CANADIAN FIRM WINS SUIT IN NEW ZEALAND.

A recent issue of the New Zealand Herald says that the Dominion Suspender Company of Niagara Falls, manufacturers of the well-known "President" Suspenders, have won their suit from the C. A. Edgerton Manufacturing Company. It appears that the Dominion Suspender Company had registered the name "President" as applied to suspenders in New Zealand for a considerable time when the United States firm decided that the market looked promising and endeavored to enter the field. The Dominion Suspender Company considered this unfair competition and sought to stop it. This they have succeeded in doing, the courts of New Zealand holding that the Canadian Company had prior right to the use of the name, having done business there for some considerable time before the United States Company entered the field. It seems fitting here to say that the Dominion Suspender Company has won an enviable place in the public confidence, both in Canada and abroad by fair square dealing. President Suspenders are absolutely guaranteed and this firm stands ready to make good any goods that do not give entire satisfaction. New Zealand is a legitimate market for Canadian manufacturers of almost all lines of goods and we confidently hope to see many other Canadian firms follow the lead established by the Dominion Suspender Company. 4056.
