Magnificent Performance by Dumbells

famous as a comedy show "on the job." They were greeted like old friends and with applause that would have warmed the heart of an operatic star. And they certainly did their best to "deliver the goods."
 Jimmie Goode, a former Charlottetownian, and recognized as the perfect black faced comedian, drew his way through several series of stories, and jokes, put on in such a tickled, bustling way that they seemed all the funnier, and not one was lost. His first song, "You'd Never Know the Old Town Now," was full of local allusions. Red Newman brought down the house in several specialties in song and dancing. His steps in the costume song were particularly effective. "The British Stoker" was a masterpiece of a different nature. It was a magnificent character song, and made the hit of the evening.
 Allan Murray's dances were none the less striking because he appeared as "Miss Genevieve Puck" and again as the Nautech Girl. The butterfly costume was extremely pretty.
 The Scottish quartette, Tom Young, Jerry Brayford, Bill Tennant and Bertram Langley delighted the audience. Fred Fenwick and Charlie McLean were other old favorites that everybody welcomed.
 One new member, Gene Pearson, has a wonderful voice, fresh, more like a girl's than an ex-soldier, who had roughed it in the trenches. He is "petite" and very modest in appearance.

pearance and manner, "the shrinking violet" type when playing the woman, and sang even the highest note in "Last Rose of Summer" with ease and naturalness. The female impersonations of Jock Holland, Fred Fenwick and Allan Murray were also splendid.
 There were many songs that will leave a lasting impression, among them "Knocked 'em in the Old Kent Road" and "The Stoker" sung by Red Newman; "Digging in the Valley of the Kings," by Bertram Langley; "Hidden Treasure" and "My Dear Old Mother's Song" sung by Tom Young; "Dirty Work" by Charlie McLean and Red Newman; "Garmine" sung by Jock Holland; "When Catherine Ruled" sung by Jock Holland and the chorus.
 In a special setting called "Songs of Long Ago," each member of the company went from a large book frame and sang the chorus of a well known old fashioned song. This feature made a very strong hit.
 The magnificent jeweled curtain in "Catherine's Court," resplendent in all the shades thrown on it by the spotlights was a dazzling spectacle and won spontaneous applause.
 There was a little bit of war experience which amused the audience greatly in "Mulligan Up." Red Newman had a new batch of "drabs" to drill, and the whole sketch was a perfect success.
 The review went with a lilt and swing, with a military precision and swiftness from start to finish, which simply carried everything before it. It was that unique production of all the hyperbolic adjectives with which press agents have embellished it.
 There was another laughable sketch, "Overhead at the Rotunda" featuring Jimmie Goode and Fred Fenwick.
 The stage settings and lighting effects were very cleverly devised and some of the scenic effects were very beautiful, especially in "Catherine's Court" and "The Garden of Kama." The orchestra, under the direction of Ivor Ayre, gave splendid support. The performance, which is being repeated this afternoon and evening, will no doubt again receive bumper houses.

times think that this is a matter of first interest. Their perfectly natural vanity plays them a mean trick by causing them to do a kind of advertising that is not as effective as their advertising might be if they gave the place of honor to the matter which is of first interest to every prospective user of a product. The prospective buyer is interested in only one thing—Why will he buy this? Why will he get pleasure or advantage will I get from buying it? These are the things that the advertiser should always remember. He should forget himself. He should forget things that he is interested in. He should be able to put himself in the shoes of the prospective buyer and see things from his point of view. He must forget himself entirely in order to do himself the most good.
 Of course, such an old trademark as the two pictures of the Smith Brothers has now come to be a "Tired and Worried Nervous and Despondent"

 Mrs. M. Chevalier, Belle River, Ont., writes:
 "For eight years I suffered from despondency and nervousness. Sometimes I could not sleep at night for worrying and the next day I would be so tired that my work was a burden to me. I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and can say I am now entirely relieved of the nervousness from which I used to suffer, and things do not worry me as they used to."
 "Dr. Chase's Ointment also relieved me of eczema on my arms, which had bothered me for three years. My house is never without Dr. Chase's Medicines."

ATTENDED FUNERAL—Mr. J. H. Buntain, M. L. A., returned last night from New Glasgow, N. S. when he attended the funeral of the wife of his brother, Mrs. H. M. Buntain on Tuesday. The New Glasgow Evening News, referring to the sad event says, in part: "It was with a profound sense of loss that the community learned of the sudden passing of Mrs. H. M. Buntain, on Saturday night at her home, Maple Avenue. Some weeks ago she had met with an accident to her hip and had been confined to her room but was making a good recovery. About a week ago she suffered an attack of pleurisy, but had also quite recovered, was feeling much better, and in good spirits, intimating to members of the household that she hoped to be able to get up for a short time on Monday."
 But her steps were ordered otherwise and to the great grief of her friends this fine woman was called away from her home. Saturday night she was suddenly taken with weak turns and in a very short time the spark of life had fled and the home was left desolate. The late Mrs. Buntain was born at Fox Brook, near Hopewell, fifty-three years ago a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nell MacLeod. For some years she kept house for her brother Hugh MacLeod, in Trenton, and on her marriage lived many years in New Glasgow.

Redistribution Bill

certain guiding principles which might be laid down for such a committee to follow. In the first place, the committee should follow low county municipal organization in making constituencies. Secondly, by the unit of representation for urban constituencies should be larger than for rural constituencies.
 Hon. H. H. Stevens, (Conservative, Vancouver Centre) said there should be a difference between rural and urban units of representation less than in the past. Care should be taken that discrimination in favor of rural constituencies should not be too great.
 In New Brunswick no change was needed in the basis of representation, said Hon. J. B. Baxter (Conservative, St. John). Conditions peculiar to each section of the community must enter largely into the question of representation and while he would not presume to be asked that his province be taken to be given his province by the Hon. who did not understand conditions there. A smaller unit of representation for urban constituencies worked out equitably in New Brunswick.

Legislative Summary

an attempt to sell in violation of the law. Any person who does any act contrary to the law is held liable to a fine of not more than five hundred dollars. It is provided that the Council is not to be held responsible as to the sale of stocks, etc., though a certificate be granted by it to the company selling the stocks or other securities.
 Mr. McEwen explained that a similar Act was in operation in Ontario and New Brunswick. It was, indeed, almost a copy of the New Brunswick Act. It is designed to safeguard the public against questionable stocks of questionable companies. The bill was criticized and discussed by Hon. J. A. McDonald, Mr. McEwen, Mr. Saunders, Mr. McArthur, Mr. J. A. McDonald, Mr. McLure, Hon. Mr. Stewart, Hon. Mr. Myers, Mr. Dennis and others. Several changes were made in it; several clauses were held over and two were struck out. At six o'clock progress was reported. The House then adjourned until eleven o'clock tomorrow.

Twenty-one additional passengers returned originally not on sailing list from New York.

IN MEMORIAM
 PATRICK L. CHEVERIE
 On Thursday, 20th, March, at Souris, there passed peacefully to his eternal reward Patrick Lawrence Cheverie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Cheverie, at the early age of 28 years.
 Deceased was returned from Overseas in falling health and despite the treatment given in Dalton and St. Agathe Sanatoriums and the loving care at home, he gradually became worse and it was realized that there was no hope of recovery.
 Fortified by the sacraments of his Church of which he was a consistent follower, he passed away with faith in the power and promises of the Redeemer.
 His funeral, which was largely attended, took place on Saturday morning, the 22nd at St. Mary's Church, Souris, where a solemn High Mass was celebrated by Rev. P. L. McMahon, who also officiated at the grave.
 The bearers were six comrades—Marcus Mooney, Max Madore, Gus Heartz, Lee Paquet, Geo. Perry and Laurie Paquet, who carried the casket draped with the flag.
 Besides his parents, he leaves to mourn a sister, Frances, and a brother, Maurice, in the U. S. and two sisters, Bernadette and Colletta and three brothers, Lester (of the C. N. R.) and Bernard, Cahill and Ronald at home.
 Eternal rest grant unto him, O Lord.

MR. WILLIAM DILLON
 The passing yesterday morning of Mr. William Dillon at the advanced age of seventy-seven years, removed from our midst a well known and much respected citizen; one connecting the past and the present. The late Mr. Dillon was a native of Charlottetown and spent his life in his native city.
 For many years, when sailing ships crowded our wharves and harbor, Mr. Dillon carried on sail making business at Peake's Wharf. These were the days that such a business would flourish, and many a full rigged ship as well as other sailing craft were fitted out in their keels by Mr. Dillon and others in his employ.
 When steam took the place of sailing and nearly all sailing vessels were supplanted by steamers, Mr. Dillon retired from that business and years ago he was appointed Market Clerk for the City of Charlottetown, the duties of which position he most faithfully discharged until last June when he voluntarily resigned owing to failing health.
 For twenty years he was an active and valued member of the City Fire Department.
 During the long years that Mr. Dillon resided in Charlottetown and in connection with his duties as Market Clerk, he came into contact with large numbers of people both in the city and from the rural districts. Consequently he was widely known and was ever regarded as a man of the strictest integrity and one who did his duty fearlessly and well in every respect.
