WHY?

BECAUSE—P. E. I. men are old fashioned and won't let their wives buy any Furniture covering unless it is either a "wine or a green". The trend in Upper Canada is to color. Husbands away are fed up on the old conventional wines and greens! These old colors will be as antiquated as the old "horsehair sofa". But, in the meantime, we are "stuck" with about 12 of these famous Kroehler Chairs and Ottomans at both our stores... All fresh, new stock in lovely colors, so popular in the cities, and just arrived fresh from the factory... with the new Cushionized Construction... the last word in comfort. But we didn't get the chance to pick the coverings... we have to take a range and the factory is producing 75% in lovely striking colors for the new modern homes... So, we have these new coverings that we can't sell at regular prices! Perhaps at approximately 25% off, the P. E. I. ladies will be able to convince their husbands, not only that it is Smart to be Thrifty, but also that it is Smart to be Modern and to have a living room with some New Color in it. We can only hope that the color appeal of "the new look" in coverings will be stronger than the P. E. I. husband's authority and his old fashioned desire to live in drab old wine and green!

35th Anniversary Of Harrington W. I.

Harrington Women's Institute reached a milestone in their career recently, namely the celebration of their 35th anniversary. This Institute deserves much credit for its long years of unabated service to "home and country". Many of its original members have passed on, but the torch has been taken up by those who have accepted the ideals of their predecessors and accomplished an unbelievable amount of work and raised many thousands of dollars. On the evening of Nov. 13, the members with their husbands converged on the new Rendezvous restaurant in Charlottetown, where they celebrated with a banquet. The past president, Mrs. George MacKay presided and many toasts were honored. The first to "The King" and the "Newborn Prince". This was followed by a toast to the Institute of 1948, proposed by Mrs. H. P. Cudmore and responded to by the members standing and repeating "The Creed". A toast was then proposed by Mr. Leigh Stewart to the original Institute of 1913, responded to by Mrs. Jennie Rattray who read the names of the members of that first Institute. One of the members (Miss Phyllis Auld) who became a recent member was also honored by a toast and responded to by all drinking to the health of the "bride and groom". A delicious 4-course duck dinner with all the fixings was then enjoyed by all. Before the dessert was served Mrs. Lilla Ford lit the 35 candles on the beautifully decorated birthday cake prepared by Mrs. Willard Prowse and cut by the president, Mrs. Leigh Stewart, and served to all with their coffee. One of the original members, Mrs. Benj. Newson, who has a record of over 25 years' service, read an interesting history of the Institute down through the years, after which Mrs. Harry Gander read the honor roll of the deceased members. At the conclusion of the proceedings, the celebrants formed a theatre party and enjoyed a current hit at the Prince Edward.

Many expressions were voiced regarding a celebration each year, which will probably take the form of a dinner in our community hall and a bigger and better banquet in 1953, on the 40th anniversary.

Reports Say Baby Prince Has Healthy Yell

(By Ed. L. Campbell)
LONDON, Dec. 12—(AP)—Victorians said children should be seen and not heard. But Queen Victoria's great-great-grand-son reverses the rule.
The son born to Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip Nov. 14 has been seen by few people. But his lusty lungs have been heard by practically the entire staff at staid Buckingham Palace.
In fact, say those in a position to know, when the blue-eyed infant who may some day be king decides to voice his opinion, the red-carpeted corridors fairly echo.
Not that the youngster is a bad boy. But Princess Elizabeth is reported to insist on regularity. Babies' tummies are notoriously bad timekeepers. So when hunger beats the clock, the infant prattles yells.

Handicap Hoop Game At S'side

A handicap basketball match with considerable wagering on the result took place at the local R.C.A.P. court over the week-end with the second line of Schurman's Limited by the score of 33 to 3. The wagering was on the question whether the second stringers of the Physical Fitness League team could beat the other game ended with Schurman's 36 points ahead of the Windjammers. The following is the line ups with points scored by each: Schurman's: Clive MacDonald — 14; Jim Harris — 12; Davis Estey — 7; Ken Arsenault — 0; Bill Giger — 0; Maynard Schurman — 0; Windjammers: W. O. Bullis — 2; R. G. Gentleman — 1; Reg Thompson — 0; Ron Kennedy — 0; Ralph MacDonald — 0; Referee, Caloren. Assistant, Linkletter.—S

BEENHAM, Berkshire, England —(CP)— Philippa Rendle, 4, wrote to "Father Christmas, North Pole, near God." The reply to her was: "Although you have asked for as many good things I feel sure you will be a very lucky girl on Christmas Day—Father Christmas, North Pole." Said E.J. Rendle, Philippa's father: "The hearts of the postal authorities remain unfrozen."
Kent, usually call in the afternoons for tea.
No one outside the royal family and household were allowed to see either the Princess or her baby during the first week.
