A correspondent in writing from Rustico says: "Farmers are busy at the harvest, which is up to, if not past the standard. Mrs. B. W. Lepage is spending her holidays in New York the guest of her mother, Miss Gerlie Gallant of St. John is spending a few well earned holidays in Rustico. His friends are pleased to see Rendle Huston out again after a severe attack of pleurisy. Miss Edyth Houston has secured a position as clerk in Mr. Lepage's store. On Friday evening last in the capacious upper flat of the Hillsboro Consolidated School a large number of students, ex-students and friends gathered to do honor to ex-Principal J. W. Jones, B. A. Dr. Dewar presided and after a short literary and musical program he gave an address extolling the work done by the retired Principal. From chaos he had evolved order, with these among other results: Some sixteen matriculants to P. W. College, a large body of students successfully graded; a generous curriculum faithfully followed; a school garden second to none in the Maritime Provinces in beauty and utility; the floral decorations of the Hall were products of the School—mute and fragrant evidences of beauty that would carry joy to many homes; in music, drill and deportment the scholars had won commendation from their ex-amblers and the scholastic work was more than creditable. Dr. Dewar then read a highly flattering address and with it handed Mr. Jones a purse containing fifty dollars in gold. Mr. Jones made a feeling reply. He tried to do his duty. He thanked his colleagues for their support and praised the students for their assiduity. Consolidation has come to stay. He offered a number of valuable prizes for the best home or school plot for the next year. He left them to resume his studies for two years in practical branches in Montreal. He warmly thanked the donors of the purse and the audience for their sympathy and appreciation. The National Anthem closed the highly interesting meeting.

On Thursday the 19th inst at 8 p.m. John H. Weeks took the chair to preside over one of the best temperance meetings held in this province in recent years. The Fredericton Hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion and proved much too small to accommodate the great concourse of people both young and old that sought an entrance and many remained outside, yet the order was good and the two hours program cordially appreciated. The program was temperance in very truth and the attention that was given to its rendition indicated that the people round about this section of the country duly appreciate a program that is bristling with temperance sentiment. Miss Myrtle Weeks presided at the organ in a highly creditable manner. The program in full was as follows: Opening prayer, Rev. H. Pierce, B. A., Chorus, For God and Home and Native Land, choir; remarks chairman; recitation, William Stevenson Jr. address, G. W. P. David Small; solo, Mamie Weeks; chorus, The light is on, choir; recitation, Lillie Morrison; address, Rev. H. Pierce, B. A., quartette, Misses Mamie and Myrtle Weeks, Frank Stevenson and Edward Sellick; recitation, Alice Abbott, encoired; solo, Robt Hill, encoired; address, E. S. Weeks, B. A., B. D.; chorus On to victory, choir; duet, Robt Hill and Mamie Weeks; recitation, Katie McKernan, encoired; solo, Myrtle Weeks. Hearty votes of thanks were tendered the speakers the choir and others who took part in the program. God Save the King.—Com.
