—PRISONERS CLEARING THE HIGHWAY—Gangs of prisoners from the Prince County jail are being used to clear the drifts on the highway between Summerside and Kensington. They are using picks and shovels, as the drifts are too much for the snow plough in some places.—S.

—FAMILY REMEMBERED.—Mr. and Mrs. David Clark and family of Kensington were recently presented by the Kensington Young Peoples union with a lovely Autograph quilt in memory of their son Walter Lloyd, who was killed on November 17, 1935 on the public Highway by a speeding automobile. The Clark family are very grateful to the Young Peoples for their kind remembrance.

—DEATH OF MRS. KEOUGHAN.—There passed away on Sunday morning at the Prince County Hospital, Mrs. Angelina Keoughan at 48 years of age. Mrs. Keoughan was taken suddenly ill on Good Friday and was brought to the hospital in a serious condition, but her illness was such that nothing could be done to save her. Mrs. Keoughan was the widow of the late Alfred Keoughan, of Summerside. She was a devout member of St. Paul's Church and most highly regarded. She leaves to mourn her father, Mr. McCarthy, who resided with her; one sister, and an adopted daughter, Mary, to whom sympathy is extended. The funeral is taking place this morning from her late residence to St. Paul's Church.—S.

—DEATH OF ALBERT BURGESS.—Friends learned with regret on Sunday of the death of Mr. Albert Burgess which occurred at midnight on Saturday at his home in Hamilton. Mr. Burgess was a native of the U.S.A., and was 60 years of age. He married Miss Stewart of Hamilton, P.E.I. and after a few years spent the same in the States they returned to the Island and made their home in Hamilton. Mr. Burgess took a great interest in the affairs of the village and was active in church work. He was a member of the choir of the United Church at Malpeque. Much sympathy is extended to his widow in her loss. They had no family. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon from his late residence to the United Church at Malpeque.—S.

—MILL SCENE OF ACTIVITY.—The new mill that is being erected at Kelvin is the scene of activity these days. The new up-to-date saw is turning out excellent lumber and the general proprietor Mr. Webster Marchbank has engaged extra help to enable him to carry on a bigger business. The sound of the grain crusher continues and the same is true regarding the saw. The lumber yard is packed to capacity with lumber, people coming from Freetown, Norboro, Graham's Road, and other adjoining districts and patrons are of the opinion that Mr. Marchbank deserves much credit for his enterprising. Last spring Mr. Marchbank started to build a mill on the old Johnson property where a thriving mill was in operation about forty years ago but since that time everything had been taken away and it surely was a very courageous act of Mr. Marchbank to begin again the thriving industry such as is now carrying on.

—DEATH OF MR. JOSEPH LEWIS.—There passed away at his home in Freetown early Monday morning Mr. Joseph Lewis after an illness of about ten days. Mr. Lewis was 75 years of age and a very prominent farmer and highly respected resident. He was seized with a paralytic stroke on Friday, March 19th from which he did not recover, although he seemed to rally for a few days. Mr. Lewis was a member of the Baptist Church and took a keen interest in church and community affairs. He was a man of sterling character and his passing is a distinct loss to the community. Mr. Lewis was twice married, his second wife surviving him, as well as the following daughters: Mrs. Donald Cooper, Summerside; Mrs. F. L. Sawyer, Albany; Miss Hazel Lewis, Summerside, and Miss Edith Lewis, nurse-in-training at the Prince County Hospital. Also one brother, William Lewis of Freetown; and one sister, Mrs. Macnaul, Freetown, to all of whom sympathy is extended.—S.

Very large congregations attended the services on Easter Sunday in Summerside.

St. Paul's Church
In St. Paul's Church the usual Masses were said and at High Mass, which was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Murray R.R. Rev. Mr. MacLellan preached an inspiring sermon on the Resurrection. Lovely Easter lilies graced the altar, the gifts of members of the congregation.

At High Mass the Royal Mass in four parts was sung by the men's choir under the direction of the choir master, Mr. Adrien F. Arsenault, with Mr. Lawrence Gallant at the organ.
The solo parts were taken by Edgar Houghton, J. P. MacInnis and Leo LeBlanc. The girls' choir under the direction of Mrs. Roy Silliphant rendered the responses at the nine o'clock Mass.

St. Mary's Church
The pretty Anglican Church of St. Mary's was filled with worshippers on Easter morning for the celebration of the Holy Eucharist. The rector, Ven. Archdeacon White was the celebrant. Nebek's setting of the Communion was beautifully rendered by a full choir, Mr. Fenwick presiding at the organ. Easter lilies were used to decorate the altar and chancel. At eleven o'clock the Archdeacon celebrated Holy Communion in the old historic church of St. John's, when a large congregation made their Easter communion. The choir under the direction of Mrs. Horace Andrew sang very sweetly Easter hymns and chants.

MASS FOR PEACE OF EUROPE
(C.P. Cable, by Guardian's Special Wire)

LONDON, March 29—A people's mass for the peace of Europe was celebrated today at Westminster Cathedral with 7000 Roman Catholics from all over the United Kingdom in attendance. Celebrated mass with Archbishop Hinsley presiding at the throne.

BEARS ANNOYING TRACK WORKERS
CHURCHILL, Man., March 29—Polar bears are causing considerable worry to section workers on the Hudson Bay Railway, showing no fear of men in their forays in search of food.

One group of men were chased by a bear and took refuge in a shack. The animal took up a position in front of the door and remained on guard six hours before it abandoned the stage and wandered off.

Foreman Percy Bennett shot and killed a huge white bear near the tracks. He says Polar bears are more vicious than other types of bears and will attack on the slightest provocation.

Baptist Pioneer Dies At Green Bay

The funeral service of the late George Barrett was held at the Barrett home of Green Bay, P.E.I. Sunday March 28th at 1:00 p.m.

Mr. Barrett was in his 103rd year and had kept surprisingly smart and active to within a few days of his death. Death came after he had contracted a cold which later developed into the flu.

The fact too that Mrs. George Barrett, his wife, passed in March of 1934 at the age of 90 years left Mr. Barrett unable to fully recover from the shock of her passing. Over 60 years ago Mr. Barrett ably assisted Rev. F. D. Wisdon in the building of the Bonshaw Church. He was enrolled as one of its first members. During the sixty years Mr. Barrett has acted as Church Elder, Church Deacon, and Church Pioneer in all church development for his Master.

Mr. Barrett leaves to mourn one son, Ambrose, and two daughters, Mrs. Jacob Corney of Green Bay, P. E. I. and Mrs. John MacPhail of Appin Road, P. E. I.
The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. B. J. Manser, Pastor of the North River field. The large gathering of Mr. Barrett's friends to pay him a last tribute of esteem was evidence enough that he had first been a friend to them. In all, Mr. Barrett was beloved and very highly esteemed by all who knew him.
Pall-bearers were: Mr. Thomas Carragher, Mr. James Clark, Mr. Judson MacSachern, Mr. Ernest Corning, Donald Gordon, and Mr. James Cadmore.
Interment was at the Appin Road Cemetery.

Lost Record Of Historic Reil Found

REGINA, March 29—Original court record of the trials of Louis Riel who died on the gallows for rebellion, and his compatriots in the uprising of 1885 has been found in a grimy vault here.

The long missing record, thought to have been destroyed when the Regina Court House burned in 1890 was found by court employees while searching for other papers at the request of W. M. Kennedy, local traffic chief for The Canadian Press.

Damp and falling apart after the long years, the pages tell of the trials of 63 men in July, August and September, 1885, in Regina. Reports of Riel's trial and many others are complete, but several remain unfinished. All of the men were charged with treason and felony.

First trial record is that of the Queen against Louis Riel and it opened at 11 a. m. on Aug. 20, 1885 with Hugh Richardson, magistrate, Henri Le Jeune, associate judge, presiding. J. N. Greenhields, who was defence counsel, died a short time ago in Danville, Que., at the age of 84.

When the court asked Riel whether he was guilty or not guilty on the charge of treason, the book records, Riel rose to his feet and replied: "I have the honor to answer the court I am not guilty."

On that warm day in August the jury was out from 2:30 p. m. until 3:15 p. m. when the returned a verdict of guilty. Riel was sentenced to be hanged on Sept. 18.

The book also gives the record of the trial of Chief Poundmaker, Yellow Mud Blanket, One Arrow, Thomas Scott and others who were sentenced to jail for their connection with the uprising.

Heavy Tourist Rush Expected

(By John Dauphinee)
CANADIAN Press Staff Writer)
VANCOUVER, March 29—British Columbia brushed up its "At Home" sign and prepared to welcome an all-time record of 1,500,000 carriages from Eastern Canada, the prairie provinces and the United States.

Transportation officials, hotel executives and merchants expected to share in almost $35,000,000 left behind by departing guests—an increase of 30 per cent over the estimated $25,000,000 spent last year by tourists in the province.

Estimates were based chiefly on early reports from the United States where the annual trek to the Pacific Coast has already begun. Heavy increase in inter-state traffic—automobile, rail, bus and air—led to the belief 1937 would far surpass in British Columbia the previous peak set in 1929.

Anniversary celebrations in at least two cities were expected to swell the flow. Kamloops, in the interior Okanagan Valley will observe its 125th anniversary, while Victoria plans to mark 75 years of incorporation as a city.

Custom Invests Crowning Rites In One Prelate

LONDON March 30—(CP)—The whole rite and ceremonies of the Coronation on May 12, except for incidents associated with certain items of the royal regalia, will be performed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, 72-year-old Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang.

Naturally his Grace will be assisted by other prelates and the Dean of Westminster has a special place in the service, but it will be the Archbishop who will anoint and crown the King and Queen. He will also administer the oath of service to George VI.

On arriving at Westminster Abbey the King will go at once to the "theatre," at each of the four corners of which he is presented by the Archbishop to those assembled. Four times the Archbishop's question will be heard, "Do you will to do your homages?" and the answer will be given, "God Save King George."

The central ceremony of the rite, the anointing, is introduced by the ancient hymn, "Come Holy Ghost, Our Souls Inspire," as it is sung at the consecration of a bishop or the ordination of a priest.

The King, divested of his crimson robe, and having removed his Cap of State, will be seated in King Edward's chair, and will then be anointed by the Archbishop with oil, in the form of a cross, on his head, breast and palms of both hands.

After several other ceremonies performed by other participants the Archbishop proceeds to the crowning. Standing at the altar, he will take the crown into his hands, and laying it again on the altar he will say a Collect. A procession of the Archbishop with other bishops, the Dean of Westminster bearing the crown, will then move to King Edward's chair, where the King is seated.

The Dean will deliver the Crown to the Archbishop, who "reverently puts it upon the King's head."
At once the cry rings out, loudly and repeatedly, "God Save the King," the peers put on their coronets, the trumpets sound, and the great guns of the Tower of London are fired.

Places Queen's Ring

It is also the Archbishop of Canterbury's sole prerogative to crown the Queen. The Queen receives from the officer of the Jewel House, in attendance, the Queen's Ring, which he places on the fourth finger of her right hand. Then he takes St. Edith's Crown from the High Altar and places it on the Queen's head.

All the prelates present put on their coronets. The sceptres one with the Cross, and one an ivory rod surmounted by a dove are placed in the Queen's right and left hands respectively.

The Queen, crowned and invested, now rises and, supported by her attendants ascends the "theatre" on which stand the thrones. As she passes the King she bows "reverently" and then takes her place on his Majesty's left.

The present Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Cosmo Gordon Lang, is like his immediate predecessor, a son of the manse. He was translated from York to Canterbury on the resignation of Dr. Randall Davidson in 1928. The Archbishop is in his 73rd year and is unmarried.

MRS. WILLIAM MAYNE

On Sunday morning, March 14 there passed from this life to the rest prepared for the people of God, Mable Smith, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Smith of Craupaud and widow of the late William Mayne of Summerside, leaving a home saddened and darkened, in which her sweet life had always been sunshine.

She had only been ill for about four days with congestion when her heart gradually gave way to Him on High who desires all things. Her spirit took its flight from its earthly abode, and dear ones as rays of the best of medical skill, tender nursing and care from loved ones in the home.

In the passing of this good and christian woman the community suffers the loss of a truly beautiful person, possessing those true sterling qualities which ever make and hold worthy friendships and leave behind impressions worth while. Gentle, unassuming, impressive in manner, making and holding friends but never through effort, always with that gentleness and sweetness which ever paves the way.

Many were her friends who knew her in her home life where she was seen at her best, for twas there that her noble qualities were most felt as they spread out in the home over friends and dear ones as rays of sunshine gleam through opening glass.

Always unselfish, ever forgetting herself for the comforts of those around, as has already been said of her, her children shall rise up and call her blessed and it might be truly added and her friends shall praise her, for many were the kind expressions of sympathy to the bereaved since her death. In her passing another pure life has gone from earth, a place made vacant in the home that which never can be filled.

Gold Rush Days Lived Again By Old Sourdoughs

VANCOUVER, March 29—(CP)—Men and women who participated in the Yukon gold rush rolled back the years at the annual dinner and dance held here and told how modern methods have brought record gold yields.

Dawson City's first mayor Henry Macaulay presided. At his right sat Premier T. D. Patullo, who went to the Yukon in 1897 as secretary to the Yukon Commission which brought the law and civil regulations to the land. Many other notables attended.

"The commission was 25 days making the journey to Dawson," the premier recalled. "Last year we flew from White Horse to Dawson and back in one day. The airplane is making a new north."

Yukon Commissioner G. A. Jeckell told the gathering of later developments in the territory. More gold was being produced today than ever before. Old methods, where strong men toiled with pick and shovel and creek waters supplied power, had been replaced by modern machinery. Great Dredges now won the gold from the earth.

"The Yukon is prosperous. Nobody is on relief," he said.
Dr. Alfred Thompson, for many years representative of the Yukon in the House of Commons, declared that never in history did the race produce a more virile and versatile people than those who joined in the gold rush. Tribute was paid by delegates to the women of the rush days.

William A. Smith, 80, was the oldest sourdough at the meeting. He staked number 1 claim on rich Eldorado Creek.
John Dempster, hero of the Lost Patrol, was also present. He was a constable in the Royal North West Mounted Police when a patrol set out from Fort MacKenzie for Dawson. The four men did not arrive, and Dempster set out from Dawson to meet them. He found them dead of privation.

Mrs. Bessie Morrow of Portland, president of the International Sourdough Reunion. She announced that the reunion this year will be in Toronto.
Beatrice Lorne (Mrs. George Smith), who was known as the Yukon Nightingale, was present again. Mrs. Lulu Fairbanks, secretary of the International Sourdough Reunion, was among the Seattle contingent.

Triple Slaying Investigation Reveals Little

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)
NEW YORK, March 29—Police tonight admitted no progress in search for the "sex-mad" killer in the Easter morning slaying of Veronica Gedeon, 20-year-old artist's model, her mother and a man roomer.

After nearly a score of persons have been questioned, Assistant Police Inspector John J. Lyons said tonight "every possible person who might be suspected has been eliminated. The police are groping around in the dark and have absolutely no clues."

He said all persons examined by the police had been released except George "French" Gueret, 46-year-old handyman and chauffeur, and that Gueret, a former roomer of the Gedeons, would be released tonight.

"We have checked in detail the movements of Gueret on Saturday and Saturday night," Lyons asserted. "He is eliminated from all suspicion."

Gueret was taken into custody for questioning this morning after police said they had received a report that he had been in the city night at the Gedeon's former address as to where they could be located.

A short time later, according to Captain Edward Mullens of the homicide squad, two bloodstained handkerchiefs were found in his furnished room a block and a half away from the scene of the triple slaying. Lyons said Gueret explained the handkerchiefs by saying his nose had bled.

The handkerchiefs, together with several strands of gray hair and tiny particles of skin found under the fingernails of the pretty model, were being analyzed tonight at the crime laboratory.

These were the only clues found by the 75 detectives who have been working on the case since the three bodies were found yesterday afternoon, Lyons said.

In his autopsy report this afternoon, Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, chief medical examiner, said Miss Gedeon, who was known in art circles where she worked as "Ronnie" and her mother, Mrs. Mary Gedeon, were assaulted criminally by the killer, whom deputy inspector Francis J. Kear described as "probably a sex-mad maniac."

Frank Byrnes, the roomer, was slain by a sharp instrument with which he was stabbed in the head 11 times as he lay in bed.

The autopsy report said the model's mouth was bound with adhesive tape, and that the girl and her mother had died of strangulation after each had received brutal beatings. Time of the slayings could not be determined, Dr. Gonzales said.

Lady Tweedsmuir Sponsors V. O. N.

OTTAWA, March 29—(CP)—The sum of $200,000 is the objective set by Lady Tweedsmuir in her Excellency's appeal on behalf of the Victorian Order of Nurses. A nationwide campaign has been initiated, and in a few days 4,000 letters signed by Lady Tweedsmuir will be despatched to every corner of the Dominion.

The V. O. N. was created by one of her predecessors at Rideau Hall, Lady Aberdeen, 40 years ago. It is the only National Voluntary Organization whose primary function is the nursing of the sick in their own homes, regardless of race, color, creed or income. Eight years ago Lady Willingdon launched an appeal for funds for the order and no other has been made since then.

Will Abandon Wooden Garden

WINNIPEG, March 29—The machine age probably had no real meaning for Sam Hazell until the present, but right now motors are a pretty sore spot with the local designer of what may well be the world's only wooden garden.

For the vacant lot which Sam spent hours decorating with beautifully hand-carved flowers, to the delight of thousands who saw it, is being taken over by a motor sales concern for the display of used cars.

Sam first displayed the fruits of his unique penknife hobby in front of his residence, but soon the little plot became too small for the variety of blossoms he whittled, and with the city's consent he took over a deserted business lot.

It was little more than a rubbish heap when the singular craftsman moved in. Tin cans, rusted grass and rocks yielded to his patience. He bought fertilizer and grass seed, laid out flower beds and paths, surfacing the latter with innumerable bags of cinders which he brought from his employer's plant on his bicycle.

But Sam has been advised he will have to vacate, leaving behind his visions of terraced beauty—and his flowers—which cannot be up
