Governor Smith's Portrait

By special request Mrs. Anne Winsloe Wright of Charlottetown recently presented the trustees of the Confederation Chambers, a portrait of her great grandfather, Sir Charles Douglas Smith, who was governor of the Island province from 1813 to 1835. The photo was sent to Mrs. Wright by her cousin Colonel Sidney Harvest, 4 Gloucester Mansions, London, England, who is a great grandson of Governor Smith.

The long desired portrait is now hanging in its rightful place and completes the array of Governors and administrators from the time His Excellency Walter Paterson ruled in 1770.

Twenty-eight Governors and two administrators have been in office since that time.

Protestant Orphanage Information For Contributors

When asked to subscribe to the running expenses of this institution consider carefully and base on these facts:

The unfortunate children already in the Orphanage and many more seeking admission need your help.

All funds entrusted to the management are most carefully expended and always fully and clearly accounted for.

Without your help the work cannot go on, for there is practically no other source from which to obtain necessary funds.

All collectors do their work free and every cent is received and acknowledged; there are no commissions paid anyone for helping with this work for these children.

Collectors will begin their work on November 1st; be sympathetic and kind to them and fair with yourself and these unfortunate children

Bills for winter supplies of clothing, food and fuel are amounting to much more than the present available funds but the management has god reason to be proud of the generosity of the thoughtful public and an abundance of faith that this year's collection will again be sufficient to provide the necessaries for these unfortunate little ones.

Once and only once each year are you asked to give to this work; remember this year the need is greater so be generous and enjoy bringing comfort and pleasure to children waiting to be given a chance in life.

Australian Flyer Abandons Trip

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

LONDON, Oct. 25. — Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, intrepid Australian flier, returned to London tonight, announcing he had abandoned his attempted England-Australia record flight, but at the same time said he probably would make another attempt in about eight days.

He reported damage to the plane, the Lady Southern Cross, from formation of ice on the wings, when he and his co-pilot, J. T. Prethybridge, landed at Croydon Airdrome at 7:55 P. M. from Marseille, France, after starting their return trip this morning at Brindisi, Italy.

The poor weather which forced them to land at Brindisi last night continued this morning, causing cancellation of their plan to try to break the England-to-Australia record of C. W. A. Scott and Capt. Tom Campbell Black, made in the air derby of 1934, of 70 hours 59 minutes.

Unidentified Plane Found at Edmundston

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

EDMUNDSTON, N. B., Oct. 25. — Identification of a seaplane wrecked some years ago in dense woods of Madawaska County remained unknown tonight. Recent discovery, by two young trappers, of the moss-covered wreckage in lonely wilderness about 80 miles east of Edmundston was first reported here last night.

Officials still held to a generally accepted theory that the plane was one of a squadron known to have been engaged years ago in running contraband liquor from northern New Brunswick and the Gaspe Coast of Quebec. No credence was placed in rumors linking the wreck with the land plane of the French aviators Nungesser and Coli who disappeared, presumably in the Atlantic, after leaving Paris in 1927 for a projected hop over the ocean.

The case may remain a mystery for all time. Investigators would require a week to reach the scene on Gulamite Mountain by foot. Other alternatives of travel would be via the Restigouche River or by plane to the nearest suitable clearing or water.

A report from the Edmundston detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police was awaited at Fredericton head-quarters. Arrangements for further investigation may depend upon instructions from Ottawa. The R. C. M. P. tonight had not made any plans to send investigators to Gulamite Mountain.

The wreckage was reported by William Levesque, Jr., and Theophile Ruest, trappers of Ste. Anne. They said they had not noticed any human remains but had not searched for any. The pontoon-equipped plane was badly broken with its engine half-buried in the ground. Rusty cans and rotted blankets were strewn about the spot.

Fishermen Want Government Loan

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

SYDNEY, N. S., Oct. 25. — The Canadian Government will be asked to amend the Farm Loan Act to make loans available to fishermen, it was revealed at the concluding session of the Sixth Annual Convention of United Maritime Fishermen here.

The opinion was expressed that fishermen who "risked their lives" to provide a basic product for Canadians were entitled to more assistance from their government. There should be "more humanity" in the fisheries loan system.

Canneries will also be urged through resolutions to provide for preserving other types of fish besides lobsters. Mackerel and tuna were particularly suggested.

The advertising campaign projected by the Canadian Fishery Association should be devoted to publication of all kinds of fish and not only to fresh fish, in the opinion of Rev. Father Boudrot of Petit de Grat, who addressed the convention. He suggested western markets should be developed for dry cod and called for more attention to the canned fish industry.

Alfred Hanlon of Canso, N. S., was unanimously re-elected President of the Union. Bert Wilcox, Louisburg, was chosen Vice-president. Regional directors will include William Morrison for North and Eastern New Brunswick and Alfred Dwyer for South and Eastern New Brunswick.

Had Wild Ride On Deer's Antlers

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

HARRISON MILLS, B. C., Oct. 25—Sstanley Hubert, 13 month old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hubert, had a wild ride today on the antlers of a frightened deer but escaped being carried into the wilderness when threads of a sweater by which he was caught gave way.

Stanley and his five year old sister, Mary, were playing together outside their home whes the buck deer strayed into the garden, wandered up to the children and licked the baby's face. Stanley was frightened and raised his arms to protect his face and his red wool sweater became entangled with the buck's antlers.

"The deer was not afraid," Mary said afterwards. "He came up to us and licked Stan's face but Stan didn't like it and cried then the deer ran away with Stan."

Cries of the children brought Mrs. Hubert to the door in time to see her baby being carried off at top speed, swinging on the dee's antlers and heading for Steel Head Creek, 100 yards away.

Her screams brought neighbors to the scene and they followed the animal's track to where the creek is spanned by a single log 30 feet long and 10 feet above the shallow waters.

The deer had evidently dashed wildly across the log. The amazed searchers scanned the stream for signs of the child and a lusty cry from among nearby trees drew their attention. Stanley was discovered among the trees, uninjured. The venturesome deer had vanished.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. HAMILTON LEARD

The whole community of North Rustico and surrounding districts were saddened by the death of Hamilton Laird on the morning of October 1st at the age of seventy-one.

Mr. Laird had been a patient, industrious man up until a few years ago when hard work over-taxed his strength and since then he had been compelled to give up active work. During his long and tedious illness he was attended with loving care and devotion by his wife and family, but al to no avail: it had seemed certain that the parting was not far distant but when it came, the certainty was also assured that the meeting and reunion of loved ones was in the Father's Love.

Mr. Laird was one of North Rustico's most highly respected residents and before his illness had been a zealous worker in all that pertained to the community welfare. He was an example of thrift and industry and has left a name that will long be honoured by all who knew him.

The funeral was conducted by his pastor, Rev. W. A. Paterson and was largely attended, giving evidence of a large circle of friends. A solo was very sympathetically rendered by Mrs. Paterson, "Will The Circle Be Unbroken."

He is survived by his widow, five sons and one daughter, Irving, at Winsloe, Lester at Loreburn, Sask., Ray at home, Russel at Beacon, N. Y., Banche at home, and Lloyd at Beacon, N.Y.; also two brothers and three sisters: Theophilus of California, Gordon at North Rustico, Ucilla at Winsloe, Caroline at Winsloe and Edna at Augustine Cove.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Ray Toombs, Will Robinson, Philip McLure, Everett McLure, John Laird and Chester Woolner.

To the bereaved family we extend our sympathy.

Senator Dandurand said he had planned the trip for September, but had postponed it for the election. He did not indicate whether he would be engaged in any government business. He expected to return in a month.

Mine Investment Inquiries

Question: I have been attracted to the possibilities of a mining company operating in the Kirkland Lake district by the name of Ed. Hargreaves Kirkland Gold Mines Limited and would appreciate your opinion of this company. Do you think they will be able to make a producing mine out of their property.

Answer: Ed. Hargreaves Kirland Gold Mines own particularly interesting properties which are reported to embrace similar geological features to Lake Shore Teck-Hughes and the other famous producers of the Kirkland Lake area. In view of this fact and also that the company is in the hands of sound mining men it would appear that you will find a most interesting speculation in the shares of this company. Another feature which lends interest to Ed. Hargreaves Kirkland is the low capitalization, which will afford shareholders an opportunity to participate in any success to a much greater extent than were the company burdened with a heavy stock authorization. While it is impossible to give you a definite answer as to whether they will make a producing mine out of their property we would nevertheless, venture an opinion to the effect that they stand a better than even chance to attain this objective, and such a chance in mining is worth a substantial gamble.
