WORLD DISARMAMENT PLANNED FOR NEXT SESSION OF LEAGUE

To Be More Comprehensive In Its Scope Than Kellogg's Multilateral Treaty. -- Canadian Prime Minister May Issue Invitation For Conference In This Country.

(Special to The Guardian) OTTAWA, July 24.—A world disarmament conference, a vast movement far-reaching in its scope and consequence than the United States multilateral treaty for the outlawry of war, will be considered by the council and assembly of the League of Nations in September. It is said that in the event of the conference being decided upon, the Prime Minister of Canada may issue an invitation for the conference to be held in Canada whose hundred years of peace with her neighbor, important place in the great war, and friendly relations with all the nations of the world put her in a unique position to extend such an invitation. The multilateral treaty is more or less a "gentleman's agreement." The world disarmament conference will have behind it the power of the League to enforce its dictum, the multilateral treaty makes a warring nation an outlaw; the League can compel warring nations to make peace, at the same time the League in general and the council in particular will discuss arbitration treaties and other measures for the maintenance of peace, taken in conjunction with disarmament proposals. The arbitration plans are expected to be the most definite actions of the League for the preservation of world peace, yet made, unfortunately for itself and for the world the United States is not a member of the League of Nations and will be the only power in the world not participating.
