FAMED STORY PRESENTED ON SILVER SCREEN

Premiere Of "Gone With The Wind" At Prince Edward Theatre.

A large and appreciative audience attended the premiere at the Prince Edward Theatre last night of "Gone With The Wind," the elaborate screen version of Margaret Mitchell's famous story of the same title.

As film achievement par excellence, the picture beggars description. Its length alone sets a precedent which it is unlikely will ever be surpassed. This was due to the desire of the directors to follow the text the novel as faithfully as possible. Altogether, the movie has 885 scenes, and there are 20,017 words of dialogue. The handling of such voluminous material was a gargantuan task. It is a tribute to the artistic success of the film that the action flows uninterrupted from first to last, and maintains its unity amid all the diversity of scenes and characters.

A galaxy of film stars were credited with the major roles, but the outstanding part, that of Scarlett O'Hara, was reserved for a comparatively unknown young English actress, Miss Vivian Leigh. It is said that there were 1,400 applicants for the part. The conscientious David Selznick wanted this character to be perfectly cast, but as time went on it seemed as if there was no perfect Scarlett O'Hara. Then it was said that Mr. Selznick's brother Myron pointing to a young lady at his side remarked jokingly: "I want you to meet Scarlett O'Hara." Brother David smiled in a forced manner and turned to the young lady. He looked again and remarked slowly, "You may be right." He was. Those who witnessed Miss Leigh's vivid portrayal at last night's premiere could have no doubt on the score of the casting of the principal female role, that of Rhett Butler, presented no such difficulties. From the start, everybody seemed to agree that Clark Gable was the ideal.

As with the leading characters, so with the entire cast, every part big and small being chosen solely with regard to their ability to give verisimilitude to the story.

The plot combines romance with starts plus an unusual degree, and is derived from the history of the American civil war. The costumes and scenery which were noted with special appreciation were rarely seen in any other group of historians and antiquarians; to ensure that the very least detail was in exact correspondence with what the authors had described. The picture has been compared to "The Birth of a Nation," but there is no doubt that it goes far beyond this earlier masterpiece in screen technique. Filmed in technicolor, it provides scope for the presentation of historic events rarely, if ever, attempted in such detail.

Particularly striking were the scenes depicting the defeat of the Southern forces and the havoc which followed in the wake of Sherman's march through Georgia.

The picture is being shown all this week, and is one which no reader of the book, or lover of the screen, should miss. It is certainly well worth being duplicated as a screen effort for many years to come.

In Memoriam

MRS. LUCRETIA LIVINGSTON

The death of Mrs. Lucretia Livingston, wife of Mr. Duncan Livingston, which occurred at her home, 48 Kent St., April 29, brought deep sorrow to many who, throughout her life, had come within the influence of her kindly personality and gentle manner. She had not been in good health for sometime but was up about her household until very recently.

Mrs. Livingston was a daughter of the late Samuel Larter and Sarah Jane Weldon, prominent in the life of the City in their day. She was born in this city, May 30, 1866.

A member of St. James Presbyterian Church she had, while health permitted, been interested in all its work. In all her relations with those about her in church, social circles and in her domestic home life she won all by her engaging qualities.

Mrs. Livingston is survived by her husband also the following children: Sophie, Larter and MacEachern, City; Phoebe, Mrs. Willis A. Blackman, Atlantic City, N. J.; Archibald, Mr. A. F. Livingston, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Belle, Mrs. Vera MacEachern, in home; Jessie, Mrs. E. A. Wood, Moncton, N. B.; John, Mr. John A. Livingston at home; Margaret, Mrs. Ernest H. Anderson, City. The following children preceded her: Jane, Mrs. Arthur White, Cambridge, Mass.; Minnie, Mrs. Alvin Anderson, Cambridge, Mass.; Gordon, who was killed in action 1917.

The following sisters are left to mourn: Minnie, Mrs. Thomas White, West Royalty, P. E. I.; Pearl, Mrs. Allan MacInnis, Lynn, Mass.

During her illness she was visited by Rev. Dr. Kler Fraser of St. James Church in the absence of her pastor, Rev. Dr. Moorhead Legate.

W. N. C. Association Elect Officers.

The annual meeting of the W. N. C. A. was held in the McLure building on Thursday April the eleventh. The President, Mrs. J. A. Macdonald, presided and spoke feelingly of the loss sustained by the death of one of the association's most valued members, Mrs. Jonathan West.

After thanking the ladies for their confidence and cooperation during the year the President gave a very complete and comprehensive report of the year's activities and then called upon Miss Vinnicombe the Secretary-Treasurer to present her report for the year.

The amount of work accomplished showed that the President and her executive were indefatigable in their efforts and determination to promote a just cause.

A hearty vote of thanks to all the officers and especially the retiring President, Mrs. Macdonald, was moved by Mrs. McLure, who congratulated the President upon the capable and efficient manner in which she executed her duties, and expressed a deep sense of regret that she did not see her way clear to remain in office for another year.

This vote of thanks was seconded by Mrs. MacPhee, who concurred in Mrs. McLure's remarks and stated that she expressed the sentiments of every member of the Association when she said that it was regrettable indeed that Mrs. Macdonald could not be persuaded to continue as President. She also urged the in-coming executive to follow the good example set by their predecessors and to strive earnestly to look beyond party politics and selfish interests and do every thing they could to assist those at the helm to stem the tide of paganism and brutality that is over running the world today.

The election of officers then took place and resulted as follows: Hon. Pres., Mrs. J. E. B. McCready. Past Pres., Mrs. J. A. Macdonald. Asst. Pres., Mrs. E. A. Foster. 1st Vice Pres., Mrs. H. H. Horne. 2nd Vice Pres., Mrs. Jas. Blake. Sec.-Treasurer, Miss Ruth Vinnicombe. Asst. Sec. Treasurer, Miss Marion Brown.

After a round-table discussion in which Mrs. McLure took a prominent part, the meeting adjourned.

Bond Borrowing Bill

On motion of Premier Campbell, the House went into committee to consider the following resolution: "That the Government of this Province issue debentures in an amount not exceeding three million dollars for the purpose of paying off Bank of Montreal debentures and to provide for the payment for permanent Public Works and to refund present debentures; and that the Honourable the Premier be and he is authorized to give the authority aforesaid." Mr. Jones was in the chair.

Premier Campbell explained that the Government since the late Premier Leach came into power in 1935, had a total funding authority of $4,200,000, of which $300,000 had been authorized by the Legislature, $3,000,000 had been authorized by the special session of 1935 and the remaining $1,000,000 by the regular session of 1939.

The refunded debenture issues are as follows: $178,000, $87,000, $500,000, and $95,000. The old Prince Edward Island Hospital purchase represented another $25,000. The 1934 overdraft was $284,000 and the increased liabilities in 1935 were $652,000.

The indebtedness which accrued up to the 31st, 1935 was $1,931,000, he said.

The overdraft was in the vicinity of $2,000,000 at the end of 1939 and to be the safe side the Government is asking for $3,000,000 to carry on, he said. The Government should not be trammelled by too narrow a borrowing as favorably financial opportunities would be missed, the Premier maintained.

The record of the present Government in funding operations has been "fairly enviable" and the best has been obtained, he continued. Sometimes this Province has the advantage over larger Provinces as small issues are readily disposed of.

Although $3,000,000 was the amount asked for, yet all this amount might not be funded. Better terms might be obtained by dividing up and watching the fluctuations of the market.

In answer to a question from Mr. McPhee, the Premier said that the House purchase "may have appeared in the 1936 accounts although the transaction had been started in 1935." He added that the
