The bride very becomingly attired in white silk eolonne entered the parlour on the arm of her brother, James, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss Mayne Schurman, Bedouque, where in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties the ceremony was performed by their pastor, Rev. J. C. Peacock, after which they all repaired to the dining room where supper was served in Mrs. MacGregor's best style of which too much cannot be said. The brides travelling suit was navy broadcloth with black picture hat. The numerous and valuable presents received attested to the high esteem in which the bride was held.

LATEST FROM THEATRE

CASTLE SQUARE, BOSTON

No more instant success that "Coat Tales," the new mystery farce by Edward Clark, which had its premiers at Castle Square Theatre, has been seen in Boston for years. The merry, swift mixture of incident, humorously plausible plot and screwing funny dialogue, caught the spirit of the audience at once and "made friends" on the spot.

Before the whimsical first act, which is set in a pawnshop, was half through, the success of the play was a promise; the never-disappointing fan and quick action kept that promise; and the people went out from the theatre still laughing.

The second act, which is supposed to take place at the same time as the first, though in a different place, is a daring experiment in play construction, but has been proved entirely successful, and the complications which tie up in the rest of the play comes so quietly that one gives up trying to keep track of them, and gives himself over to sheer laughter.

GERMANS WAGING WAR AGAINST THE UNITED STATES. NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Herald says editorially—There will be men to pour into President Wilson's ear, the whisper that the dynamite conspiracy uncovered in New Jersey is only a single case standing by itself. The same sort of story was told in England by Viscount Haldane regarding Germany's pacific intentions with reference to the world. America has its Haldanes, and President Wilson perhaps has been hearing from them since Fay and his "pals" were taken into custody.
