CUDMORE-MARRAE A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Tuesday evening, June 10th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Dennis, Douglas Street, when her sister Miss Alice Jean McRae of French River was united in marriage to Mr. W. H. Cudmore of this city in the presence of a number of friends and relatives.

The young bride looked charming as she entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her mother to the strains of the wedding march played by Mr. Beagie Acorn. The bride's dress was of duchess satin and lace and she carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses and maiden hair ferns.

Fortunate A young lawyer was due to go into court with his first case. For some days he had been nervous about it and so he sat down to dinner that night, at the trial, his air was far from being triumphant.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. JOHN R. LUND

Death is sad at all times but its pang is seldom felt so much as when carried off the kind and loving mother. Such was the case, when on the evening of May 27th the angel of death entered the home of John R. Lund, Atton Road, and claimed for his victim his loving wife, Maria Bridget. The deceased was only thirty-nine years of age.

Always of a bright and sunny disposition she made light of the trouble and trials of life. In sickness she was always ready to lend a helping hand. She was sick for only nine short days, during which time all that loving eyes and tender nursing could do was done to stay the wings of parting life.

However, God saw fit to will otherwise and on the evening of the twenty-seventh her soul fortified by the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church, of which she was a devout member, departed this life to await its eternal reward in the next.

Her funeral attended by a large concourse of relatives and friends took place on Thursday to St. Bonaventure's Church, Tracadie, where the funeral rites were conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. B. McIntyre. Then all that was mortal of a loving wife and mother was laid to rest.

She leaves to mourn besides her grief-stricken husband, an infant son and two daughters, Eunus age 8 and Mary age 6. Also brothers and three sisters, namely, Edwin and Joseph Brazil, John's River; Michael Brazill, Newton, Mass.; Mrs. Joseph Murnaghan, Donagh; Mrs. Francis McSkell, Atton Road; Mrs. James Kelly, Newton, Mass.; besides other relatives and friends.

The face once loved is gone The voice forever stilled The place made vacant in the home Can never be refilled. May her soul rest in peace.

MR. THOMAS HICKEN

A deep gloom was cast over Oak Valley, on Monday, May 26th, when it became known that the angel of death had visited the home of Mr. John H. Hicken and claimed for his victim a loving father in the person of Mr. Thomas Hicken. Mr. Hicken was an aged gentleman, having reached the good old age of 80 years, and he died although so old in 40, always being in the best of health until about three months ago when he became ill, but every one was looking forward to his speedy recovery when the warm weather came but God willed otherwise, and although attended with loving care from earth to his redeemer on above date.

The late Mr. Hicken was a man of fine character, kind and thoughtful for everyone and especially for his family. His wife who was Miss Elizabeth Lewellyn predeceased him some fourteen years ago. There are left to mourn his passing, three sons, namely: Wm. B. Allison, P. E. I. Chas. H. Oak Valley and John H. with whom he had made his home for the past two years, also a number of grand children and great grandchildren.

The funeral which was held on Wednesday to the Sturgeon cemetery was very largely attended and was conducted by his pastor Rev. Mr. Bruce of the Methodist Church, Montague, who spoke very highly of deceased, having visited him in his illness. The pallbearers were five grandsons namely: Gavin R. David L. Newton H. Percy and Wm. David Hicken and Mr. Rowan Senabough whose mother was Mr. Hicken's niece.

God calls our loved ones, but we lose not wholly What he has given; They live on earth in thought and deed as truly As in His Heaven.

MRS. ROBERT HODGE

There departed this life on May the 23rd at the home of her daughter Mrs. Violet Blodgett, Lynn, Mass., a woman of noble character and genial disposition in the person of Mrs. Robert Hodge. Mrs. Hodge was born at Fairfield, P. E. I., but for the past thirty-eight years has resided in the United States where she has accumulated a host of friends. For a number of years she has been a great sufferer, but bore it all with Christian fortitude and patience. All that medical skill and tender care could do was of no avail, and she passed into the presence of her

At Rotary

At the Rotary Luncheon yesterday, Rotarian Fred Burke presided. The guests present were Walter Mathieson, Montreal, W. G. Kent of Halifax, Assistant Inspector of Federal Taxation, George Buntain and A. B. Cosh, of Charlottetown.

Rotarian S. A. McLeod made an announcement regarding Carnival Week, July 14th to 19th, and on his request the Club appointed Rotarians Will Fletcher, A. E. Morrison, and J. A. S. Bayer as a committee to take charge of the community singing. The musical programme included a solo by Mr. Stubbs of Moncton, who was endorsed.

The President, W. M. Rowe stated that on behalf of the club he had wired greetings and welcome to the new club recently organized at Kentville, N. S.

The chief speaker today was Mr. A. R. Jones of the Egg and Poultry Association who gave an interesting talk on the poultry industry. It was worth a million dollars a year to the island, the value of the output being greater than that of factory cheese and butter.

There are no large special poultry farms on the island, the largest breeder having 200 hens, whilst in other provinces, it is common to have 3,000 to 5,000 hens on a farm.

Owing to climatic conditions, with the late spring, the island's production of winter eggs has been low, but last winter the production was the heaviest ever known. The biggest event in the history of the industry was the establishment of the Egg Circles eleven years ago. This movement has tended to improve the quality of our eggs and poultry, and the island pure bred poultry, excels that of the Maritime Provinces and the province of Quebec. There are now 60 egg circles, with a membership from 2,000 to 3,000.

The island eggs are considered the best in the Montreal and Boston markets at certain seasons of the year. Owing to our cool summers the island has a splendid advantage as an egg producing province. Mr. Jones then outlined the business methods used by the circles, and referred to the introduction of the QUALITY PAYMENT feature, which is doing much to improve the standard of our eggs. Government regulations also require grading, and thus the poultry industry is receiving great benefit.

This year the shipment of live poultry will be started earlier in the season. In this way the season will be lengthened and the danger of the market being glutted will be reduced.

Mr. Jones also spoke of the operation of a large hatchery by the Association, and dwelt on the great advantage to every farmer in having a flock of hens. At present the average is 50 to 60. It should be 100. In Quebec, 100 hens to a flock average 100 eggs to a hen in the season. On the island the average per hen is only 85. It should be 150.

VENTILATE THE KITCHEN Do not neglect ventilation in your kitchen as it is most important for carrying out odors of cooking, and because a well-aired room is much cooler than one in which the air becomes stale.

I CANNOT READ THE FUTURE I do not claim the ability to read the future any more than any other man who makes a study of conditions in his particular line, but if I were asked for a statement as to the possibilities of Silver Fox farming for the next five years, my conscientious opinion would be, that we are in for a period of greatly increased prosperity and better prices for Silver Fox furs than we have seen during the past two or three years.

Anyone who has studied the fox industry the last twenty years must know that Europe has been the great outlet for Silver Fox furs, and that all the world's records for pelts (which by the way have been captured by Prince Edward Island raised pelts) were made at the great London auctions. These pelts found their way to Austria, Russia, Germany, and France. From 1914 to 1920 these countries have been practically out of the market. Now Germany, Russia, Austria and France are again active in their demand for Silver Fox furs. The Germans were the largest buyers at the January Lamspon's sale, sending the price of good skins up 50% above the previous auction sales figures. Germany also was the largest buyer at the Danish sale held a month later.

This is good news for the fox rancher, as it means a broader market and steadily increasing demand during the next few years. The United States is also demanding great numbers of Silver Fox furs. Thus market conditions are being created which will take care of all the Silver Fox furs that can be produced, at prices that will yield a profit ten times greater than any other farming proposition one can engage in.

If you intend to take advantage of this condition you would be wise to start your ranch this fall and make your arrangements at once for the purchasing of breeding stock, and avoid disappointment in securing the kind and quality of foxes necessary to make for sure success.

Owing to my extensive connections in the fur industry of this province, I believe I am in a better position than any other man here to advise and select for you the kind and quality of breeding strains that the fur markets of the world demand today.

Every fox I sell is scored by me and my score card goes with it. I also take particular pains to see that matings are satisfactory as to blood lines, etc., and that the markings are carefully proportioned. To ranches that require a change of blood my services will be particularly valuable, as I am in a position to buy for them almost any desirable strain or type.

Book early and avoid disappointment. W. Chester S. McLure

Maxim Goriky Seeks Italy For Health And Quiet

PRAGUE, June 12.—Maxim Goriky, perhaps the foremost Russian man of letters living, has for some time been searching for Italy in his search for health and suitable literary surroundings.

For the past two years Goriky has led a nomadic life in this quest. Last spring he settled in the Black Forest near Freiburg where for a while he found all he sought. But the unrest of October and November which culminated in the Russian Revolution, led him out of his retreat. "I've seen one breakdown in Russia," he said to his friends, "and do not care to witness another."

Goriky did not find the climate of Czechoslovakia agreeable, and once more he got ready to move. This time his radicalism stood in his way for the Mussolini government declined to give the doughty revolutionist a passport visa. After several months of correspondence, however, the permission to enter Italy was finally obtained.

During the Russian revolution Goriky at first worked with the Bolsheviks in the commissariat of education, where he participated in a comprehensive scheme for supplying the Russian people with the best in the world's literature. Cheap popular editions of translated works of the best writers of every country, including even Turkey, were to be supplied, and several hundred volumes were published under Goriky's personal editorial supervision.

A pacifist by conviction, and a champion of the intelligentsia by instinct and temperament, he gradually became weaned from Bolshevism because of its insistence upon force and its contempt for the intelligentsia. He has therefore withdrawn from all political activity and maintains a strict neutrality toward communism, declining to be interviewed on any political subject.

At dusk that evening, Garland, his employer and the latter's son, armed themselves with sticks and waited for the bird. The owl appeared, and at once flew towards the men, and knocked off the hat of one of them. The bird was afterwards shot in a cedar tree, and found to measure three feet across the wings.
