ZION CHURCH—The preacher at Zion Church yesterday was Rev. Dr. Genge who preached two eloquent and forceful sermons to good sized congregations morning and evening.

POLICE COURT—A man charged with violating the Prohibition Act was fined $300 or five months at the Police Court on Saturday morning.

BAPTIST CHURCH.—Rev. Mr. Lindsay of Hazelbrook conducted the services at the Baptist Church last evening and delivered an eloquent and inspiring sermon to a large congregation.

FUNERAL, TODAY—The funeral of the late Dr. Gordon Alley will take place this afternoon from his late residence by road to Sherwood Cemetery for interment. Rev E. M. Malone officiating clergyman. The active pallbearers will be six medical men and for honorary pallbearers there will be six officers of the P. E. I. Lighthorse.

HALLOWE'EN OVER—Hallowe'en was duly observed on Saturday evening, strange figures being seen flitting about the streets and the usual pranks were played with door-steps and other moveable property. Owing to the vigilance of the police, who patrolled the streets in a motor, there was practically no damage of a material nature done. The college students serenaded the professors in the accustomed time-honored manner.

ELECTION DILEMMA.— Owing to the numerous corrections from certain polls in Queens, it is practically impossible to ascertain who has been elected with Mr. R. H. Jenkins, and the situation will likely not be cleared up until Declaration Day Tuesday, November 12. Saturday it was reported from the Liberal Committee rooms that Mr. McKinnon had a slight majority over both Messrs Messervey and Sinclair.

SERVICES AT ST. DUNSTAN'S—At St. Dunstan's Cathedral yesterday All Saints Day High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father McCabe. Rev.Father McMahon was Deacon, and Rev. Father Sinnott, Sub-Deacon. An able and inspiring sermon was preached by Rev. Maurice McDonald. At the evening service at 7 o'clock offries for the dead of the congregation took the place of the Annual Sunday service at the cemetery. The full male choir, under the direction of Mr. W. J. Brown, rendered, "Miseremini Mei," De Profundus," "Libera," harmonized for the occasion, "Miserere Mei Deus, and "Lift up thy Prayer." The sermon for the occasion was preached by Rev. Father McMahon. His Lordship Bishop O'Leary officiated.

CITY TALENT AT KELLY'S CROSS.—A capacity audience on Thursday evening the 22nd. inst. greeted a contingent from Charlottetown who kindly lent their services to Father McMahon to present one of the best productions in the musical and the artistic ever staged at Kelly's Cross. When we merely list some of the members of the "bunch," Miss Lucy Blanchard, Miss Helen McDonald, Mrs. (Dr.) McGuigan, Messrs Wallie Scantlebury, Prof. Dixon, Austin Trainor, Albert Blanchard, Sam Doyle and Dr. Blake, enough is said. We do not recall all the names, but all were good, including our own Miss Georgie Trainor, who sang sweetly. It was certainly a delicious musical and artistically staged performance from the first number to the last, the proof of which was the insistence of an encore from the audience in each case. The writer will not attempt to particularize. The gratitude and thanks of the parish is clearly due to Father McMahon's kind friends in Charlottetown, especially Mr. F. J. Casey, Mr. J. A. Trainor, Drs. McGuigan and Blanchard and others we know not, for promoting and carrying out the concert to such a successful issue. The night was fine and a handsome addition was made to the Church funds.

Rev. W. Bruce Muir Begins Ministry

selves against that kind of timidity which is afraid to be manly and womanly in every office and relation of life. The Church exists for inspiration to all such, and realization of that truth will give to us, amid much moral obliquity and intellectual confuson, strength and power and courage."

"I have been told," continued Mr. Muir, "in expectation of this ministry;—" You must be careful what you advance in that pulpit; say nothing there which is not sound in logic, whatever it be in record; assume nothing, prove your points." Brethren, is there to be any misunderstanding between us as to the basis and foundation on which I stand here? Is the gospel itself to be, as between you and me, an open question? Am I bound every time I stand here to prove the Incarnation, the Resurrection, the divinity of Christ?—To prove each truth by some moral argument? Am I to come here, in a profane parody of Paul on Mars Hill, to "reason with you premises of nature, if haply I might draw you toward a faith and revelation not yet accepted?" Honestly and earnestly I say, if that is what you want, then I am not the man. You should have sought out some one of original thought, some one of dialectic subtilty under whose master hand you might be mulcted into believing. Such gifts I do not claim. If you do not believe the gospel I cannot prove it to you; I cannot hope to do so."

"I am here as one of the appointed stewards of God's Ministry to bring out to you, Sunday after Sunday, as God gives me heart and understanding, something from His storehouse of truth which will be helpful to you; something from His storehouse of truth which will be helpful to you; something which will enable you to persevere in the race which God has set before you; something profitable to you for discourse, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness. What a commission! Who is sufficient, brethren, for it? Thank God, our sufficiency is in Him, and in Him alone

"Another thought: I have been told: "You will have a critical audience. Everything will be discussed. A fair field and no favor will be the motto of your congregaton." Ah, brethren, the caution falls chillingly, dauntingly, almost cruelly upon the ear. What am I to say? I will tell you my answer: I do not believe one single word of it! No minister can stand in the pulpit without what is called honest criticism; the more you criticise honestly the better it will be for the minister. My old professor in Scotland, who taught me how to preach, said—and I will never forget it—"Preach to make the people THINK; say things they may not agree with; but the very fact that they do not agree with you shows that you have made them think. Thinking is the seed-bed of the kingdom of God." That is the kind of spirit to go to Church with! So while we are not afraid of honest criticism, it is the carping, miserable little criticism that every minister despises in his heart and soul. I do not believe a word of that statement that everything said in this pulpit will be criticised. You come here, I believe, not to judge the preacher; you come to hear the word of God! You come not to criticise the sermon but to hide yourself, after a week of toil, in the sanctuary of God where you may find refuge and inspiration for the work and labor of the week which lies before you; rising refreshed, rejoicing, as a strong man to run a race, and saying as the Israelite said of old: "I was glad when they said to me, Go up to the House of God."

"I trust, beloved friends, as you listen to my voice week after week, month after month, that this shall be our attitude. You will let me assume that you and I are men of like patience, equally acquainted with life's joys and sorrows; that we are equally accessible to life's temptations and equally tried by the perplexities of today. You will let me assume the truth o fthe saying, so full of comfort and consolation: "As in water face answereth face, so the heart of man to man." Then indeed I shall feel, as was said by the great apostle to the Gentiles in the midst of his weakness, "Whatsoever I may do in that respect, out of weakness God ordains a strength."

It was only in the sufficiency of God, concluded Mr. Muir, that any minister could stand before the same congregation year in and year out, and lead them onward and upward to Zion.

In the evening Rev. Mr. Muir preached to another large congregation from the text: (Genesis 12: 1)."Get thee out of thy country and from thy kindred, from thy fathers' house, into a land that I will show thee."

The visitation of the sick and aged, the minister announced, would be his first pastoral care. He asked that the names of all such in the congregation be handed to him as early as possible.

Gen. Sarrail Has Been Recalled

PARIS, Nov. 1—Official announcement was made tonight that the Government had summoned General Sarrail, French High Commissioner in Syria, to Paris to furnish a full explanation of the Syrian situation. It has also been decided to appoint a civilian High Commissioner to Syria. This announcement was made after a special cabinet council convened to consider the recent disturbances in Damascus and the general unrest in Syria.

Pending the arrival in Syria of the new civilian High Commissioner, the duties of the office will be discharged by General Duport, a member of the Supreme War Council, who is now in Syria on a mission of investigation.

MRS. JAMES SNOWIE

The death occurred suddenly at Mayfield of Mrs. James Snowie at the age of 78 years. The late Mrs. Snowie was a woman who possessed many good qualities, was always ready to help in sickness and the needy often felt the hand that now is quiet and still. She leaves to mourn the loss of a loving and kind mother, five children, namely: Christie, Mrs. John Matheson, Maggie, Mrs. Alfred Munroe; Ethel, Mrs. Wallace Sillick of Portland, Maine; Mabel, Mrs. Herman Hill; one son David at home.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. M. E. Aitken who spoke in a very eloquent manner. Interment was made in New Glasgow Cemetery. The pall bearers were: Messrs. Daniel Bullman, John Beaton, Howard Carr, Gordon Carr, Allan Moffatt, Herman Hill. The many friends of the grief-stricken family extends to them their heartfelt sympathy.

THE FUR-LINED WRAP

For evening wear, the wraps of the moment might be alluded to as velvet lined with fur rather than of fur lined with velvet. Many may be worn with either side outermost, but the beautiful ombre effects obtained in the velvet weaves make it inadvisable to even partially conceal them.

An American clergyman and his wife were all ready to go as missionaries to Africa, but had been unavoidably delayed. They have just left their town apartment in high dudgeon because they have discovered that there is a colored family on the top-floor back!
