CANON TROOP LECTURES ON PALESTINE CAMPAIGN

Splendid Address In St. Paul's Hall, Last Night.

Yesterday evening commencing at 8.00 p. m. Rev. Canon Troop gave an interesting and gripping address in St. Paul's parish hall on the subject of "A British officer's experience in connection with General Allenby's Campaign."

The meeting opened with Canon Troop's favorite hymn "Breathe on me Breath of God". Rev. H. D. Raymond acted as chairman and after a few introductory remarks called upon Canon Troop to address the gathering.

Canon Troop then rose and expressed himself as much pleased at again having the opportunity of lecturing in the city, recalling his past pleasant association with St. Pauls Church.

The subject matter of his lecture was taken from the book entitled "The Romance of the Last Crusade written by a British officer, Major Gilbert, who played a part in the Palestine Campaign. He outlined the preparations made for the capture of Jerusalem—how the waters of the Nile were filtered and piped under the Suez Canal and carried over 200 miles across the desert—how the army was one year in crossing—how a road of chicken wire laid over the sand and was used as a highway for the march of soldiers and for motor lorries and transports. The army constructed a railway as they went along, and some idea of the vastness of the whole project may be realized from the fact that 40,000 camels were used by the force.

There is an old Arab saying that "when the Nile flows into Palestine then shall the prophet from the west drive the Turk out of Jerusalem. The words "al nebi", meaning in Arabic "prophet from the west" bear a remarkable resemblance to "Allenby" the name of the general who laid the campaign. This fact gave the General great prestige in the sight of the natives.

Canon Troop dwelt very strongly upon the great discipline and self denial practiced by the British soldiers in one instance in particular where, after struggling across a dry and acrid region without water they captured a stronghold and, almost consumed with a terrible thirst, waited their turn, some for about four hours, for a drink of water, which was flowing through tanks about seven yards away from them—thousands of gallons.

As the soldiers drew nearer to the city of Jerusalem they were greatly impressed with the scenery and people with whom they came in contact, chiefly because it all bore such a religious significance, bringing so vividly to mind scenes and stories which they had previously encountered only in the Bible.

When the Holy City was captured by the British forces a tremendous thrill was experienced in England. General Allenby would not allow the British flag to be raised over the city, saying that Britain was holding it in trust for Israel. It is reported that the Red Cross flag was raised.

Canon Troop brought his address to a close by saying that the majority never knew privation such as was experienced by some of these heroes of the Palestine Campaign. Air and water, he said were the great symbols of the Holy Spirit. Christ faced all the powers of darkness to win for us the living water of life and he stands ready to give to all, saying, "If any more thirst let him come unto Me and drink."

In concluding, Canon Troop thanked all present for the kind attention given him and also for the hearty welcome accorded him by the pastor Rev. H. D. Raymond, and the congregation.

The solo "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say" was then—beautifully rendered by Mrs. Ewen McKinnon, after which Rev. H. D. Raymond rose and announced that Bishop Taylor Smith would be in Charlottetown at some time early in December and commended him to all who could possibly come to hear him preach.

After the singing of the hymn "Jesus Shall Reign" Canon Troop dismissed the gathering with the benediction.

TRANSATLANTIC PHONE SERVICE INAUGURATED

British Prime Minister and Premier King Carried on Conversation—Slight Static Interference at Times Made Hearing Difficult.

(Special to the Guardian)

OTTAWA, Ont. 3. — With fairly good success the trans-Atlantic telephone service between Canada and Great Britain was inaugurated this morning when, in turn, Premier Baldwin and Premier King, Hon. Ernest LaPointe and Mr. Leach, of the British post office, Mr. A. T. Ahearn, of Ottawa and Mr. W. H. Valentine, of London, exchanged greetings.

The conversations were conducted between the prime minister's office here and Mr. Baldwin's office at 10 Downing Street. A party of high officials of the Bell Telephone Co., and the Government and newspaper correspondents listened in. Communication improved after more or less static interruption experienced at first but gradually this cleared away.

Just as the parliamentary clock rang out ten a buzzer signified the establishment of connection. "Hello, Mr. Baldwin", was the first greeting of the Canadian Premier. "Good morning," Mr. Mckenzie King", returned the British prime minister. "I hear your voice distinctly," Mr. King added. Then static interference made hearing more difficult.

In a moment the air cleared and Mr. Baldwin delivered his message. "I congratulate Canada," he said, "on being elected to a seat on the council of the League of Nations, and I also offer my congratulations on the establishment of the trans-Atlantic telephone service. It will bring us more closely together." The British prime minister's voice faded somewhat in the concluding sentences in which he renewed his thanks to the people of Canada in connection with his recent visit.

Mr. King replied: "I received your cable message of congratulations of Canada securing a seat on the League of Nations Council and I am pleased to have it repeated over the phone. There is no doubt that this service furnishes a new link which will draw us more closely together. May I repeat how delighted we all were with your visit and that of the Royal Princes. I hope this service may be of similar effect to the successful radio broadcast on the occasion of Confederation Jubilee. Good morning and thanks."

The Hon. Ernest LaPointe spoke to Mr. Leach, director of telephones in the British post offices. "I wish to send you my congratulations," he said, "on this successful communication and to hope that I may see you in person." Mr. Leach replied that there was "no doubt of the superiority of the spoken over the written word. This service over thousands of miles of ocean will strengthen the ties and bind more closely the mother country and Canada."

"We heard every word you sent and I reciprocate your sentiments," said Mr. LaPointe.

Mr. Valentine of the London telephone service next spoke to Mr. T. Ahearn, a director of the Bell telephone company and a pioneer expert in electrical services. Mr. Valentine extended his congratulations along similar lines to the others and Mr. Ahearn replied that he had heard the message and particularly on behalf of the electrical companies of Canada, he expressed appreciation and thanks and extended his best wishes.

This ended the conversations. While they were in progress still and motion pictures were taken. The service is now available between points in Great Britain and Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton and Quebec. A three minute talk cost $75.

WHERE IS THE PROHIBITION SENTIMENT TODAY?

Read The Excerpts From Liberal Propagandists' Addres ses During The Election In View Of The Now Declared Policy Of The Saunders Liquor Commission To Run The Vendorships "In A Business-Like Way."

DR. HOUSTON AT LIBERAL DEMONSTRATION IN CHARLOTTETOWN

"I realize full well that the great bulk of the alcohol now being consumed and which has been procured by a Doctor's certificate, is taken as a beverage and not as a medicine."

Rev. A. A. McLeod's Radio Address.

"There are two questions about his (Mr. Saunders) policy that have been brought to my attention on different occasions. One is in regard to the announcement made about cheaper liquors, and the other in regard to the plebiscite in 1929.

"Dealing with cheaper liquor first I wish to say that the only meaning that possibly could be taken out of that statement is that Mr. Saunders was following the lead of Premier Arsenault, who said "that it was not the purpose of the Prohibition Act that one dollar should be made from the sale of liquor for revenue purposes." What Mr. Saunders is saying is that if his party is elected they will not use the Prohibition Act for revenue purposes, that the profits on the sale of liquor will be only enough to pay for the legitimate expenses of the enforcement of the Act. He is preaching against a profit of $57,000 or more being made on the poor sick people of this province on selling liquor for medicine. He is promising that liquor will not be sold for revenue but only sold for medicinal purposes. A strict check will be kept on the doctors to see that they do not abuse their privileges and the profits will be only enough to pay the expenses of the enforcement of the Act."

Mr. W. E. Bentley Over the Radio.

"The Commission last year were able to hand over $57,000 in profits to the government by not enforcing the law, by neither prosecuting nor taking away the right to prescribe liquor from the doctors who violated it, by not prosecuting the persons who were getting liquor for pretended medicinal purposes, and who were using it as a beverage."

Hon. A. C. Saunders' Pre-election Address.

"I say liquor is the greatest curse we have in this country today. You know it as well as I do. If it is wrong to use it as a beverage, ask yourself: Shall I do right or shall I do wrong? When you vote on election day for a Prohibition candidate, what will you say? I believe that liquor should not be used as a beverage."

Rev. H. D. Raymond's Pre-election Sermon.

"No self-respecting man, speaking without bias, has a good word to say for the drink traffic.

"But someone will say is it not useful as a medicine? It has been so considered and is so considered by a good many people. The answer is that the best doctors say not.

"In North America, no man stands higher in repute as a surgeon than Dr. Mayo. He states emphatically that it has no place as a medicine.

"Such renowned physicians in the Old Land as Sir Victor Horsley, Professor of Pathology in University College Hospital, London. Sir Frederick Treves, Surgeon General to His Majesty the King, and Sir Thomas Barlow, Physician to the King, make similar statements. Hundreds upon hundreds of physicians and surgeons will not have it in their practice.

"I may say that I personally have been surprised to find that this is the case. A few months ago in the office of our local hospital I was discussing this matter with one of our bright young physicians. He told me he does not use it for medicine. I said, "But Doctor, is it not a good stimulant." He replied, "Yes, but there are better ones more easily administered, and without such deleterious effects." He said further, "In this room, in this hospital there were present a few days ago, five doctors. I asked them, 'If these shelves were full of alcoholic liquors for your use, for what purposes would you prescribe them?' They all replied, 'We do not prescribe liquor as a medicine for any purpose.'

"My friends, the idea that liquor is a medicine is an outworn idea. I have thought it was good; you have thought it was good. It is not any more."

Notwithstanding all these pre-election assertions and promises among the first acts of the Saunders Liquor Commission is to budget for some $215,000 worth of liquor rates per annum, and to declare that the trade must be run "in a business-like way." The cynicism is characteristic—high-toned morality must give place to sordid dollars and cents—the much despised and anathematized 'blood money' of pre-election oratory. The hypocrisy and blatant imposture of the Liberals is enough to make the angels weep.

MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED IN MEXICO CITY

Gen. Momez Accused of Instigating a Mutiny Among Federal Troops in Mexican Capital—Deserting Regiments Pursued by Airplanes.

(Canadian Press)

NOGALES, Ariz., Oct. 3. —Advices to the Nogales Herald today say that martial law was proclaimed in Mexico City. Two squadrons of aeroplanes are reported to have departed from Mexico City this morning shortly after it was learned that three Mexican regiments had deserted the garrison and had taken the road to Puebla. A battle was expected momentarily between the mutineers and the federals.

NOGALES, Ariz., Oct. 3. —Orders to arrest all known sympathizers of Gen. Arnulo R. Momez, Mexican presidential candidate, who with Francesco Zerrano, also a candidate for president, is accused of instigating a mutiny of federal troops in Mexico City, were received by Gen. Pablo M. Macias, commandant of the Nogales, Sonora, Garrison, late today.

NOGALES, Ariz., Oct. 3. —Semi-official despatches reaching here today reported that twenty rebels were killed and scores wounded in a rout of bandits by Mexican federal troops near Guzman, Malisco, last Saturday. The fighting lasted four hours. The reports said that the prisoners taken were to be executed immediately.

VERA CRUZ, Mex., Oct. 3. —The military authorities here shortly after noon today ordered the suspension of train service on the Mexican and Inter-oceanic railways connecting this city with the Mexican capital.

OFFICE WHICH CECIL QUIT IS VERY ANCIENT AND PECULIAR

Post Of Chancellor Of The Duchy Of Lancaster Has Been Held By 38 Men In 60 Years.

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 3. —Viscount Cecil's resignation recently from the Office of Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster in the Cabinet of Premier Baldwin has aroused more than ordinary public interest and not for 40 years since John Bright resigned from it, has the office been so prominently before the public as it has been over the resignation of Viscount Cecil. He was appointed in 1924 and resigned after the failure of the tripartite naval conference at Geneva in August, 1927, when the representatives of Great Britain, United States and Japan failed to agree on a reduction in naval armament. Viscount Cecil and Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Minister, represented Great Britain at the conference.

The post of Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster is not one involving matters of public policy being charged only with the duty of managing the Duchy estates which belong to the King. Often it is chosen as a means of including in the Cabinet distinguished men who will be useful in a non-departmental way. It is not a post which anyone has held for long.

In the 60 years which have passed since it was set up in its present form there have been 38 Chancellors. In two periods of 19 months there were six each—1884 to 1886 and 1915 to 1916.

The Chancellor of the Duchy appoints all the County Court Judges and J. P.'s for Lancashire.

The County of Lancaster was erected into a Duchy by Edward III. for his son John of Gaunt in 1377 but in 1399 it became merged in the Crown through the accession of John of Gaunt's son as Henry IV. The revenue of the Duchy of Lancaster in 1925 amounted to £140,489 out of which the sum of £70 000 was paid to the Keeper of King George's Privy Purse for his Majesty's use The salary of the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster is £2,000 per annum.

The revenue of the Duchy is chiefly derived from rents and royalties.

Remains Of Large City Found On African Coast

NAIRBOI, British East Africa, Oct. 3. — Remains of a great city, apparently of splendor and importance, have been discovered by investigating scientists near Gesia on the Kenya Colony coast.

The remains include a fortress-like wall, six miles long, a gorgeous palace containing ornate baths, beautiful mosques, rare metal work and other evidence of ancient culture.

So completely had the city been forgotten that an almost impenetrable forest now covers the remains.

It is not known whether the city was of Arabic or Persian origin.

Wilbur Replies To U. S. Airmen

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3. — Edward F. Schlee's complaint that the Navy Department had failed to co-operate in his unsuccessful venture to fly around the world with William S. Brock is met by Secretary Wilbur with the statement that as long as he is Secretary of the Navy, he will not permit the department "to aid and abet any man who attempted to commit suicide."

Schlee and Brock, the Secretary said, requested the department to establish a radio beacon on the Midway Islands to guide them in their flight over the Pacific, but that the department declined to do so.

"I also understand that they asked for some maps", he said. "The maps cost 50 cents each and if they had asked the Secretary for a loan of 50 cents they could have got it."

Hindenburg Gets Great Ovation On 80th. Birthday

(Special to The Guardian)

BERLIN, Oct. 3.—Von Hindenburg was first in the hearts of his countrymen today as never before. Not since William I. led the German army through the Brandenburger gate in 1871, on their return from the Franco-Prussian war, has Berlin witnessed an ovation like that showered on Paul Von Hindenburg today on the occasion of his eighty-ieth birthday.

Hindenburg the man that found an outlet in the veritable drumfire cheering which echoed and re-echoed along the route which he traversed, but its political significance is set down as a tangible asset to the German republic for the president's natal day was the signal for a political truce in which his services to the new Germany found free acknowledgement from friend and foe alike. The colors of the republic predominated in the display of bunting.

Action Is One Sided

Face Not Copyright

(By British United Press)

BERLIN, Oct. 3. —A Caricature is not a calumny, according to the decision of the Dresden Appeal Court.

The Burgomaster of Meissen—celebrated for its artistic productions in the shape of pottery—was deeply incensed by what he considered the misrepresentation of his august features by an artist in a local paper.

He took the case to court, and the artist was fined $12 and costs. An appeal was lodged, and various well-known artists were called. They convinced the court that a public man has no copyright as regards his own features, and the judgment of the lower court was reversed.

The unhappy burgomaster is now the butt of witticisms, not only locally but throughout the whole country.

Addressed Members Of Canadian Club

(Special to The Guardian)

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—Describing himself as the official representative, spokesman and interpreter throughout the dominion of his countrymen and women, Hon. William Phillips, United States Minister to Canada, addressed the members of the Canadian Club at the noon luncheon at the King Edward Hotel today. At the outset, Mr. Phillips thanked the members of the club for their invitation, for conceiving it his duty and pleasure to come to know Toronto he had been wondering how he should go about it when the invitation arrived. Already, he said, he had begun to feel at home.

Mr. Phillips paid tribute to Hon. Vincent Massey who, he said is "representing the Dominion in a way that should make all Canadians feel justly proud." He added that in a sense "it is through the appointment of Mr. Massey and myself that the world has been notified that Canada has become of age and should be treated accordingly."

End Coal Tie-up In Illinois

(Special to The Guardian)

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Illinois bituminous coal operators and miners yesterday reached an agreement whereby the mines will resume operations after being idle six months. The agreement ended the longest suspension in the history of Illinois and one of the longest in the history of the coal industry. The settlement in Illinois will be followed by a resumption of relations in other states which suspended on April 1.

PARIS DEMANDS RECALL OF RUSSIAN ENVOY

No Break Desired Is Claim, but Official Circles Are Pessimistic.

MOSCOW, Oct. 3. —The French cabinet's decision to demand the recall of M. Rakovsky, Soviet Ambassador at Paris, though coupled with a declaration of the French government's desire to continue negotiations for the settlement of Russia's debt to France, has given rise to decided pessimism in official circles, not only concerning the fate of the debt negotiations, but with regard to the diplomatic relations of the two countries.

The Soviet authorities and press appraise the decision as a victory for the British "die hards" led by Sir Henri Deterding, who is generally believed here to have chosen Paris as a strategic point for fighting Soviet oil.

(Deterding is director general of the Royal Dutch Petroleum Company and director the Shell Transport and Trading Company, Ltd.)

The newspaper Pravda says: "Deterding cannot and does not desire to abandon his monopoly of the French oil market, and his representatives continue lobbing in the Paris editorial offices, buying the mercenary pens of French journalists. The black hundred—the French military group headed by Millerand, Coty and Foch—continue their program policy. No Rupture Desired

PARIS, Oct. 3. —The recall of M. Rakovsky, Soviet Ambassador to France, by the Moscow government, is regarded here in semi-official circles as likely to occur during the week. This follows the presentation to M. Tchitcherin, Soviet Foreign Minister, yesterday, of a note drafted by the Council of Ministers at Rambouillet. Friday, it is, however, insisted in Paris that no rupture with Moscow is desired, the Rakovsky affair being a personal one, as he is now personal non grata.

Nevertheless it is feared that the negotiations for the settlement of Russia's pre-war debt to France, began by M. Rakovsky, will be abandoned and that new negotiations must be initiated by direct dealings between the two governments.

M. Rakovsky is charged with the French government with having interfered in the internal affairs of France by inciting workers to rebel

Storm Swept Over British Isles

LONDON, Oct., 3. — The King and Queen drove to Church at Balmoral Scotland, yesterday in a snow storm.

The whole of the British Isles experienced a gale over the week end with winds varying from 50 to 70 miles an hour, accompanied in the northern districts by very low temperatures.

Six deaths and many injuries were reported from falling trees, walls and chimneys.

University Of Leeds Receives Rich Gift

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 3.—A sum of £100,000 has been given to Leeds University by a donor who wishes to remain unknown for the time being. The money is earmarked for the new library buildings, the most important feature of the extension scheme. It is the largest gift ever received by the University.

The authorities are appealing for £500,000 for the development and extensions, and this magnificent gift brings the response up to £400,-354.

The following is the letter to the Vice-Chancellor, Dr. J. G. Baillie, announcing the gift.

"My Dear Vice-Chancellor,— On the suggestion of my friend, Sir Charles Wilson, (M. P. for Central Leeds) I have decided to offer to the Leeds University—to defray the costs of the new library buildings—a sum not exceeding £100,000. I desire, for the moment, that my name should not be disclosed in the matter. Later it may that the University will honor me by attaching by name to the Library permanent-

Toronto Doctor Gets Appointment

(Special to The Guardian)

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—Dr. H. D. Delamere, of 70 Lydhurst Avenue has been appointed by the department of immigration to go over to England to join the immigration service there. He expects to sail for London on October 31. Dr. Delamere along with about 20 other physicians are to be permanently stationed at British and continental ports of departure and will be given full authority to pass on the physical fitness of immigrants desiring to settle in Canada.

It is understood there is to be no interference whatever with their decisions. Every immigrant will be required to pass a very severe examination, and must present an absolutely clean bill of health or he will be rejected. These physicians are to go over to England in small groups during the next few weeks. They will proceed direct to London to receive instructions and from there be allotted to different stations throughout the British Isles and on the Continent.

France And U. S. Deadlocked On Tariff Question

(Special to The Guardian)

PARIS, Oct. 3.—France and the United States appear deadlocked in their negotiations for settlement of the pending tariff controversy. Publication today of memoranda exchanged recently indicates that France continues to demand assurances of reciprocity in the negotiations while Washington in its note delivered at the Quai d'orsay last week insists upon most favored nation treatment.

New Road Peril

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 3. —A new road peril was demonstrated in Queen Victoria street, E. C., recently when, as the result of a collision, a can of petrol was knocked off the footboard of a motor-car and the spirit became ignited by a lighted cigarette end or match thrown down by some passer-by. The road was set ablaze for nearly 100 yards.

With commendable presence mind, a street cleaner promptly shovelled sand from a street bin on to the road and thus greatly helped to keep the fire in check. Then five fire engines arrived and subdued the flames, with extinguishers.
