poll showed a larger vote than last year with a big majority for Mr. Downing. At the Town Hall, Mr. Downing gained 31 over last year's count. In the East End poll, both candidates polled more votes than last year, Dr. McNeill gaining fifty-three. Central poll gave Dr. McNeill a small majority. A larger vote was polled in the Court House ward than last year with Mr. Downing leading by one.

So great was the interest in the election that Summerside was full of people until a late hour. The stores were kept busy and on every hand there was much activity. Everything passed off without accidents or rowdiness.

Until a late hour, hopeful supporters of both candidates hung around the committee rooms in the hope of a decisive change.

The returning officer, Capt. L. A. Moore, stated to a Guardian representative last night that the returns were 1386 for each candidate. The polls were closed at five o'clock and the counts were checked and rechecked up till 9:30 p.m.

Interviewed, Mr. H. M. Downing, the Conservative candidate, said: "It affords me much pleasure to embrace this, my earliest opportunity, to heartily thank my many friends for their appreciated support in this contest. Pending Declaration Day developments further comment is perhaps untimely."

Dr. John F. McNeill, Liberal candidate, stated last night that he was pleased with the support given him by his friends in yesterday's contest. He was sure that when the ballots were recounted he would have the majority. He also stated that there were more than the usual number of workers from outside and that in Miscouche and the west end poll the Conservatives had several outside workers.

Speeches and a reception took place in the Liberal committee rooms.

Following are the results by polling stations:

Use Soapsuds To Cool Auto Engine

LONDON, Oct. 12.—Soapsuds are being used for obtaining an especially high degree of cooling in an experimental motor-car engine, and thus permitting the employment of exceptionally high compression ratios.

The suds are sprayed on the undersides of the pistons, and by reducing their temperature enable the power of the engine to be raised about 25 per cent when suitable fuel is used.

In addition, water-cooled exhaust valves are being tried, and a technical journal claims that by this means a total increase of power of one-third is obtainable without detonation.

Salt-cooled valves are used for aero engines, both in this country and abroad, and they perform a similar function to the proposed water and soap cooling—that is they keep the temperature down and allow higher compressions to be used without detonation.

The valve stem is drilled and the hole is filled with salt and then plugged. A much lower valve temperature is thus obtained. The salt-cooled valve has been tried experimentally in a motor-car engine, in this country.

Old Shoe In Loaf Nearly Causes Riot

MOSCOW, Oct. 12.—The discovery of an old shoe in a loaf of bread purchased by a Moscow housewife at a co-operative store almost precipitated a riot.

The housewife, who had received the loaf in exchange for her ration coupon after lining up for several hours in a queue, did not discover the shoe until she returned home to slice the bread for her hungry family.

Incensed, she returned to the store and exhibited the shoe to the long queue still standing outside.

The queue supported her demand that the loaf should be exchanged, but the manager of the store at first declined to do this; indicating that it was a matter of pot-luck.

After considerable excitement, however, in which threats were made by the workers in the queue, the loaf was exchanged for another.

The excitement among the queue was due to the belief that the shoe indicated a recurrence of the former practice of "sabotagers" in mixing nails, glass, cloth and paper in the bread in order to discredit the Government among the workers.

BEDROOM COLORS

Old blue, pale coral and amethyst are the colors used in an attractive looking bedroom. Diamond patterned wall paper in two tones of pale coral contrasts nicely with the old blue woodwork. Glass curtains of coral organdie hang straight to the sills. Long draperies of glazed chintz with large clusters of garden flowers on a deep amethyst ground are caught back by matching cuffs.

Nettle roots boiled with alum produce a yellow dye.

B. I. S. SOCIAL EVENING

As usual the midweek entertainment lived up to its high standard. One hundred and fifty sat down to enjoy eleven games of auction for-fives, the winners being as follows: Ladies, first, Mrs. A. C. Cullen; second, Mrs. George E. Power. Gents, first, Mr. Reginald Dillon; second, Mr. P. J. Gallant. Lucky table No. 24, drawn by Miss Phyllis Dolron. At ten fifteen Bro. Ostway announced the dancing program of the evening, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the large crowd. The orchestra, under supervision of Bro. Elliot, lived up to its usual reputation. Although the hall has been under extensive repairs, everything was in readiness for the evening's entertainment. At a later date the public will be invited to inspect the interior decorating of the hall, which is not yet completed.

Sensational Gold Find in Labrador

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 12.—Not since August, 1898, when George Cormack dug gold nuggets out of sand on Bonanza Creek on Klondyke River, has there been so sensational a gold find as that announced by Captain D. S. Bondurant, discovered by him along the plateau adjacent to Grand Falls, Newfoundland, and in Labrador, 2,000 feet above sea level.

Within the life of the present generation, Labrador may become the greatest mining region of North America," said Bondurant, when officially assured by the government his application for a reservation of 40 square miles had been approved. "There is a vast ore-bearing zone several hundred square miles across the height of land in the Grand Falls region which presents all indications of the greatest gold bonanza in the western hemisphere."

Bondurant has dug the gold areas where samples were taken. He also traces for official information ore-bearing zones which he predicts will exceed in richness the best gold producing mines in Canada. The whole area prospected embraces hundreds of square miles, strongly mineralized samples from which produce spectacular percentages.

cial shipping methods the Colorado Potato Beetle would not be exported.

"The British ministry experts are now on their way to Canada. On arrival they will see, probably in New Brunswick a demonstration of grading and bagging for export, with the most modern equipment.

"In anticipation of complete success in convincing the British ministry, as a representative of the Federal Department of Agriculture interviewed the principal shipping interests of Prince Edward Island here yesterday. The outstanding feature of the understanding reached with the shippers was that if export with United Kingdom is permitted the potatoes will have to be regraded and filled into new bags at a point or points entirely remote from the warehouses which receive direct from the farms. In the case of exports from Prince Edward Island this obviously would mean regrading and rebagging at Halifax or St. John, since the British market prices ordinarily are too low to make export possible until December at least, or January. Just at present potatoes in England are bringing only 4 to 5 shillings per long hundred weight, while about 7 shillings there would be the minimum at which we could export even at present local prices."

body. The inquest was then adjourned until 2 p.m. Saturday.

The woman left the Ferguson homestead yesterday morning between 6 and 8 o'clock apparently with the intention of visiting friends. Anxiety was felt for her safety when she failed to appear at dinner, but as the day wore on and no word was received of her whereabouts enquiries were made and as a result of the investigation the body was identified.

The following jury was empanelled by the Coroner:

Major Albert Robertson, foreman, Albert Farquharson, Abbott Buell, Lee MacDonald, Fred A. Dickson, Millford Buell, Vincent Brazel.

HER CLOTHING BILL, $28,000

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick spent more than $28,000 for clothes in one shop in the fifteen months before her last illness forced her retirement from social activities, it was disclosed in probate court.

A claim for $7,066.00 against her estate was filed by McAvooy, Inc., a Michigan avenue women's wear establishment. The claim noted that Mrs. McCormick already had paid $21,055 on her account that covered the period from Feb. 4, 1931, to May 10, 1932, and that the $7,066.00 was the balance due.

Among the items included in the claim were more than forty hats, fifty dresses and gowns, twenty coats and suits, eleven purses and bags and 117 pairs of hose.

Another claim for $2,940, representing Mrs. McCormick's box subscription and guarantee, was filed by the Ravinia Opera Company of which the late social leader was a patroness.

An Effort to Find Typhus Fever Cure

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—For the sake of science, Dr. R. E. Dyer, of the National Institute of Health, lay on a hospital bed today among rat fleas, dog fleas, and common household fleas, inoculating them with typhus fever in an effort to find a cure for the malady.

While the fleas bit him to their heart's content, he planned new scientific experiments to prove the worth of an anti-typhus vaccine he is developing.

Dyer already has proved to his own peril that the common rat flea can transmit endemic typhus fever to a human being. He is seriously ill of this disease, contracted from a flea bite during his research.

Fleas from his laboratory, after feeding upon him, were to be used in an effort to transmit the fever to a number of guinea pigs. The fleas bit him through cloth bags in which they were held prisoners. Some of the guinea pigs have been treated with the vaccine while others have not been immunized.

Many Millions In Dormant Wealth

LONDON, Oct. 12.—More than $220,000,000, in nominal value, is the amount at present constituting the funds of the High Court.

Cash and money on deposit represent $10,000,000; the remainder is the nominal value of investments. These sums, together with other large amounts in the county courts and the Land Registry Insurance Fund, are the subject of a report by the Dormant Funds Committee under the chairmanship of Lord Tomlin.

The funds arise from a number of sources. They represent moneys or investments paid into court under a number of different Acts of Parliament, under judgments or orders of the Court, or Orders of the Rules of the Supreme Court. A large number of them are "dormant". Except in certain cases, every fund stands to the credit of an appropriate account. Orders are constantly being made relative to the funds. They are all vested in the Accountant-General of the Supreme Court, and are held by him in trust.

INTEREST SHOULD CEASE

The report contains a detailed statement of the funds, and points out the various questions which the committee set about to settle. Principal among these, in relation to the amalgamated funds, were whether there should be any point of time beyond which interest ceases to be credited on money on deposit for the benefit of suitors, and whether a point should be fixed after which the debtor should be debarré by statute from recovering the fund.

BUSY

An Italian about to be admitted to the full citizenship of the U.S.A. had to appear before a state official to answer certain formal questions. When that part of the business was over the official, anxious to discover if the new citizen appreciated all the possibilities of his new status drawled: "Now, see here could you be the President of the United States?" And the new citizen answered appealingly, "No, sir, please sir, you excuse me. Me very busy in the ice-cream business."

Remarkable Record

Only three passengers out of the 26,550,556 carried, were killed in steam railway train accidents in 1931. This was the best record since 1888 which is as far back as these data are available. The number of passengers injured was also small, (369) although not a record. The number of employees killed (42), and injured (1,131), in train accidents were new low records for the number of fatal accidents back to 1888 and for the number injured back to 1910.

Persons killed at highway crossings numbered 84 which was the fewest since 1925 and the number injured, 321, was less than for any other year since 1924.

In non-train accidents, those happening at stations, in shops, on the tracks, handling rails, ties, etc., low records were also made. The number of persons killed was 14 as against 19 in 1915, the previous low record, and the number injured was 4,952 which was the lowest since 1821. Undoubtedly these good records were due to safety devices in use, but, more important, to the vigilance of the railway employees and to few changes in the personnel.

Soviet Fashions

A bitter attack on the new styles in women's dress has been published in the Petrograd Krasnaja Gazette. It alleges that women tourists from England and other countries visiting Petrograd and Moscow have created a demand for longer skirts, little jackets and saucy hats. These are condemned as foolish, recalling the clothes of Directoire times, "when women were oppressed by capitalistic society."

One of the reasons for the Gazette's opposition is that the new styles require more materials. The paper states that the Petrograd Clothing Trust has had to lengthen the 2,000,000 dresses to be produced this year by six inches. This requires an additional 333,333 yards of cloth, which could be converted into 50,000 additional dresses. So the British women tourists and the new styles are blamed for the fact that 50,000 women will not be able to buy a new dress this autumn.

Propaganda stories have been published in the Moscow Press telling how a man divorced his wife because she wore long dresses and how such dresses injure the health. Pictures show how fat and unhappily legs helped to make longer skirts popular.

The Gazette urges Russia to devise her own styles and become independent of foreign fashions.

Worth's coat sleeves with caps of contrasting color surrounded by fur are striking and his confetti-spangled frocks with the sprangles made of velvet or pique are sensational.

Rapid Calculator At 88 In Britain

BOGNOR REGIS, Oct. 12.—When, eighty one years ago, young Alfred Phillips left school at the age of seven, his schoolmistress said, "Good-bye, Alfred, I'm afraid you will always be a dunce and never get much further than simple addition."

Well, today, Mr. Alfred Phillips, at the ripe old age of eighty-eight is the grand old man of Bognor Regis.

His energy shames many a youth in the town. He enjoys playing bowls to the tune of eighteen to twenty-one ends up in the mornings, or alternatively a round of golf. He cycles to the golf course. But best of all this "dunce" claims to be the "world's quickest sterling decimalist."

He proved it when replying to a question, he answered in seven seconds that 3,675,000 times 1/4 was £11,484 7s 6d.

He said he could mentally multiply by a million any sum under £10.
