Edward F. Weaver Hockey, Dead

WELL KNOWN HALIFAX ATHLETE, FORMER CRESCENTS PLAYER, PASSES

HALIFAX, Dec. 11.—A very large circle of friends, particularly among the sporting fraternity of the Maritime Provinces will regret to learn of the death of a veteran hockey player, Edward F. Weaver, who was one of the stars of the Crescents Club, back in the old days of 1907-8.

Mr. Weaver who was 45 years of age, had been in ill-health for the past two months, but kept up his regular business routine and it was only one week ago that he suffered a nervous breakdown followed by a paralytic stroke.

The deceased was considered one of the best defence men in the Maritime Provinces in his playing days. "Neddy" Weaver started his hockey career with the Intermediate Crescents in 1906.

NOTED HOCKEY STAR

He was captain of the crescent team that played against the Monarchs Victorious, back in 1907-8 for the Star trophy offered by the Star Skate Manufacturing Company for the Maritime championship.

Some of his contemporaries who played with him on the Old Crescents team, which held the Maritime championship were, Jack and Frank Condon, Tommie Little and Roy Eckersley.

The deceased, who resided at 243 Almon street, was a faithful employee of the Imperial Oil Company for 23 years and went to Charlottetown in 1914, where he remained until the spring, when his health starting to fail him, he returned to Halifax, and up until several weeks ago was employed with the local branch. Death was caused from a nervous breakdown which developed into paralysis.

Joseph E. Bond, rejected.

Manitoba—H. McMurro, P. Seira, F. Woodall, W. Fridfinson—all referred back to the provincial branch.

Ontario—John Roe, G. Carson, Referred back, W. Hope.

THE NATIONAL WINTER SPORT

By ("TEC")

Very soon, in fact less than three weeks from now the rafters of the local arena will ring with mighty cheers and perhaps a few sighs from the large and enthusiastic following of hockey fans.

A fast sheet of ice with each and every player in perfect shape, the fans on their toes from going to go, the shrill notes of the referee's whistle all go to make up the fascinating, pulsating and exciting game of hockey.

Hockey is Canada's great national winter sport. Although many other forms of outdoor recreation are enjoyed, during the invigorating season of ice and snow none of them has attained the position of popularity among all classes that is held by hockey. No other game requires so much speed, accuracy, endurance, strength, hardihood and quick thinking in the player nor does any other form of sport so fascinate and thrill the spectator. This great winter game holds among Canadians both young and old, a position similar in many respects to that occupied by the summer pastime, baseball, among the citizens of this continent. To the younger enthusiast the cleared ice surface, whether it be on frozen stream, river, lake or in a back yard, serves the same purpose for hockey that the sand-lot does for the playing of baseball. To the young player recross his grounding in the game, and there also is aroused his ambition to one day compete in the great amateur and professional series which are conducted each winter throughout this broad Dominion of ours.

In hockey, as in most other sports it is the rule that those who would become especially proficient must play the game from childhood. The small neighborhood rinks and the rinks maintained by playground commissions in the various cities are the proving grounds for future "big league" stars. There the youthful aspirant learns the principles of the game and develops the sturdiness of frame and coordination of action of foot, hand, and brain which are so essential in the successful hockey player. How begins more than outstanding skill in the form of recreation; the foundations for good health and sound moral character are laid. Initiative is developed as well as a spirit of fair play and good sportsmanship.

Six players equipped with skates and hockey sticks comprise a hockey team. Each team consists of a goal-keeper, two defence players and three forwards; the forwards are named left wing, centre and right wing; and these players take up their positions facing their opponents. The rules of the game are very simple

ISLAND HOCKEYIST IN "BIG SHOW"

Roy "Mix" Prowse former Abegweit defence star and later with the Quebec Sons of Ireland and last winter with the Bradon team in the Manitoba hockey league has at last realized his ambition of one day becoming a member of one team or another in the National professional hockey league. A recent edition of the Regina Post and Leader features on its sport page a splendid cut of Prowse wearing a "Capitol" uniform. An article with reference to the above says that he has been showing wonderful form and hockey ability in practice, so much so that a regular berth has been offered him for the season.

His initial debut was made last Tuesday evening at Regina when the former trounced the Calgary Tigers to the tune of 5 to 4 in the opening game of the Prairie Professional Hockey League.

No doubt the above news will be received in local hockey circles with no little satisfaction as Roy during his sojourn here made a considerable hit with the fans on his aggressive and well timed hockey.

EARLY ICE

According to the Times Star, Saint John, that city is enjoying a rather unusual early rink season. Last Wednesday the Saint John hockey team held their first ice practice and are reported to be going "great guns." On Thursday evening the above Arena opened its doors for the season's activities of hockey and skating.

On the contrary the prevailing mild weather here is holding up ice making at the Arena, so that it is expected that the above will not be ready until Christmas night; consequently the Abegweit aggregation will be forced to wait a few weeks longer before giving the steel blades a merry ride.

The Abegweit line-up this season has all the earmarks of a winning combination and one that has every promise of making the best in the Maritimes stretch for the three province decision.

LEAVES FOR MEETING

Fred "Swede" Kelly, President of the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association leaves this morning for Amherst, N. S. where the semi-annual meeting takes place on Wednesday evening. While on the mainline Kelly will look into a number of grievances with reference to matters dealing with ice space, rink lighting, etc. Kelly, the Abegweit "war horse" of a goodly number of seasons is hopeful of another successful year in uniform.

ATTRACTIVE HOCKEY WINDOW

One of the large show windows of Fenwick and Charters, Queen Street, is attracting more than ordinary interest. It is a "hockey window" in every sense of the term. The main feature is the busting of C. C. M. hockey skates and other equipment, made by this well known firm. In the centre is a composite photograph of last year's world's professional hockey champions, the Montreal Maroons. Stretching the length of the window are individual photographs of the Abegweit hockey team. In the background, hockeys, skates, pucks and other equipment are artistically arranged, amongst which are placed large sized cuts of the Maroon Stars. All in all the window is very striking.

NOVEL CURLING TROPHIES

Four curling stones of solid silver with ivory handles, each stone being seven inches in diameter, 3-1/4 inches deep, and weighing 22 ounces, one stone to be won by each member of the winning rink, are being offered as trophies in a curling competition open to anyone, to be held in Switzerland this winter.

NURMI "SETS" THE STYLE

Most every boy in Finland hopes to be a Nurmi. Childhood dreams are not centered upon the presidency of the republic, but rather upon world championship in athletics.

For the present, the street urchin's height of ambition by the attainment of a wrist watch. Nurmi, he figures, is successful because he times his pace. Hence the first prerequisite for a future Nurmi is a time-piece. Watch makers expect to do a land office business this Christmas as Santa Claus is smothered with requests for wrist watches.

CARRIGAN RETURNS

Ten years ago, in 1916 to be exact, Bill Carrigan called the Boston Red Sox together and quietly, without emotion, said: "Boys you will have to get along without me next year." The explosion of a bomb could not have had a more startling effect on his players or on the fans throughout the country. He had just carried the Red Sox to their second world's series victory in succession. He was riding on top of one of baseball's biggest waves. He was at the height of his career as one of the great managers of the sport. And he retired, as few do or can, in the midst of success. It was predicted that Bill Carrigan would be back in the spring or at least at the end of the year. It was suggested that the staff of the game, in which he has been such an ornament as a player and such a success as a manager, would be beyond resistance. But the call was not so strong as to be beyond resistance. Years slipped by and Carrigan was forgotten by the fans or any case only recalled at intervals. Now he is back. His return to baseball is like a romance. Carrigan is bold. He left the Red Sox on the heights; he comes back to find them in the lowest depths. In 1916 he said: "Boys, you'll have to get along without me." They could not. Slowly they drifted back and down. It is his purpose now to rebuild and carry them to where he left them. It may take two years, three or four, but somehow I feel that he will succeed. He is that kind.

SENATORS GOING STRONG

Not even automobile accidents are stopping the Ottawa Senators in their mad dash to the N.H.L. championship; their victory Friday night being their eighth of the season. The only blemish to their season's record is an overtime tie in Toronto with St. Pats, a club they enter in the line-up for this match.

INSIDIOUS EYE STRAIN

We use this adjective advisedly.

Sufferers from Eyestrain may have perfect vision and therefore do not suspect the presence of any eye defect.

The motive power of the entire human organism is Nerve Energy.

Normal eyes, it is computed utilize about 20% of this Nerve Energy, but when Eyestrain is present, a much larger proportion is required. Hence defective eyes, through their consumption of an excessive amount of Nerve Energy may seriously affect the functioning of other organs of the body and produce ill health.
