FINDS A SUBSTITUTE FOR RADIUM CHEAPER AND JUST AS USEFUL

LONDON, Jan. 26.—Professor Rutherford, of the Roentgen Society, reports a practicable method of producing mesothorium, a substitute for radium. He says the new substance is quite as good as radium for medical purposes and much cheaper, and can be extracted from thorium, a heavy metallic powder of an iron gray tint, which burns brilliantly in air or oxygen and which is extracted from uranite, which is found in Norway.

Could Not Walk Ten Yards Without Resting.

WEAK HEART WAS THE CAUSE.

Mrs. Robinson Collette, Rogersville, N.B., writes: "I am now enjoying the best of health after having used your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I was troubled with a weak heart and was afraid to draw a long breath for the pain it would cause me. I could not sleep at night, and it was impossible for me to walk ten yards without resting myself. I cannot speak too highly of your Heart and Nerve Pills, for they are the greatest pill I have ever used, and I can recommend them to all sufferers."

Thousands of people go about their daily work on the verge of death and yet do not know it. Little attention is paid to the slight weakness of the heart for the simple reason that one thinks it will right itself, but there is where the mistake is made. It is only when a violent shock comes that the weakness of the heart becomes apparent. On the first sign of any weakness of the heart or nerves—flagging energy or physical breakdown, the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will soon produce a quick and permanent cure. Price 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

YOUNG GORHAM ESCAPES GALLOWS

OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—At the eleventh hour James Gorham, the Peterboro youth, under sentence to be hanged there tomorrow for the murder of his mother last summer, has escaped the gallows. This afternoon his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. Gorham while shooting at a policeman who was endeavoring to arrest him, missed his mark and killed his mother. The verdict of murder was coupled with a strong recommendation by both Judge and Jury that executive clemency be granted.

THE TRIALS OF A COUNTRY EDITOR.

(By a Country Editor.)
Yes, it's an easy job printing the average country weekly. The layman fails to appreciate the obstacles to getting out a readable weekly paper, and if it does not come out, it is standard set by its would-be critics. There is one subscription less on the too-small list of readers. The editor-proofreader-compositor-printer-pressman-mailer arrives about the same time as the "devil" (in time to open up). The first step on the program is to do the small chores, after which the grind commences. The editor of the type has been set with the exception of a late leading editorial on a burning subject, which our hero proceeds to do justice to. While he is in the midst of his diatribe the sheriff trots in and tells him he will have a sale notice that he will have the copy in for by 3 o'clock, and that it must go in this issue of the paper. He closes his editorial, reads proof, makes the corrections and starts in on the make-up. He finds he is short a couple of "sticks" of local, and digs up that poem on "Bill Johnson's Obituary," which was crowded out last week, and slams it in. He now waits for the sheriff's second visit. In the meantime the "devil" has been cleaning the rollers and distributing table of the press and softening up the rollers by the fire, counting out the stock for the run and running off the job he hadn't quite finished the night before. Then he goes up the street for copy for a rush job for Jones, who thinks he must have this work in 15 minutes. It's nice getting out job work on press day! Such a pleasure! Well, the man-of-all-work gets it up and puts it on the press, and the kid runs off a few to keep the customer still while our friend is setting up the sale notice, which happens to be a short one. He takes a proof, makes the corrections, closes the forms, and puts them on the press. Then he takes the sledge hammer, monkey-wrench, pliers and file and starts after that refractory gasoline engine. If you ever want to hear some choice English, first step into the engine room on publication day when the editor is trying to start a balky engine. You will hear some words then that probably have been freshly coined, but not of a nature to be reproduced in this article. After an hour's tinkering, the first feeble explosion is heard, and we fly at it all the harder for a few minutes, until the beast is conquered, when we make a rush for the press to get as much benefit as possible of the balky brute. Most of the copies are printed, folded, addressed, wrapped and turn into the postoffice about 9 p. m., and the last about an hour and a half later. This is but one of the regular occurrences 52 times each year on the average small country weekly. So, dear reader, think of the sacrifices our friends make for you, and don't let your subscription go delinquent. Join the ranks of the "paid in advance."

Are Your Glasses Right

Vision changes as all things do with the years and the glasses that were just right a few years ago may be all wrong today. If they have outlived their usefulness, you are doing your eyes an injury by wearing them and bring on headaches and nervous disorders. Better let us test your eyes and see whether your present glasses are suited to them.

SEWING CONVENIENCES OF RIBBON.

Because of the intermingling of metallic threads with the silks of which this season's ribbons are woven, the broader widths make effective materials for a number of contrivances for holding sewing utensils. A most attractive looking sewing cabinet with spaces for needles, buttons, thread and darning cotton may be made by covering an ordinary pasteboard shoe box with broadened sash ribbon. After standing the box on end, divide the lower section into four compartments by means of pasteboard shelves forced into position and tied in place at back and sides with narrow ribbon through punched holes. Then make three similar holes along the top edge of the box and with ribbon hinges fasten to it a silk covered pasteboard lid exactly fitting over the uppermost shelf. The other three lids are hinged in the same manner to the successive shelves and each one equipped with a tiny crocheted ring handle.

An umbrella-shaped sewing bag of sash ribbon has a crochet needle handle and stem, to whose crook—which takes the place of a ferule—is fastened the gathered side of the ribbon. From this common centre a section of whalebone ribs, partially expanded the spread, and between each of the sections thus formed is fitted a compartment for scissors, needles, pins, sewing silks and thread reels.

Figured six-inch ribbon covers two round pieces of cardboard of equal size, each of which has eight punch holes evenly distributed about the edges. Upon one piece of cardboard is then set four spools of darning cotton and on top of them the other pieces of cardboard, taking care that the holes of each one are exactly in line with the centre funnel of the cotton reels, and then lacing the whole together with narrow ribbon. By this means the ribbon will work on the endless chain principle and threads of cotton may be unwound without disturbing the position of the various reels.

An ocean voyage convenience consists of a six inch square cotton bathing pillow covered with ribbon and edged with gold cordage. Against the lower half of one side is tacked a pocket for threads and thimble, at the back is a needle and pin case, from the lower corners swing scissors and stiletto, and to the upper corners are attached ribbon hangers.
