be crazy."

Police evidence was that there were no signs of a struggle in the car in which the shootings occurred—and that Mrs. Morro had not been criminally attacked.

Mrs. Maynard Rosenkrantz, mother of Mrs. Morro, said Selig had come to her house twice during the afternoon of the shooting. Selig had been drinking but the two did not quarrel. The second time he came to the house, Mrs. Morro left with him to drive him to his brother's home. The two men were to go hunting the next day.

New Turmoil Brewing Over Fate of Jerusalem

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER
LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 21 (CP)—New turmoil over the fate of Jerusalem brewed today in the United Nations.

Australia delivered the first pre-emptive thrust, submitting a resolution calling for a permanent international regime for Jerusalem. The Israeli delegation indicated bitterly it believes the Australian plan is old and unacceptable.

The struggle slated to break out later this week in the 50-member special political committee of the U. N. Assembly revolves around this issue:

Should Jerusalem become an international city totally under U. N. rule, or should only its holy places be under international supervision?

Top delegates expect the debate on the question will last about 10 days in committee. The outcome could have far-reaching implications — renewed strife in Palestine, building of the largest international police force in history, and setting up the first truly United Nations city administration.

Canada, which played a key role in framing the U. N. partition plan of Nov. 29, 1947, which led to the birth of Israel, is expected to sit on the sidelines in the coming debate. It is understood the Dominion's delegation has an "open mind on the subject."

Moshe Sharett, Israel's Foreign Minister, is here to argue against any total U. N. rule of the holy city. His government is willing, however, to co-operate in U. N. supervision of the holy places in and out of Jerusalem which would free the Israeli Government a free hand outside the holy places.

Israeli forces hold the new city section of Jerusalem and have discounted any suggestions it be given up. The forces of King Abdullah of Hashemite Jordan occupy the old city section. They appear no less adamant about keeping their possessions.

A major question is whether Israel or Hashemite Jordan can afford to stand against world opinion

Legislation Is Introduced In Commons

OTTAWA, Nov. 21 (CP)—Legislation authorizing the Federal Government to pay 50 per cent of the cost of a Trans-Canada Highway was sponsored in the Commons today by Reconstruction Minister Winters.

He did not estimate the total cost, but there has been speculation that the Federal share will range between $150,000,000 and $200,000,000.

Mr. Winters spoke on a resolution to a bill that would allow the Government to enter into agreements with the Provinces on plans for completion of roads that would form links in a Trans-Canada Highway.

Not Enough
George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said the offer to pay 50 per cent of the cost of such a highway was not enough. A Dominion-Provincial conference should be called to discuss how the Provinces would finance the increased burden they would assume on undertaking new road construction.

Mr. Winters said that early in September he forwarded letters to the Ministers responsible for highways in each Province, seeking agreement on broad questions of policy which might ultimately form the basis of agreements.

"Replies indicating agreement in most principles have been received from nearly all Provinces," he said. "Concurrence of others in general way has been indicated verbally. Some technical details remain to be worked out between the Federal and Provincial Governments and specific routes remain to be defined by formal agreement."

Tables Correspondence
Before introducing his resolution, Mr. Winters tabled correspondence regarding the highway with seven of the 10 Provinces. He indicated the other Provinces had asked that the correspondence not be tabled at this time. The latter Provinces were British Columbia, Nova Scotia and Manitoba.

The correspondence indicated various stages of negotiations with each Province.

Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland said he was "most eager to be in on the proposition from the start."

Construction of the highway would be held back unless a real Dominion-Provincial conference was called to discuss how projects would be financed. The Provinces could not assume added responsibility without knowing where additional revenues would come from.

For instance, an offer to pay 50 per cent of the cost of a highway across Newfoundland would not solve that Province's problem. The cost of such a road would be so great as to bear too heavily on the Province.

At the night sitting, Hazen Argue (CCF-Assiniboia) urged the Federal Government to pay the whole cost of building the Trans-Canada Highway.

He said the proposal that the Federal and Provincial Governments split the cost 50-50 would be unfair to some provinces, especially to the people of Nova Scotia of $28.70 compared with only $3.50 in Quebec.

CANBERRA (CP)—Australia's plan to divert the waters of the Snowy River into the Murray basin will require 800 miles of tunnels, 500 miles of canals and seven major dams. It will employ 80,000 men and cost about $700,000,000.

Report Subsidy On Eggs Is Planned

TORONTO, Nov. 21 (CP)—Officials of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture said today a subsidy plan for Canada's egg market is being planned by the Federal Government. The plan would cushion the effect of the British Government's decision to purchase her eggs from Denmark in future, the officials said.

Find Children Tied, Alone In House

VANCOUVER, Nov. 21 (CP)—In a poverty-stricken home, two small children were found tied to a bed, and the third—only two years old—toddled about a barricaded room.

Policewomen found the children Saturday on a call from the Children's Aid Society.

Two girls, one aged three, and the second five years old, were tied to the bed with rope. The door was barricaded with four chairs.

The father, an unemployed hospital orderly, said he bound the children "to keep them out of mischief."

He was away from home and the mother at work when the police arrived.

Policewoman C. Halorow said "there was nothing for the baby to eat. Salmon and mustard was all we could find for the others."

The case is in the hands of the Children's Aid Society.

Sweepstake Tickets King-Pin Arrested

LINDSAY, Ont., Nov. 21 (CP)—Thousands of books of Irish sweepstake tickets were seized during the week-end when police arrested "Babe" Heels, described as king-pin of distribution in this area. Police said Heels was head of a ring which did $35,000 to $50,000 business a year.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 21 (CP)—In a poverty-stricken home, two small children were found tied to a bed, and the third—only two years old—toddled about a barricaded room.

Policewomen found the children Saturday on a call from the Children's Aid Society.

Two girls, one aged three, and the second five years old, were tied to the bed with rope. The door was barricaded with four chairs.

The father, an unemployed hospital orderly, said he bound the children "to keep them out of mischief."

He was away from home and the mother at work when the police arrived.

Policewoman C. Halorow said "there was nothing for the baby to eat. Salmon and mustard was all we could find for the others."

The case is in the hands of the Children's Aid Society.
