Liquidation of His Estate Applied for and Seizure Of His Letters

Special to The Guardian. MONTREAL, Oct. 13.—Sheldon, the broker is still absent.

In spite of the announcement that the office should open this morning, it is still closed.

Application has been made for the liquidation of the Sheldon estate, and also to have the post office take over his mail.

(This Montreal broker carried on operations to some extent outside of the city in which his office was located. He had some system by which he conducted business for investors by mail and handled their money for them just as conveniently as if they were in Montreal. Mr. Sheldon's assurances of stupendous dividends, which would almost make one a millionaire in a very brief period, were influential enough to attract a number of P. E. I. men of money investment. Of course, it will now be difficult to ascertain who these parties are as most of them will not relish the fact of being "taken in" any more than they will appreciate Mr. Sheldon's business methods.—Guardian News Ed.)

"BE NOT AFRAID."

Someone has said that where there is a shadow there must be a light somewhere, and so there is. Be not afraid of the shadow of the highway in which we have to travel, and the light which heaven shines upon him through a shadow across our path. Let us then rejoice that there is a light beyond. Nobody is afraid of a shadow, for a shadow cannot stop a man's pathway even for a moment. The shadow of a sword cannot kill; the shadow of death cannot destroy us. Why, therefore, should we be afraid.—J. Wilbur Chapman, D. D.

EPISCOPALIAN PLAN TO HEAL THE ILL

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 12.—The most prominent feature of the Protestant Episcopal church convention today was the debate on the question of divine healing. Giving the sanction of the church to the healing of the ill by prayer was proposed to the convention in a report of a commission of which Bishop Gray, of Southern Florida, is chairman.

The proposals aroused the keenest interest. "A jewel which the church cast away and a woman picked up," was the way in which one speaker referred to Christian Science. The report of the mittee made the following recommendations:

"In view of the wide-spread desire and earnest longing for some recognition of the possibility of the healing of the sick through the power of prayer with symbolic anointing, manifested by bishop, presbytery and laymen of the Church, and in view of the very general seeking after divine healings by faith cure people, Christian Scientists, followers of spiritual healing, and others, it seems eminent-ly fitting that a suitable, proper and wisely prepared office for the junction of sick should be put forth by the church on true lines:

"First—Looking to and praying for a restoration to health, not in anticipation of health.

"Two—avoiding the comparatively recent diversion toward the idea that the scripturalunction of the sick is a true sacrament in our Anglican use of that word.

"Your committee would therefore recommend that a commission of two bishops, two presbyters and two laymen be appointed to prepare and report for an office for the union of the sick, on the lines of the scriptural and catholic usage, avoiding any appearance of a sacramental rite immediately preceding death."
