WHEAT PROVINCE AGAIN.
William Lloyd, of Oakville, cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills, the Favorite Medicine of the North West.

OAKVILLE, Man. July 30.—There is no doubt about it: Dodd's Kidney Pills have become the most indispensable medicine of Manitoba and the North West Territories. The latest case reported is that of William Lloyd, of Oakville. Mr. Lloyd had Diabetes. For three years he tried to cure himself. A doctor in Portage La Prairie tried in vain to cure him. Mr. Lloyd lost thirty pounds in three months, and thirst made his life a burden. "I am taking Dodd's Kidney Pills regularly," he said, "three times a day and am picking up very fast. My thirst has left me and I do not pass half so much urine. I have taken six boxes and intend to take more. I am fifty years old, but I am confident Dodd's Kidney Pills are curing me."

EDITOR'S MAIL.

An Explanation.

SIR,—Owing to the fact that some comment has been made in reference to the non-rising of cream on pasteurized milk the following is reproduced from "The Principles of Pasteurization" by H. L. Russell of the Wisconsin Dairy School.

"It has always been supposed that the body or consistency of milk or cream was so largely dependent on the amount of butter fat. In the same that this was the main factor in determining this point, Babcock has recently shown that this is not governed solely by the amount of butter fat, but by the way butter fat globules are distributed in the milk. In normal milk most of the fat globules are collected in microscopic clots that are held together by an invisible meshwork, as in Fig. 7. When milk is heated above 140° F. this tiny clot is broken in pieces and the fat globules separate out in the serum of the milk, as in Fig. 8. With this change in microscopical appearance comes a marked difference in consistency. Milk treated to this temperature will not cream readily, because the fat globules are so thoroughly separated that they cannot rise easily through fluid serum."

GREATER NEW YORK

A Crusade Against the Organ Grinders.

THE HEAT AND CONEY.

15,000 People Visit the Island on Sunday—Cars of City Deserters.

BY THE GUARDIAN'S N. Y. CORRESPONDENT.

It is to laugh now, in New York, for a crusade has been started against the organ-grinders. This is the first antagonistic step ever taken towards these curious Italian cannals, who day after day through all parts of the city with their organs and gurdies. They are here in thousands, and in no part of New York between 7 in the morning and 6 at night is the pedestrian ever clear of the sound of their tinkling tunes. At night, on the great East Side, in the cross-streets near the Bowery, children of the tenements dance to the music of the street organs, and almost any time you can see a knot of spectators down in those stuffy streets watching the scene with the keenest interest, and the shrewd Italian, with his signorina—who goes about soliciting with her tambourine knows that the children's fondness for his organ is one of his most fecund sources of profit. Spectators keep throwing in nickels and pennies so the little girls may dance on, and often an organ stays in one spot for hours, the smirking signorina sitting at the receipt of custom. That is, if no hostile policeman happens to turn the corner.

Of late years the street-organ grinding in New York has been reduced to a business. Scarcely any of the swarthy Italians you see at the crank own their organs. No, the organs are all owned by a Padrone, who pays the grinders so much per day. About half way down the Bowery, if you should be standing at the corner of the street some night about ten, you will see a long parade of hand-organs filing past you into an area-way—many dozens of them. This is the padrone's depot, where the organs are stored each night and accounts rendered by the grinders of deeds done in the flesh. Next morning about 8 the procession reforms, and soon all over the city the rag-time melodies are heard again and children pirouette and people in offices over figures fume and swear.

Well, the Board of Aldermen has taken action to abolish organ-grinding in New York. This has been done in answer to numerous complaints from householders who have deplored the alleged vicious effect to the children who follow the organs to dance, and because of the also alleged sleep-killing din of ragtime airs. One hearing has been held and another is appointed at which representative "grind-

A COLLECTION OF BIRDS

Prof. Earle's Present Collection of Birds an Excellent One

This morning Prof. S. N. Earle will place a case of stuffed birds in the show window of Mr. L. W. Watson's Drug Store. When it is stated that it is a case, it does not mean that it is a collection of a few birds, but a selection which has taken the Professor years to perfect. Upwards of 100 rare specimens are artistically placed on a tree in the centre of the case. Unfortunately this province does not possess a museum and the visitors to our shores do not have the opportunity of seeing and making a note of the many kinds of birds to be found. Fortunately, however, Charlottetown possesses a gentleman who has spared neither time nor money to make the collection as near complete as possible.

Mr. Earle states that $100 would not repay him for the work and it would take years to replace many specimens. Among the collection are to be found the golden crested woodpecker, sap sucker, meadow lark, American crossbill, blue jay, Canadian jay, cuckoo, Savannah sparrow, fox sparrow, purple finch, yellow warbler, wren, snow bunting, horned lark, pee wee, yellow rump warbler, redbellied vireo, red start, hermit wood thrush, Kentucky warbler, black throated warbler, blue warbler, Mary land yellow throat, gold finch, king bird, logger headed shrike, song sparrows, and many species of hawks and owls.

The case is 5 feet high and has a glass front and sides. Tourists should call this morning and see the collection.
