ONE OF THE busy spots in Charlottetown these days is the Poultry Department of The Harris Abattoir Company. They are handling large quantities live and dressed chickens, fowl, ducks, geese and turkeys. They invite all poultry raisers to visit their plant and inspect this method of bleeding and dry-plucking poultry. This will be time well spent. 2580-11-26M21

AN ISLAND PASTOR.—The following clipping from a East Machias Maine Exchange of November 19th says: A new church building was dedicated here at East Machias, Maine, on Sunday, November 9th by Rev. H. Mahon, pastor of the sister church at Lynn, Mass. Mr. G. W. Ford, a young man, a native of Charlottetown, well known and most highly respected is pastor. He is a faithful and indefatigable worker. He has not only erected a suitable church edifice, but also a parish house in which all social gatherings can be held and suppers given, so that the new church building will not be used for any other purpose. Owing to Mr. Ford's popularity he was enabled to dedicate the building free of debt. Mrs. Ford who is also a native of this city, has nobly seconded her husband's efforts. There is certainly a promising future for them in Christian work.
