NO AGREEMENT OVER WORK PROJECT BY S'SIDE COUNCIL

No relief was offered the Summerside workmen at the meeting of the Town Council last night, which was adjourned on last Friday when the Council promised the workmen a definite answer to their petition for work. The Mayor and Council discussed concrete streets, black top streets and electric units, but at the close of the meeting nothing in the way of a promise of work had been offered to the large delegation of workmen, who filled the council chamber and adjoining rooms and hall.

Speaking for the labouring men, Mr. Jerry Bernard explained the workmen's situation. Over two hundred men were wanting work and only about 50 had been employed at the school.

Coun. MacKay said he sympathized with the workmen but stated that according to a decision handed down by the recorder, the council could not reopen the estimates, when the council was not a unit.

Councillor MacKay wished it understood that he supported the Warren Paving Co., for the sole reason that theirs was the lowest tender and that they promised to employ town labour.

"We cannot build the streets because the Mayor does not see it fit to pass the motion. He insists the motion is out of order," protested Coun. MacKay.

Coun. Grady said he would support a motion giving the Warren Paving Co. the contract. He favored a motion for the gutters to be cleaned out thus giving a little work to the men, but Coun. Bishop said that would only last two days.

"What," asked Mr. Bernard, "if the Warren Paving Co. do have the contract, we can only work for a month now and winter will be here. But a month is better than nothing. Let us have work."

The Mayor and councillors could not come to an agreement and the matter stood as it was.

A letter was read from the recorder stating that the Town Council could not close any street without an act of parliament, so the councillors did not know what they could do about Beaver street, which had been closed to allow the school extension to be built out to the north. The matter was left in abeyance.

The petition for extension of water to the north of the school could not be granted as that was not in the estimates.

Fishermens Meeting At Mount Carmel

Despite the downpour of rain and bad condition of the roads, the fishermen's meeting at Mount Carmel was largely attended. Mr. Cyrus F. Gallant, manager of the co-operative fishing business at Mount Carmel, presided at the meeting and in a brief introductory speech outlined the objects of the meeting.

Mr. C. P. McCarthy of Tignish then addressed the meeting, giving a summary of events leading up to the organization of the Provincial Fishermen's Union and setting forth in detail its objects and strongly advocating the need of united action on the part of the fishermen.

Mr. Marcus Calder of the Canadian National Express Company told the meeting what his Company were doing to improve transportation facilities for live lobsters to the American markets at specially reduced rates. The information given by Mr. Calder was received with much interest. Other speakers were Mr. Bruno Gallant, who gave a very instructive address, Mr. Edmund Gaudet, and the chairman, Mr. Cyrus F. Gallant, who in a final summary of the topics under discussion strongly supported the co-operative movement among fishermen. Much enthusiasm prevailed and the whole tone of the meeting was unanimous in its opinion of the advantages to be derived from a Province-wide organization.

kind of startled. I was nervous of him, so I told him to get in the back seat."

Koenecke changed seats and after a while grabbed the pilot by the back of the neck.

Then for a while there was no further disturbance but a short time later Mulquency said he looked around and saw Davis and Mulquency wrestling. The pilot had heard no words because of an open window that permitted the roar of the motor to enter.

Davis yelled, "help me, Bill," said the pilot, who "looked back and saw Koenecke on top of Davis, whose arms were pinned beside him."

Davis yelled again, "give her the gun and get down out of here."

"I kicked the throttle as far down as it would go and started to look for a place to land," said Mulquency. "Davis was still yelling so I grabbed the extinguisher and let him have it. I don't know how many times I hit him, but it was three or four times at least. I put him out."

BUG RUINING FIELDS OF SWEET CLOVER

Death Of Mr. Raymond Brown Of Richmond

Friends will regret to learn of the death of Mr. Raymond Brown, which occurred yesterday at noon at his home in Richmond. Mr. Brown had been in indifferent health for some years, but nevertheless his death came as a great shock to friends all over the province. Mr. Brown was born in Grand River and was the son of the late James E. Brown. Mr. Brown taught school for two years and then entered St. Dunstan's University where he graduated with honors. His career was cut short, however, with poor health, much to the regret of all who knew him.

Mr. Brown had a charming personality, was well read and could converse on any subject. About six years ago he came with his mother, Mrs. Margaret Brown to Richmond and was connected with the business of MacDonald and Brown. He made many friends there who will miss his cheery greeting and warm handclasp. He was a valued member of the Knights of Columbus.

He leaves to mourn his mother, two sisters, Miss Selma Raymond of Notre Dame Convent, Charlotteville and Mrs. Linus MacDonald of Richmond and four brothers, Dr. John Brown of Boston, who is expected home this evening, Justin and William Brown of Pittsburgh and Alphonse on the old homestead at Grand River. Much sympathy is extended to the family in their bereavement. The funeral arrangements will be made later.—S.

Would Put Gold On List Of Commodities

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

OTTAWA, Sept. 19—Delegates to the second conference of British Commonwealth Statisticians today expressed the view that gold should be treated as a commodity like any other merchandise owing to the fact its price has risen and because it has no par value in many countries.

The conferees also discussed the desirability of establishing a list of leading commodities in which trade is conducted by countries of the commonwealth. The list would be in such a form that all could use it. It was explained such a list would be useful to countries negotiating trade agreements.

In the gold discussion delegates inquired of the yellow metal was less simple in countries like Canada, South Africa, Australia, and India which produce it than in those which are not producers.

Sees No Possibility Of Canada Being Asked To Prepare For War

Groom - Simpson Nuptials

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at high noon on Wednesday, September 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Simpson, Kensington, when his youngest daughter, Ella Belle, was united in marriage to Mr. T. Vaughan Groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Groom of Summerside.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. Williamson of Malpeque in the presence of the immediate relatives.

A bank of autumn flowers and fern made a perfect setting for the bridal party.

Miss Miriam Profit played the Wedding March as the bride entered the dining room on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. The bride looked very lovely in a royal blue chiffon velvet dress with rhinestone trimmings. Her hair was kept in place with a lovely tiara set with rhinestones. Her bouquet was white carnations and fern.

Her cousin, Miss Vera MacLeod, R. N., was her bridesmaid and was very charmingly gowned in a yellow chiffon dress. She carried a bouquet of white asters.

Mr. Anson Pickering supported the groom. During the signing of the register, Miss Dorothy MacKenzie of the staff of the Bank of Nova Scotia sang very sweetly, "Dawning."

Immediately after the ceremony dinner was served to the guests in the dining room which was tastefully arranged with cut flowers. Shortly after, amidst a shower of confetti Mr. and Mrs. Groom left on a wedding tour to Boston and New York City.

The bride travelled in a green suit with brown hat and shoes. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Groom will reside in Summerside, where their many friends wish them a happy journey through life.

The bride is a graduate of the Prince County Hospital and has many friends in Summerside. Previous to her marriage, Mrs. Groom was the guest of honor at several functions when she was the recipient of some very lovely gifts. The Guardian extends congratulations.—S.

Effect of Sanctions

Mr. Rowell said the obligation to sever all trade, financial and personal relations with Italy would be clear and inescapable if members of the League carried out their obligations when Italy became an attacking nation. The sanctions were not applicable unless the state actually resorted to war.

"If Mussolini should resort to war, I believe an economic and financial boycott by all the members of the League would soon compel him to stop the war," the former cabinet minister asserted. "The financial and economic position of Italy is such that she could not stand a prolonged financial and economic boycott."
