On motion the meeting decided that a heated bassinet, instrument cabinet and three wheel chairs be purchased for the use of the hospital by the Aid.

Following the conclusion of the business end of the meeting, tea was served by Mrs. Elmer Sutherland, Mrs. Walter Goss, Mrs. Gordon Foster and Mrs. James Palmer.

The treasurer's report which showed a satisfactory bank balance was read by Mrs. A.E. Weymouth, treasurer; Mrs. Gordon Foster presented the report of the Fashion Show; report of the purchasing committee for the hospital cart was presented by Mildred Large and Lois Lane; report of the League of Mercy Display and Tea was read by Pauline M. Haslam while Mrs. J.A. Likely, retiring president, gave a comprehensive report of the year's work in her address.

President's Report

In her address Mrs. Likely stated:

"It is indeed a privilege for me to present the annual report of the year's activities of the Junior Ladies Aid of the P.E.I. Hospital.

"Eight meetings were held during the year at the Cundall Home for Nurses with an average attendance of thirty-five. It is most gratifying to note that this is an increase in average attendance and signifies keen interest in hospital aid work by all members.

"Early in November a rummage sale was held in the Market Building, the proceeds from which were used to purchase additional decorations for the Christmas trees — a few days before Christmas, a committee, under the capable convenorship of Mrs. Harry Hyndman, decorated trees and placed them in all the wards of the hospital. These were much appreciated by the patients and added greatly to the spirit of their Christmas.

"After the New Year, we tried a new venture which has proven very successful, both financially and as a service to the patients of the hospital — Our travelling canteen visits each room daily except Sunday and Wednesday, carrying cigarettes, candy, magazines etc. Each member of the Aid goes one afternoon per month to attend the cart. The Board of Trustees very kindly built a large cupboard and partitioned some hall space for our use. We thank them very much for their interest in our work.

"The Parade of Spring Fash'ons, held at the Charlottetown Hotel under the excellent convenorship of Mrs. R.F. Large, was again the highlight of our years activities. The combined efforts of the energetic committees, in fact of every member of the Aid, the merchants, and the attractive models, resulted in a very successful show. Financially this enterprise is not what we would like it to be, but we feel it is a pleasant and painless way of extracting money for hospital work, and is certainly a project on which all members enjoy working. We are indebted to all who in any way helped in this work and appreciate their co-operation.

"The League of Mercy Display and Sale was held May 17th in the gymnasium of the Cundall Home under the joint convenorship of Mrs. A.J. Haslam and Mrs. J.K.L. Irwin who are to be congratulated on the excellent results obtained. A delicious tea was enjoyed by those who came to view the gifts, and here we would like to thank the church vice-presidents and their collectors for their valuable assistance, the local merchants for their attractive window displays, and CFCY for their advertising.

"Through the year, we provided refreshments for the nurses dances, and assisted the Senior Aid in selling tickets for a sponsored show, tags on Easter Saturday, and ushering at the nurses graduation.

"In closing, I want to thank our vice president, who has cooperated so willingly at all times, our Secretary, who has worked so efficiently, our treasurer, who has kept the accounts in such fine order, and all members of the aid who have given so freely of their time and talents in all our undertakings. It is only through the united efforts of each and every member that we can have such a successful year as we have just had, and I ask the Aid members to give the same wholehearted support to next year's president as they have given me."

down what the basic agreements must be before there is any agreement on the machinery for governing Germany.

Acheson devoted his answer largely to the economic side.

He said there is no possibility of achieving unity of Germany until there is more light on the economic conditions of East Germany.

"What has been done in the Soviet Zone?" he asked. "Information has been called for that was never provided."

The Western Powers, especially the United States, had poured millions of dollars into Germany to avert starvation and aid economic recovery, and West Germany still had a deficit economy.

Life Insurance Sales Congress

A representative number of life insurance men gathered at the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday for the annual sales congress of the Life Underwriters Association of Prince Edward Island. Mr. V. S. Ling, C.L.U., Dominion regional vice-president opened the morning session and Mr. Edwin C. Johnstone, C.L.U., conveyed to the gathering the welcome of the City on behalf of the Mayor and City Council.

Mr. Frank MacFarlane, C.L.U., of Cleveland, Ohio, who is a "million dollar producer", outlined his methods of selling which had made him one of the top producers of the U.S.A.

Mr. MacFarlane spoke of his particular pleasure in visiting P. E.I., where his paternal ancestors had settled (at Bedeque) in 1799. Yesterday, he had enjoyed a reunion at Bedeque at the home of his second cousin, Edwin MacFarlane, at which also were gathered three other cousins, Miss Georgie MacFarlane, Mrs. Winnifred Cairns and Mr. Harrison MacFarlane.

Mr. A. Gordon Nairn
Second vice-president of the Life Underwriters Association of Canada, who was guest speaker at the Life Insurance Sales Congress here yesterday.

Mr. MacFarlane's grandfather left P.E.I. in 1869 and settled in Cleveland where he had founded the MacFarlane Mfg. Co., manufacturers of machinery.

At the morning session also was heard Mr. C. McN. Steeves, C.L.U., Dominion president of the Life Underwriters Association of Canada, who spoke on the subject "John Underwriter and Associates."

Speaks At Luncheon

At the noon luncheon Mr. A. Gordon Nairn, 2nd vice-president Life Underwriters Ass'n. of Canada was the speaker, taking as his subject "The Eternal Triangle". After touching on the various problems of the life insurance salesman Mr. Nairn concluded as follows:

"Today we are watching the struggle between totalitarianism and democracy. It has been said that when Germany and Italy provided economic security for their people, so their citizens no longer had to worry about unemployment, about food, clothing, or shelter for themselves or for their families, or about old age dependency, the price they paid for such security was the loss of their freedom.

"Yes, these people lost their freedom all right, but in return they did not even get the promised economic security they wanted. I think you will agree with me that even the suffering caused by temporary unemployment in a free society is not to be compared with the misery of slave labour under a dictatorship.

"In other words, when a state promises to take over the security problems of its people, so that the individual does not have to provide anything for himself, even when he is in a position to do so, not only is the freedom of the individual likewise taken away by the state, but the individual does not receive the kind of security he wanted when he permitted the state to exercise dictatorial authority over his person and property.

"Look around the world today and you will find the highest attainable measure of material well-being and social justice in those countries where one finds both political and economic freedom. Accordingly, everything we can do as life insurance people, to encourage the individual to take care of his own economic security problems himself to the best of his ability, without expecting the state to do this for him, when he is in a position to do it for himself, fortifies and strengthens our free way of life, and contributes to the continuance of the material well-being that we now enjoy as citizens of a democracy."

At the afternoon session Mr. R. E. Hyndman, Provincial President presided. Mr. MacFarlane further enlarged on his subject of the morning and was then followed by Mr. Harry E. Mosher, general assistant manager of Canadian eastern territory for the Metropolitan Life. Mr. Mosher traced the everyday activities of an industrial agent and how he handled the various sales and service situations.

During the afternoon session Mr. C. H. Black, C.L.U., presented the National Quality Award Certificate to Mr. H. W. Ives, C.L.U., and also presented seals to three previous winners, Mr. Edwin Johnstone, Mr. Blair MacDonald and Mr. H. C. Bohaker.

A vote of thanks to the visiting speakers was moved by Mr. D. H. Gallant, C.L.U., and seconded by Mr. Allison MacLean, C.L.U.

At the conclusion of the afternoon session mementoes of the occasion were presented to the visitors by R. E. Hyndman, assisted by Mrs. Dorothy Rogers.

Conservative Meeting At St. Margaret's

Federal candidate Major John A. MacDonald outlined the Conservative Party policy and explained the party social security program in detail which he stated, "was the best offered by any party to date", at a public meeting held in St. Margaret's Hall Monday night. Chairman of the meeting was Mr. Chester MacDonald.

Major MacDonald discussed other phases of the party policy particularly those of interest to the farmer and the fisherman.

Mr. John R. MacLean, M.L.A. thanked the people for their support at the last provincial election and discussed Federal and Provincial matters. He urged support of the Conservative candidate.

Mr. R.L. Burge, M.L.A., dealt with the Federal Government's policy, particularly that concerning farmers. He urged an improved prices support policy as advocated by Mr. Drew.

Several speakers mentioned the fact that Liberal candidates had told the audience from the same platform at the last election that the prices support policy on canned fish was here to stay, but recently stated in the same hall that the withdrawal of the support was inevitable.

For Queen's: 1, Al McGaughey, Bonshaw; 2, Mrs. Chesley Wood, Hunter River; 3, Rose MacDonald, Bedford; 4, Sinclair MacTavish, Eldon; 5, Georgina Trainor, Charlottetown.

Mr. Fleming

"You are members of a winning team," declared Donald Fleming in an optimistic speech. "The Liberals will come second and the C. C. F. will make a poor third.

"Quebec is coming through with a handsome number of seats for George Drew. But we are not over confident. With calm and real confidence in the outcome, we are confident in our leader, our platform and our cause," he continued.

"There is no more consistent and determined advocate of Prince Edward Island's place in confederation than Chester McLure. He did not remain silent in her cause when other elected representatives were silent. The rest of Canada is looking to P. E. I. to elect these four outstanding candidates," the speaker continued.

Urging the Young Conservatives to get behind the four candidates and leave no stone unturned to assure their election, Mr. Fleming said, "At this time of great national challenge you are not a Progressive Conservative unless you ar a working Progressive Conservative. Get to know this platform which was unanimously adopted by the greatest political convention in the history of Canada. The Progressive Conservative party offers the people a positive program of constructive action."

In pledging the Progressive Conservative party to "put an end to bureaucratic legislation and return to responsible government," the speaker drew a vivid picture of the present government's rule by Orders in Council. He roundly scored the "oligarchy at Ottawa with its blatant and barefaced rule by decree" and declared that it was "a blot on Canadian parliamentary procedure, when parliament was dissolved before an opportunity was given the elected representatives of the people to examine the estimates.

Referring to the "belated and inadequate tax reductions" Mr. Fleming urged the members to "tell the people of P. E. I. that this government at Ottawa, in collecting more taxes than were necessary, were taking money out of the pockets of the people under false pretenses."

Denounced "Snoopers"

Mr. Fleming denounced the "silly, officious bureaucratic interference by the Income Tax snoopers who were authorized by the government at Ottawa and who were trying to force the farmers to become bookkeepers. If a Liberal government is returned, they'll say they've got a mandate to continue the snooper state.

"In the name of Canada, we will leave no stone unturned to see that Canada claims her rightful return of responsible government," concluded Mr. Fleming.

Other speakers at the banquet included Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, leader of the Provincial Progressive Conservatives; the four candidates, Messrs. Jack Price, Chester McLure, John Angus MacLean, and John A. MacDonald. Ted Conover and Andrew MacRae acted as chairman.

Afternoon Session

At the afternoon session, Mr. Hueston stressed the necessity of winning the million "first voters" throughout Canada to the Progressive Conservatives.

"Organization is the key to success. We are not building for this federal election alone. But for a successful future. We are the largest and most energetic young people's political association in Canada," he affirmed.

"When the election is over, turn your minds to serving your community." he advised.

Speaking on the growth of the Young Progressive Conservatives in Ontario, Mr. E. F. Conover noted that some three original active clubs in 1945 had expanded to the present 61 clubs. One of these cluds had 800 paid-up members. He invited interested P.E. Islanders to visit the summer school this year.

Mr. Conover urged that hard work was required to swing the election to the party. "If every Progressive Conservative got his vote into the ballot box, we would form the next government," he declared.

Morning Session

Main part of the morning session was devoted to discussion of the constitution of the Association which was passed after several amendments had been made to the proposed draft.

Amendments included the grouping of the post of secretary and treasurer into one office; the changing of the date of the annual meeting to some time in the month of July rather than being held at the discretion of the executive committee, while notice of the annual meeting was changed from at least thirty days before to ten days prior to the date.

Two motions were defeated during discussion, the first one seeking to change the membership age from 18 to 35 to 18 years to 40 going down by a standing vote of 24 to 25, while a move to have the membership clause read "shall be open to all young men and women of the Province" rather than "shall be open to all young Progressive Conservatives" was also defeated.

Much discussion also took place on the membership fee but the clause stood as drafted, it being the opinion of the delegates present that the present set fee of $1.00 remain unchanged.

The constitution as now adopted consists of eleven clauses and is on much the same plan as constitutions now in force in other like Progressive Conservative Associations throughout the Dominion.

Mr. Walthen Gaudet presided at the session and in welcoming the delegates told of the stress being placed by National Leader Hon. George Drew on the forming of Young Progressive Conservative organizations which are being set up following the lines of the senior bodies.

Mr. Ray Bagnall, Provincial president of the Progressive Conservative Party added his words of welcome to the delegates present. "The young people could play a great part in bringing the election to a successful conclusion," he said, and he felt they would derive great benefit out of the convention.

Mrs. R. E. Sutherland, president of the P. C. women's organization, in tendering words of welcome to those present stressed the need of unity in the ranks of the young Progressive Conservative body so as to present a united front to the "enemy," and in concluding the speaker asked for "room for the women, something which had not been wholly welcomed in the past in the ranks of the Progressive Conservatives." The safety of home, children and religion "depends upon the types of government we have," Mrs. Sutherland said, and she finished her talk with a quotation from George Elliott, "there's no denying women are foolish; the Lord God Almighty made them to suit men."

A film depicting scenes from the National P. C. Convention during which Hon. George Drew was named leader was another feature of the morning session.

A buffet lunch was served by members of the Women's P. C. organization at noon.
