ALERT BRITISH FIRMS.

News of the Hon. Charles Daiton's munificent gift has gone far afield. On Friday and Saturday last Premier Matheson received letters from four British manufacturing and mercantile firms bearing date May 26, 27 and 28 respectively, and all desiring to supply something toward outfitting the projected Tuberculosis Sanatorium in this province.

A London firm writes in part: "We are informed by the Board of Trade that you will probably be erecting a Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Charlottetown, in the near future, in which case we shall be glad to have an opportunity of quoting for the furnishing of the same, namely, furniture, carpets and linoleum, when the building is ready."

A firm in Birmingham writes: "We learn that you have under contemplation the erection of a Tuberculosis Sanatorium, and we write to ask that we may be afforded an opportunity of quoting for any cooking or heating apparatus that you may require for this institution."

Another Birmingham firm writes: "We are informed by His Majesty's Trade Commissioner that you have under consideration the erection of a Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Charlottetown. We shall be very pleased to send you illustrations and prices for the special electric lighting fixtures used in hospitals on this side, and venture to say we are quite sure you will find many advantages in their use."

A house in Manchester writes: "We note that you are shortly building a Hospital in your district. We are taking this opportunity of enclosing our price list of filters, which no doubt will be required in due course."

It is interesting to note that these British manufacturers and merchants are not only aware that there is such a place as Prince Edward Island, but they also have learned that a public institution is about to be erected in this province, and, in advance of the selection of a site, they are bidding for the business of furnishing and equipping it. No Canadian or American firm has shown so much enterprise, in this case at least, we are led to infer that English manufacturers and traders have their business pretty thoroughly organized and are quite as alert as any in their outlook for new chances to turn an honest penny. Those who may have thought our British cousins a little slow in their methods may as well revise such opinions without delay.

WEST INDIANS TRADE.

In a recent issue we drew attention to the desirability of developing the West Indian trade under the new reciprocity agreement, the terms of which we outlined. We are pleased to see the recently organized Canadian West Indian League has taken the matter up. The league, which has for its object the improvement of trade relations between the West Indies and Canada, has, during the two years of its existence increased the export and import trade to the extent of three million dollars. The league, whose headquarters are in Montreal has some 600 members in Canada and 500 in the West Indies.

A lunch in honor of Sir Thomas Crossley Layner, K. C., Chief Justice of British Guiana, was given at the Mount Royal Club, the other day. Sir H. Montague Allan, hon. vice-president in the chair. In reply to the toast of his health, Sir Crossley said the West Indies were looking forward very hopefully to the operation of the reciprocity agreement with Canada, and he remarked that they would be greatly disappointed if a large trade with Canada did not result from it.

"We suffered from depression for years in the West Indies," he said, "as a result of the competition of bounty-fed sugar, and although in many of the islands the people have turned their attention largely to the raising of other products, we cannot be said to have fully recovered even yet. But there is every sign that we have a great future before us, and we feel that in achieving our destiny this agreement with Canada will play a large part. The West Indies and Canada are two parts of the British Empire which are ideally fitted by nature for the interchange of their natural products.

The confederation of the West Indies along the lines of the Canadian confederation is now something more than a dream, Sir Crossley said. Although there was no organized movement to that end, the matter was being much discussed all over the West Indies, and public opinion generally favored it. Jamaica was possibly too far away from the other islands to come into such a scheme, but it was felt that a "United West Indies" must be the ultimate aim of the others. "Federation," he said, "is in the air, and there is no doubt we could achieve much, both for ourselves and for the empire by federation."

The great want of the West Indies, he added, was population. British Guiana was as large as England, and Wales, yet it only had about a quarter of a million inhabitants, or, in other words, as many as a second-rate English city. A federated West Indies could do much to promote industry, and to attract capital and population.

As was mentioned in our columns recently, Sir Crossley will take a trip as far as Winnipeg, and return to Montreal in about ten days on his way to England. He expects to visit this Island eighteen months hence.

NOTES.

The "May Bulletin" issued by The Great West Life Assurance Company states that many calls for extra copies have made it necessary to reprint Issue No. 3 of the "Health Bulletin" on "Tuberculosis," which was quoted in our editorial column. The State Department of North Dakota desired copies of the issue—and the Canadian Society for Prevention of Tuberculosis requested copies for distribution. The immense public interest in the subject is one of the most hopeful aspects of the fight against Consumption and we are glad to take a part in the work.

INSTITUTE FORMED

Another Women's Institute was organized on Saturday, June 7th, by the women of New Haven. The meeting, which was held in the school house was opened by Mr. P. J. Berrigan, who strongly urged the formation of an organization which could be of such benefit to the individual members and such a great assistance in a community as Women's Institutes. The supervisor then gave a detailed account of the movement, which was listened to with great interest and attention. After the matter was fully discussed and it was decided to organize the following officers were elected for the New Haven Women's Institute:—Directors:—President—Mrs. P. J. Berrigan; Vice-President—Mrs. Angus Darrach; Mrs. Dougherty; Mrs. Angus MacPhee; Mrs. John MacQuillan; Secretary-treasurer—Miss Agnes McKaig. The first regular meeting is to be held on Wednesday, July 2nd at 8 o'clock when School Improvement is to be the chief topic. The enterprise and interest of the women of this district is shown by the fact that the first meeting is to take the form of a house-cleaning bee—and a marked improvement in the appearance of the school will doubtless be the result. Such movements on the part of the mothers of this province go to show that they realize the necessity of having the place where their children spend so much of their time in the very best possible condition.

Bodily Health Affects Character

Character, as well as success in life, depends very largely on the condition of your health. You cannot imagine a sufferer from indigestion being cheerful in disposition. Nor do you expect a person with exhausted nerves to be other than nervous, irritable, easily excited and short-tempered.
There was formerly much guesswork in the treatment of exhausted nerves, but since Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has proven so successful in restoring nerve force to the system there is no necessity for experimenting. Some experiments are necessary for the advance of science, but they need not be at your expense or your risk.
No one can develop good character and ability with nervous headache, indigestion and the depressing effect of an exhausted nervous system. There is always the dark cloud of nervous collapse, and some form of paralysis to look forward to.
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is not a "quick cure"—no sedatives to lull the patient in the delusion that his pains are disappearing, no narcotic or injurious stimulants to exhilarate him temporarily at the future expense of health.
This food cure positively forms new rich blood and builds up in the most natural way the starved and worn-out nerves.
