Canada's 1932 Olympic Track and Field Prospects

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 22.—It has never been a very difficult matter to pick a strong team of distance runners from Canada and it won't be hard next spring to choose a group for the Los Angeles games that is quite as good as the one Canada sent to Amsterdam in 1928. The unsatisfactory thing about it is nobody will know whether the new team is any better than the old—or vice versa.

If little Percy Wier, the aged Toronto midget, had one of his good days the day the Olympic marathon is run, the midget would be a tough opponent for any runner in the world to beat. Similarly, Johnny Cuthbert, Guelph's veteran Scot, is almost unbeatable when he has an "on day." Cliff Bricker, of Galt, was consistently superior to anything in Canada before the 1928 Olympic games but he wasn't going good when Canada wanted him to be most.

And from appearances, the Dominion's distance event hopes rest practically on the same uncertain shoulders they did three years ago. Harold Webster, Billy Reynolds, Johnny Miles, Wier and Bricker are still the best—one one day and another the next. Cuthbert, who slipped back a little after he ran at the 1924 Paris Olympics, has once more taken to winning marathons and modified marathons. But for the most part, there hasn't been many changes in the general situation.

Instead of marathoning, Bricker may definitely choose to make the 10,000 metres his distance and Webster is likely to follow suit. The 44 year old Hamilton star won the Canadian six mile championship for the second time this month at Winnipeg. Bricker has won several events at this distance in the east since he returned to the game after a two year layoff.

Three years ago Bricker rated as the best marathon man Canada had produced since Billy Sherring, of Hamilton, ran a historic May day race at Athens in 1906. Sent overseas several weeks before the Olympic Games so he could become acclimated, the sensational Galt boy finished tenth. Bricker retired shortly after his return, and only recently attempted a comeback.

Johnny Miles, the smiling Bluenose, who runs for Hamilton Olympic Club, may spring an upset victory in any event he tackles but Johnny is the most famed hand-and-outer of the lot. Wier ranks as the steadiest.

Denmark has given western

Canada a distinct prospect for an Olympic place in Hartington Anderson, red haired fellow who has become outstanding at any distance up to ten miles. Running for the Calgary Altamah Club, Anderson ran away from field after field this season and only failed to place in the Dominion six mile title race at Winnipeg because his legs gave out on the heavy dirt horse track where the grind was held.

Anderson chased Webster for three miles without showing any signs of trouble, remaining only a few yards behind. He kept on after Billy Reynolds had quit and when he finally called it a day was only 75 yards back of Webster. Anderson intends to bid for a place on the Canadian team, either in the 10,000 metres or marathon.

Dave Komenen, of Toronto, is another who may oust one of the old timers from the next Olympic squad. He has given impressive performances in races at varied distances in Ontario and recently battled Bricker right up to the tape in an international 12 mile marathon at Toronto.

Another Galt man, Fred Sargeant, seems likely to lead Canada's prospective 5,000 metre runners into action at the 1932 Olympic trials. After trying almost every long distance, Sargeant has settled back to the 5,000 as his specialty and even gallops an occasional mile in competition to test his speed.

He easily conquered Billy Kibblewhite, Winnipeg youth who ran in the Amsterdam games at Winnipeg, this month. Fred Franklin, a team mate of Kibblewhite, is coming along fast and stands ahead of black haired Billy as a possibility.

One or two of a large field of aspirants in the east are quite likely to develop in the next year, perhaps sufficiently to threaten the old standbys, but there doesn't seem to be anything better than Bricker, Reynolds, Cuthbert, Miles and Wier can offer in a marathoning way.

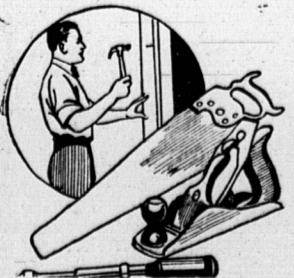

The young fellows may turn out to be as good, but will they be better?

MAKING SATISFACTORY PROGRESS—Word has been received in Summerside that Rev. Mr. Gates and his little son Paul, who were victims in a recent automobile accident on the Fredericton-Woodstock highway near Shogomac, N.B., are making satisfactory progress toward recovery. Master Paul, whose injuries were so severe that he was on the danger list for several days in the Fisher Memorial hospital is well on the road to recovery. The inquest into James Gates, Rev. Mr. Gates' eldest son, who lost his life in the accident, has been postponed as Mrs. Gates is not yet able to give evidence. Mrs. Gates is a daughter of Mr. James P. Smallman, of O'Leary and her many friends here will be interested to hear of her recovery and that of her family.—S.

INTERESTING WEDDING—A wedding of much interest to friends in Belmont, Lot 16, and vicinity was solemnized at the Baptist Parsonage, Summerside, on September 18th at 5:30 p. m., when Ruth Lillian, daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Simpson, and the late Fulton Simpson, of Belmont, Lot 16, became the bride of Mr. Aage S. Johnson, formerly of Denmark, Europe, now of Belmont. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Wilson, in the presence of the immediate relatives. Miss Alma G. Rogers, of Linkletter Road, attending the bride and Mr. Laurids Gjerleren acted as groomsmen. The bride was very pretty in a wedding dress of blue georgette, trimmed with hand worked French beading. She wore a lovely rat fur coat with matching hat. Her bouquet was of snapdragon and asparagus fern. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride at which forty guests were invited. Previous to her marriage Miss Simpson was the guest of honour at a pre-nuptial shower at the home of Miss May Fraser of Belmont, where about forty young people gathered to extend their best wishes to the bride. Miss Simpson was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will reside in Belmont. The Guardian joins numerous friends in wishing them every happiness.—S.

ST. ANTHONY'S BLOOMFIELD—On Sunday evening, Sept. 13th, the altar and choir boys of St. Anthony's church, Bloomfield, assembled in St. Anthony's Hall in honor of Mr. Prosper Arsenault who has been their director for the past ten years. A special program consisting of sacred solos, hymns and readings was beautifully rendered by the boys choir. Mr. U. R. Gallant of the C. N. R. offices, Charlottetown presided. At the conclusion of the program a well worded and most touching address was read to Mr. Arsenault accompanied by a suitable and appropriate gift. The address was read by Master Charlie Carbonnell and the presentation was made by Albert Peters. Mr. Arsenault was deeply touched and although taken by surprise he gave the boys one of the best and most instructive talks that has ever been heard in St. Anthony's Hall. The boys are to be congratulated for the love and respect that they manifest towards Mr. Arsenault who under the direction of the pastor has been their leader in all the religious ceremonies for a number of years. Mr. Arsenault has also been the director of St. John Beuchmans Sanatory society and through his hard work and deep interest much good has been done; apart from this Mr. Arsenault has acted as sacristan for St. Anthony's church for the past eight years a duty which he performed, with exactitude and punctuality. He was ever present for all special feasts and the boys, and carefully trained for their under his care were always well holy duties. Mr. Arsenault has proven himself on account of his kind heart and generous disposition a true friend of the altar and choir boys and to-day he has their love and loyalty and the parishioners of St. Anthony know that much good will be done in the future.

Old In Crime At 6 Years

LONDON, Sept. 22—Canada, the land of youthful ambition would seem to be the ideal home for a six-year-old boy of whom the Aldershot police court yesterday the following feasts were recorded.

He travelled five miles on a commandeered scooter.

He unchained a savage alreale and set it to defend him while stripping an apple tree.

He ran away from home, stole a pair of boots, upset on the roadside a barrel of tar, and got himself coated with the contents.

From sources it was impossible to trace he was found plentifully supplied with money and cigarettes.

He took a horse from a meadow, rode bareback through the town and when he fell off was remounted by a soldier.

He took a box of hats from a van and offered to sell them to a trader at twelve cents apiece.

Psychological Aspects Of Accidents

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 22. (By the Canadian Press)—A motorist who becomes involved in a serious auto accident should be deprived of his license for life in the opinion of Prof. W. D. Tait, professor of psychology, McGill University, speaking on the "Psychological Aspects of Accidents" before members of the Safety League a short time ago. Proper training and education, impressing upon the public the realization that they must be held responsible for their acts and consequences were recommended by the speaker.

Although an accident was an unforeseen event, it was often preventable, said Professor Tait. It was necessary to educate the public to this fact. Talking was not effective, and the only way the public could be made to realize and accept their responsibilities was by forming correct habits, seeing that they were enforced and exacting punishment if they were not.
