KITCHENER IN TRIUMPH; MEKHUEN IN DISGRACE.

The Man Who Ended the War Warmly Welcomed and the Victim of Magersfontein Ignored.

LONDON, July 10.—Lord Kitchener has become the hero of the Radicals and Progressives, because he is credited with having brought the war to a close by insisting upon magnanimous terms for a brave enemy.

Both political camps will unite in welcoming him home this week.

His next command will probably be in India, but he will likely remain until the end of the year in England, where he can be consulted by the War and Colonial offices respecting the settlement in South Africa.

Lord Methuen's return to England has been as quiet as Lord Kitchener's welcome will be demonstrative.

Methuen remained in South Africa for a longer period than any others of the generals of the original army corps of which so much was expected, and by which so little was accomplished.

He has risen in public estimation in consequence of the British grit he shows in persisting in seeing things through. Notwithstanding his final defeat and capture, he has a better public reputation than Gen. Buller or the other original generals, with the exception of General French.

General White, who has been properly reticent since the relief of Lady Smith, has profited by Buller's publication of the budget of war correspondence, and is now accounted one of the most gallant and faithful soldiers of the British army.
BACK TO THE FARMS.

A steady stream of repatriated burghers says the Times' correspondent at Johannesburg, has recently been returning home. The Boers are supplied with tents, equipments, and rations for one month. This week the general return begins by Government transport of those not possessing horses and cars of their own.

A local commission in each district will assist in the restoration of the people to their homes, supplying food, shelter, seeds, and stock when necessary. Each commission will be under the presidency of the resident magistrate, and will exercise broad discretion in making grants with regard to present needs, not with regard to the position of the families before the war.

The correspondent points out that the national scouts (Boers who fought on the British side) deserve preferential treatment, and are as anxious as the others to return to their normal life. Not more than 400 of these will return to their own farms. Many of them may take advantage of the Government land settlement schemes.

This week a group of settlers possessing some capital will be established in the Ermelo district. These include more than fifty New Zealanders.

The sum of £3,000,000 will be put at the disposal of the local commissioners for the settlement of claims for war losses. When a successful claimant has received no supplies, his share will be paid in cash. In other cases the value of the supplies granted will be deducted.

THE EDITOR'S MAIL.

Likes The Island Best.

SIR,—Receiving The Guardian every week makes me think of the good old times spent on the Island last winter and the more experience I have of living in other places, the more I think people should be satisfied in that "Garden of Eden." I have had considerable experience of living in South America, a country which some people rave about and in South Africa, where I went through the campaign with the Seaforth Highlanders, and also in many other parts of the world but in no other place have I met with such friendly and whole souled people as the residents of Prince Edward Island, where every thing is done to make the stranger feel at home and have a good time.

I am at present living in Regina, the Capital of the Territories, a town not quite as large as Charlottetown, and it only has the advantage in one thing and that is mud. Regina is not the Dominion over for the quantity and quality of its mud. The west is a go-ahead country, but for the joys of living transport me to the Island.

I have had the pleasure of meeting many old Island people in the west, and in all cases they are doing well and have a prosperous future before them.

I take this means of thanking the people I came in contact with on the Island for the good time they gave me whilst among them, but especially those times I spent between Starchel and Rose Valley, where I spent one of the best times in my career. Wishing The Guardian every success, and which I can assure you is a welcome visitor.

Yours truly,
DAN MACAULAY.

Burning, Itching, Stinging Piles

If people could only realize the virtue of Dr. Chase's Ointment they would not suffer long with piles.

Mr. W. H. Whitehair, a well-known and respected citizen, of Cobourg, Ont., states:—"Having used Dr. Chase's Ointment for piles, I can testify to its great value. The suffering which I endured from the burning, itching, stinging sensation of piles was something awful, and I can say that there is nothing in this world to equal Dr. Chase's Ointment as a cure for this dreadful disease. I tried a great many remedies and never got more than slight relief from any of them. But while Dr. Chase's Ointment brought quick relief it went further and made a thorough cure. I cannot say too much in recommendation of this great remedy."

This is the only preparation which is positively guaranteed to cure any form of piles. Ask your neighbors about it. 60c. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
