Corns?

—just say Blue-jay to your druggist Stops Pain Instantly

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in two forms—a colorless, clear liquid (one drop does it) and in extra thin plasters. Use whichever form you prefer, plasters or the liquid—the action is the same. Safe, gentle. Made in a world-famed laboratory. Sold by all druggists. Free: Write Bauer & Black, Toronto, Dept. 234 for valuable book, "Correct Care of the Feet."

THE LITTLE Flower Camp Girls will serve you excellent cake and ice cream tonight on Rosford Square.

BELFAST—Service in Belfast church, next Sabbath at usual hours. "The Work of Renovation, Goes On."

ANYONE FOUND selling P. H. Eaton's washing tablets will be dealt with by law. T. Strickland, sole agent for Charlottetown.

THE "WHY" OF A "HOT BOX"

In answer to the question "What is a hot box?" a Kansas City Southern official has the following to say:

"A hot box is a sign that the safety first rule is not practiced by some car department."

"There is no excuse for a hot box after a car is sent out if the train is carefully looked over by the car men at each terminal. Primarily a hot box is caused by poor waste and an insufficient greasing at the time it should have been done, and there is no excuse for one. A hot box is liable to cause a wreck, and a wreck on most railroads costs money, much more than the price of a sufficient quantity of waste oil and grease to protect the journals of the car wheels."

"The farmer who buys a new wagon or a buggy has a pretty good idea of what a hot box means and the ways to prevent it. When he buys a new wagon he sees to it that the spindle is well greased so it will not get hot. He watches it closely and does not take any chances on the wheels running hot. The farmer's wheels on his new wagon or buggy would stick, and if persisted in driving ahead he would soon have a bad spindle and as bad wheel."

"However, the results would not be so disastrous as they would be in a train of cars running at a speed of fifteen or twenty miles an hour. It's no wonder that railmen use language unfit for a Sunday School class when they find a hot box in their train. They know that someone has been careless and shirking in his work and that he is to blame. —New York Post.

AVERAGE LIFE THIRTY-THREE YEARS

Good authorities give the average duration of human life as about thirty three years. One quarter of the people on the earth die before the age of six, one-half before the age of sixteen and only about one person of each one hundred born lives to the age of sixty five. The deaths are calculated at sixty-seven a minute 97,790 a day and 35,639,885 a year. Births are calculated at about seventy a minute, 109,800 a day and 39,792,000 a year.

MONARCH SHOWED GRATITUDE

In Plutarch's "Life of Alexander he tells of the great battle this distinguished Macedonian fought with Darius at Gaugamela which signified "the camel's house," and says that one of the ancient Persian kings, having escaped the pursuit of his enemies on a swift camel, in gratitude to his beast, settled him at this place with an allowance of certain villages and rents for his maintenance so long as he should live.

Ants' Nests

In Australia there are ants which build their nests along a north and south line so accurately that a traveller may direct his course by their aid.

WOMAN DIPLOMAT FOR WASHINGTON

LONDON, July 22.—The first woman to be appointed a first secretary to a legation is to go to Washington on behalf of the Bulgarian Government in the autumn. Mile. Nadejda Stancieff is the daughter of the Bulgarian minister in London and is only 28 years old. Her father has been a diplomat for 35 years and Mile. Stancieff has lived in different capitals of Europe. In this way she received her education in Paris, Petrograd and Rome. Speaking five languages fluently, she has hitherto acted chiefly as translator at many conferences held since the war, and as secretary to the Bulgarian Prime Minister. She was in Paris during the peace treaty negotiations and has since attended international meetings at Genoa and Geneva.

She is to attend a League of Nations conference at Geneva in September and afterwards will take up her new duties at Washington. Mile. Stancieff chatted about prospects of new work to a Daily Chronicle representative, who says that she speaks English without a trace of accent and in a singularly musical voice.

"I am glad to go to Washington," she said, "and I look forward to it, though I realize the difficulties of the position. It is such an honor for a woman to have been appointed. I can only say that I shall do my best."

"I am very glad that it is to America I am being sent, and I should not have been half so pleased had my appointment been at one of the European capitals. America has always been favorably disposed towards Bulgaria, and you may be sure I shall strive to increase this feeling. I think a woman ought to be able to do a great deal in this way."

Asked what she thought was the best part which women could bring to diplomatic work, Mile. Stancieff answered: "The human touch." She is described by those who have been present at recent international conferences as probably the best diplomatic interpreter in the world. In her spare time she reads novels in English and French.

RED POINT SCHOOL EXAMINATION

The examination of the Red Point School took place on June 30th with a large attendance of rate payers, all of whom take an active interest in their school and children. The school room was decorated with house plants and the classes were examined by the teacher, assisted by Mrs. Adrian MacLennan. The children are exceptionally bright and by their ready answers satisfied their listeners as to their school work. A short programme was also prepared.

Following is the address read by one of the pupils:

Dear Teacher—I have been requested by the pupils of this School to offer you a slight token of our appreciation of your untiring efforts on our behalf. What we offer you is a poor symbol of our feelings, but we know you will receive it kindly. You have made our lessons pleasant to us—so pleasant it would be ungrateful to praise you. We realize that we have often tried your temper, but you have dealt gently with us in our unweariness, teaching us by example as well as precept the advantage of kindness and self-control. We shall look back at this school in after years as a place of mental enjoyment and whenever memory recalls school days, your hearts will warm towards you as they do today.

Please accept with our little present our earnest good wishes. May you always be as happy as you have endeavored to make us your pupils.

The youngest pupil of the School, Miss Lida Bruce, presented the beautiful leather hand bag and a large box of stationery. One of the members of the Women's Institute read the following:

Dear Miss Redmond—We the women of Red Point School District feel that we cannot let you depart from our midst without showing you in some way our appreciation for the good work you have done in our School for the past two years.

We all understand the patience required and the many difficulties that confront a teacher in such a heavy school. You have surmounted all this, and now that you are about to leave us, we are filled with regret that you feel unable to remain with us another year.

In our Institute work you have taken an active part and was always ready to lend a helping hand when required of you. We shall miss you at all our meetings and entertainments.

Please accept this small gift, not for its intrinsic value but that it may show you in a slight way that we feel grateful for all you have done.

(Sgd.)—Women of Red Point School District.

Miss Redmond was taken by surprise but replied in a few words expressing her appreciation and thanks. After this the distribution of prizes took place.

Perfect attendance—Vera Ching; Department, Clayton Rose; 1st in 4th class, Martha Robertson; 1st in 3rd class, Donald Campbell; 1st in senior 2nd class, Mavis; 1st in junior 2nd class, Frankie McInnis.

York and Other Towns

A Successful Islander In The Ancient City—Relics of the Past—Another Grand Cathedral.

(BY W. L. COTTON)

It was very pleasant to meet in Paulinus, a Roman missionary the ancient City of York a native of the island, and the pleasure was evidently mutual—a member of one of our prominent and well known island families, Mr. Ernest Mooney. Mr. Mooney left the "much loved" Isle when he was sixteen years of age, made his mark in Boston and other parts of the United States, extended his operations to Europe, India and elsewhere, and finally about eighteen years ago established a central business at York. The Armstrong Other Works, of which he is the head, are near to the railway station and his residence on Blossom Street was easily found. He gave the Examiner representative a warm and hospitable welcome, showed him over the extensive grounds and garden attached to his house and through the passage and well furnished factory under his control. Then he walked about the city with us pointing out its chief places of interest and referring to the history which it has been the subject in ages past, with which he is familiar.

There is evidence that the ancient Britons had a settlement on the banks of the river Ouse and that the York now stands. It is known that the Romans came up the Ouse in order that they might more easily transport their legions into the heart of the country. It is stated that the leaders of the Roman host were charmed with the site and had established there a town, the remains of which are still visible and some of the relics of which Mr. Mooney pointed out. The Romans it is further stated, occupied the site over three centuries, most of it a base of operations against the Britons. The Emperor Severus is also said to have died at York in the year 211 and it is known that the Emperor Constantine expired there in the year 306. Constantine, the first Christian Emperor, entered York after his victory over the Norwegians at Stamford Bridge—nine miles from York and he was at York when he heard that William the Norman had landed in Sussex and thence he went out to defeat and death.

(When showing us about the town, Mr. Mooney pointed out the shortest street in the world—with the longest name—and took us through a narrow street named the Shambles in which fresh meat had been sold daily (Sundays excepted) for a thousand years and more. He also took us to the old City Walls and the Michel gate Bar upon the turrets of which the heads of traitors were exhibited. The ruins of St. Mary's Abbey were also pointed out and also the interesting ruins of the Roman and Saxon and Norman periods shown.

But the most interesting thing about York is beyond doubt or question, its great Cathedral or "Minster". It is recorded that

DIES AT 134 HAD SON OF 7

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 21.—Among the many mourners at funeral of "Uncle" John Shell, 134 years old, were his two sons, William, ninety and Albert 71. It became known here today when news was received that the oldest white man in the world had died July 6th at the home at Greasy Creek.

Albert is the offspring of a second marriage. "Uncle" John's first wife who is said to have been two years his senior, having died ten years ago.

He is said to have been born in Tennessee Sept. 3rd 1788, the son of Samuel Shell, a gunmaker. In 1919 he took his first airplane ride. On his visits to cities "Uncle" John told newspaper interviewers that he remembered having seen Daniel Boone and recalled the general mournings that followed the death of George Washington. "He said he was too old to enlist in the Mexican War."
