Cricket Away To Fine Start

LONDON, May 29—(Reuters)—A streamlined brand of cricket has come to Britain this summer after six years of war and thousands of Britons are flocking to matches to see their favorite wicket stars.

Highlighted by the visit of 16 star Indian players, the traditional British summer sport is getting away to a good start with white flannels, willow bats and peaked caps once again featuring the green pitches.

As if to confound the assertion of Lord Inverchapel, new British ambassador to the United States on his arrival in Canada that this is the dullest of all games, an effort has been made by the sport's governing body, the Marylebone Cricket Club to "liven the game up."

Percentages have been abandoned in the county cricket championship and points substituted to make the 17 competing counties fight for a victory instead of playing for a draw.

Four points now are given to a team for a first-inning lead even if that team should lose the two-inning match. The team that wins a match gets 12 points but does not get an extra four points for a first-inning lead.

Moot Boxing Scoreboard

WASHINGTON, May 29 — (AP) —The National Boxing Association weighed in today with the somewhat revolutionary thought that it might be worthwhile to let the fight fans know which beak-buster is leading a close bout on points —say by posting the round-by-round returns on a scoreboard.

"In other major sports like baseball, football, and basketball," remarked N B A 's executive secretary, Col. Harvey L. Miller, "the fan who pays his money to sit in on the proceedings can always glance up at a scoreboard and see how things stand.

"But not in boxing.

The Joe Louis-Billy Conn heavyweight championship fight in New York on June 19 would provide boxing with "an ideal opportunity" to introduce a plan "for letting the fans know how the fight is progressing, Miller said.

Certainly championship bouts, at least, should have a scoreboard above the ring showing which fighter wins each round on a point-scoring basis, Miller thinks.

MADISON, N. J., May 26—(AP)—The sprawling Giralda Farms estate of Mrs. M. Hartley Dodge was turned into a colorful scene Saturday with a revival of the big one-day Morris and Essex Kennel Club show last held in 1941.

An estimated 12,000 spectators, including Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York, were present for the morning judging with thousands more expected this afternoon when the main decisions will be made.

The show, while not reaching pre-war entry figures, attracted 2,086 entries in six groups. Competition was limited to 30 breeds.

PARIS, May 26— (AP)—Marcel Cerdan, who held the French middleweight boxing championship until the war, re-established himself in that role Saturday night by outpointing Robert Charron. Cerdan is regarded here as Europe's leading contender for the world title.

BRUSSELS, May 26—(AP)—Belgium took a two to one lead over China in Davis Cup elimination play today with a double victory by Pierre Geelhand and Philippe Washer over W. C. Choy and Kho Sin Kie, 5-7, 6-3, 6-0, 3-6, 6-2.

SURBITON, England, May 29—(CP)—Joan Curry won the last remaining singles places on Britain's Wightman Cup tennis team today with a 6-3 6-1 victory over Mrs. F. H. Vivian.

Mrs. Kay Stammers Menzies and Mrs. Jean Bostock are the other members of the team which will compete for the American-held trophy.

Selection of the doubles teams was deferred until Saturday.

Sport Shorts From Britain

LONDON, May 22 — (CP) — Lightheavyweight champion Gus Lesnevich made quite an impression on British boxing fans and sports writers when he stopped England's Freddie Mills in 10 rounds at Harringay Arena here May 14.

Geoffrey Simpson, sports writer of the London Daily Mail, who spent a day in the American's training camp at Brighton shortly before the fight said the American was "such a terror in the gym that he scares sparring partners away." Only two of four boxers engaged to box with Gus turned up one day and one ended on his knees with the wind knocked out of him.

About his boxing, Simpson said: "Lesnevich is a grand boxer, with a neat, close style and as good a left jab as any student of English boxing could wish to see. He shoots it out straight and true and lands —hard—with the knuckles.

"He can also shorten and turn the punch into a hook, so that any boxer who tries to rush him is likely to find trouble."

"I got the impression that Lesnevich is a worthy champion of America and possibly of the world."

Captain Robert C. (Bobby) Petre, 33-year-old Scots guard officer who piloted Lovely Cottage to an upset victory in the Grand National steeplechase this year, has decided to turn professional.

In an intervew at Tunworth, Hampshire, he said he could apply for a licence as trainer under National Hunt rules for next year. "I also intend to continue riding, but as a professional trainer I should not be allowed to ride as an amateur. I shall therefore also apply for a licence as a professional sider."

Although hundreds of wagers were laid on Derby County to win the English football cup, some backers lost their money. Many bookmakers stipulated 90 minutes play and at the end of regulation time, the score tied 1-1 with Charlton Athletic.

Therefore, as bookmakers declare, Derby did not win in 90 minutes and the "punters" are losers.

Leslie Barry, 40-year-old professional, has been chosen to captain Leicestershire county cricket club this season. He is the county's opening batsman and scored more than 1,000 runs in each season from 1933 to the outbreak of war.
